Mississippi Floods Anuradha Mathur, Dilip da Cunha, Professor Dilip Da Cunha, 2001-01-01 Each time the waters of the mighty Mississippi River overflow their banks questions arise anew about the battle between man and river How can we prevent floods and the damage they inflict while maintaining navigational potential and protecting the river's ecology The design of the Mississippi and how it should proceed has long been a subject of controversy What is missing from the discussion say the authors of this book is an understanding of the representations of the Mississippi River Landscape architect Anuradha Mathur and architect planner Dilip da Cunha draw together an array of perspectives on the river and show how these different images have played a role in the process of designing and containing the river landscape Analyzing maps hydrographs working models drawings photographs government and media reports painting and even folklore Mathur and da Cunha consider what these representations of the river portray what they leave out and why that might be With original silk screen prints and a selection of maps the book joins historic scientific engineering and natural views of the river to create an entirely new portrait of the great Mississippi BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved The Landscape Urbanism Reader Charles Waldheim, 2012-03-20 In The Landscape Urbanism Reader Charles Waldheim who is at the forefront of this new movement has assembled the definitive collection of essays by many of the field's top practitioners Fourteen essays written by leading figures across a range of disciplines and from around the world including James Corner Linda Pollak Alan Berger Pierre Bolanger Julia Czerniak and more capture the origins the contemporary milieu and the aspirations of this relatively new field The Landscape Urbanism Reader is an inspiring signal to the future of city making as well as an indispensable reference for students teachers architects and urban planners Mapping Landscapes in Transformation Krista De Jonge, 2019-06-19 The relational complexity of urban and rural landscapes in space and in time The development of historical geographical information systems HGIS and other methods from the digital humanities have revolutionised historical research on cultural landscapes Additionally the opening up of increasingly diverse collections of source material often incomplete and difficult to interpret has led to methodologically innovative experiments One of today's major challenges however concerns the concepts and tools to be deployed for mapping processes of transformation that is interpreting and imagining the relational complexity of urban and rural landscapes both in space and in time at micro and macro scale Mapping Landscapes in Transformation gathers experts from different disciplines active in the fields of historical geography urban and landscape history archaeology and heritage conservation They are specialised in a wide variety of space time contexts including regions within Europe Asia and the Americas and periods from antiquity to the 21st century Contributors Karl Beelen Karlsruhe IT John Bintliff Leiden University Edinburgh University Bieke Cattoor TU Delft Jill Desimini Harvard University Cecilia Furlan TU Delft KU Leuven Ian Gregory and Christopher Donaldson Lancaster University Joanna Taylor University of Manchester Piraye Hacig zeller Frank

Places ethicist and geographer Tom Koch considers what happens when as he puts it you do everything right but know you've done something wrong. The resulting moral stress and injury he argues are pervasive in modern Western society. Koch makes his argument from the ground up from the perspective of average persons and through a revealing series of maps in which issues of ethics and morality are embedded. The book begins with a general grounding in both moral stress and mapping as a means of investigation. The author then examines the ethical dilemmas of mapmakers and others in the popular media and the sciences including graphic artists, journalists, researchers, and social scientists. Koch expands from the particular to the general from mapmaker and journalist to the readers of maps and news. He explores the moral stress and injury in educational funding, poverty, and income inequality. Why aren't we angry that one in eight fellow citizens lives in federally certified poverty? Transportation modeling seen in the iconic map of the London transit system and the hidden realities of exclusion and U.S. graft organ transplantation. This uniquely interdisciplinary work rewrites our understanding of the nature of moral stress, distress, and injury and ethics in modern life. Written accessibly and engagingly, it transforms how we think of ethics, personal and professional, amid the often conflicting moral injunctions across modern society. Copublished with Esri Press.
