Blanchard, D. Caroline Blanchard, 2013-10-22 Advances in the Study of Aggression Volume 1 aims to span some of the variety of aggression research pinpointing areas in which phenomena or concepts that have arisen or been tested extensively with animal models are now being applied to human aggression Chapter 1 presents an article on the relevance of animal aggression research to human aggression and discusses a brief sociobiological view of aggression and its immediate determinants over a number of mammalian species A description of some features of human aggression and endeavor and its link to the animal model is also considered in this chapter Chapter 2 is an article on the biological explanations of human aggression and the resulting therapies offered by such approaches and Chapter 3 is an article on the development of stable aggressive reaction patterns in males The next chapter is about the control of aggressive behavior by changes in attitudes values and the conditions of learning Chapter 5 describes the coercive interactions of siblings and parents as well as those for siblings and identified problem children Differences in sibling reactions between normal and distressed families together with the relationship of these differences to increased rates of coercive behaviors in distressed families are encompassed in this chapter The text concludes by discussing advances in aggression research Psychologists psychiatrists sociologists anthropologists will find the book invaluable Indexes to the Epilepsy Accessions of the Epilepsy Information System J. Kiffin Penry, 1978 The Dynamics of Aggression Michael Potegal, John F. Knutson, 2013-06-17 Aggression usually involves a sequence of behaviors reflecting escalations and de escalations in the form or intensity of the actions taken which play out over time This book provides a context in which social and biological research on the aggressive behaviors of human and non human subjects interacting in dyads or groups can be compared and integrated Implicit in this juxtaposition is the major question of whether general principles governing the dynamics of aggression within and between episodes may be discerned Aggressive behavior is described at different levels of analysis in humans and a number of other animal species Three basic views of aggression dynamics become apparent The economic interpretation Aggression will be escalated when it pays one of the combatants to do so or more generally when the potential benefits outweigh the risks Decisions to escalate or de escalate are part of a calculated strategy in one or another sense This interpretation is formalized within game theoretic models as applied to animal conflicts and to international conflicts within the chapters of this text The psychological process interpretation Emphasis is placed on psychological physiological processes within the individual The chapters stress the importance of acute emotional states of anger and aggressive arousal and argue the role of peripheral sympathetic activation while proposing a central neural mechanism Children escalating their tantrums adult humans and animals of other species intensifying their interpersonal conflicts national leaders going to a war footing all appear to suffer a narrowing of attention and progressive failure of cognitive function under the intensifying stress of conflict Perhaps these changes in attention sensory and cognitive functions and risk taking reflect a commitment to aggression which is necessary for organisms to engage in potentially dangerous and painful encounters The emergent process interpretation Escalation emerges in a spontaneous and dynamic way as the actions of one participant elicit reactions from the other s

Bellack, Michel Hersen, R.L. Morrison, Vincent B. Van Hasselt, 2013-06-29 In the last decade there has been heightened clinical and investigative activity in the area of family violence This of course is partly attributable to recent surveys showing a high incidence of family violence in the United States For example there are indications that nearly 30% of married women in this country are victims of physical abuse by spouses at some point in their marriage Further FBI statistics show that approximately 13% of all homicides are husband wife killings Moreover it has been projected that such figures are likely to increase over the next several years Consistent with these trends funding of family violence research by both federal and private agencies has increased Indeed federal agencies such as the National Institute of Mental Health and the National Institute of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice have provided considerable support for work in this area In addition family violence particu larly wifebattering child abuse and sexual abuse of children has been the focus of media attention at the national level and has generated intensive interest in both lay and profes sional publications Moreover there have been several recent governmental hearings and investigations regarding the prevalence of these problems     Neural Bases of Violence and Aggression William S.
