A History of European Literature Walter Cohen, 2017 Walter Cohen argues that the history of European literature and each of its standard periods can be illuminated by comparative consideration of the different literary languages within Europe and by the ties of European literature to world literature World literature is marked by recurrent systematic features outcomes of the way that language and literature are at once the products of major change and its agents Cohen tracks these features from ancient times to the present distinguishing five main overlapping stages Within that framework he shows that European literature's ongoing internal and external relationships are most visible at the level of form rather than of thematic statement or mimetic representation European literature emerges from world literature before the birth of Europe during antiquity whose Classical languages are the heirs to the complex heritage of Afro Eurasia This legacy is later transmitted by Latin to the various vernaculars The uniqueness of the process lies in the gradual displacement of the learned language by the vernacular long dominated by Romance literatures That development subsequently informs the second crucial differentiating dimension of European literature the multicontinental expansion of its languages and characteristic genres especially the novel beginning in the Renaissance This expansion ultimately results in the reintegration of European literature into world literature and thus in the creation of today's global literary system The distinctiveness of European literature is to be found in these interrelated trajectories

Serial Encounters Clare Hutton, 2019-06-06 James Joyce's Ulysses was first published in New York in the Little Review between 1918 and 1920 What kind of reception did it have and how does the serial version of the text differ from the version most readers know the iconic volume edition published in Paris in 1922 by Shakespeare and Company Joyce prepared much of Ulysses for serial publication while resident in Zurich between 1915 and 1919 This original study based on sustained archival research goes behind the scenes in Zurich and New York in order to recover long forgotten facts that are pertinent to the writing reception and interpretation of Ulysses The Little Review serialization of Ulysses proved controversial from the outset and was ultimately stopped before Joyce had completed the work The New York Society for the Suppression of Vice had taken successful legal action against the journal's editors on the grounds that the final instalment of the thirteenth chapter of Ulysses was obscene This triumph of the social purity movement had far reaching repercussions for Joyce's subsequent publishing history and for his ongoing efforts with the composition of Ulysses After chapters of contextual literary history on the cultural world of the Little Review the early production history of Ulysses and the New York trial of 1921 the study moves to a consideration of the textual significance of the serialization It breaks new ground in Joycean scholarship by paying critical attention to Ulysses as a serial text The study concludes by examining the myriad ways in which Joyce revised and augmented Ulysses while resident in Paris it shows how Joyce made Ulysses more sexually suggestive and overt in explicit response to the work's legal reception in New York

Industrial Poetics Joe Amato, 2006-04 Through a dizzying array of references to subjects ranging from engineering to poetry on the job experiences in academia and industry conflicts between working class and intellectual labor the privatization of universities and the contradictions of the modern environment Joe Amato's Industrial Poetics mounts a boisterous call for poetry communities to be less invested in artistic self absorption and more concerned about social responsibility's Amato focuses on the challenges faced by American poets in creating a poetry that speaks to a public engineered into complacency by those industrial technologies practices and patterns of thought that we cannot seem to do without he brings readers face to face with the conflicting realities of U.S. intellectual academic and poetic culture Formally adventurous and rhetorically lively Industrial Poetics is best compared with the intellectually exploratory speculative risky polemical work of other contemporary poet critics including Kathleen Fraser Joan Retallack Bruce Andrews Susan Howe and Allen Grossman Amato uses an exhilarating range of structural and rhetorical strategies conventionally developed argument abruptly juxtaposed aphorisms personal narrative manifesto like polemic and documentary reportage With a critic's sharply analytical mind a poet's verve and a working class intellectual's sense of social justice Amato addresses the many nonliterary institutions and environments in which poetry is inextricably embedded By connecting poetry to industry in a lively demonstration against the platitudes and habitudes of the twentieth century Amato argues for a reenergized and socially forceful poetics an industrial poetics rough edges and all Jed Rasula writes I can t say I pay much attention to talk radio but this is what I imagine it might be like if the deejay were really smart enviably well read yet somehow retained the snarling moxie of the am format The Contemporary Irish Detective Novel Elizabeth Mannion,2016-05-30 Irish detective fiction has enjoyed an international readership for over a decade appearing on best seller lists across the globe But its breadth of hard boiled and amateur detectives historical fiction and police procedurals has remained somewhat marginalized in academic scholarship Exploring the work of some of its leading writers including Peter Tremayne John Connolly Declan Hughes Ken Bruen Brian McGilloway Stuart Neville Tana French Jane Casey and Benjamin Black The Contemporary Irish Detective Novel opens new ground in Irish literary criticism and genre studies It considers the detective genre s position in Irish Studies and the standing of Irish authors within the detective novel tradition Contributors Carol Baraniuk Nancy Marck Cantwell Brian Cliff Fiona Coffey Charlotte J Headrick Andrew Kincaid Audrey McNamara and Shirley Peterson
