Issues and Challenges in Science Education

Research Kim Chwee Daniel Tan, Mijung Kim, 2012-04-27 In contemporary society science constitutes a significant part of human life in that it impacts on how people experience and understand the world and themselves. The rapid advances in science and technology, newly established societal and cultural norms and values, and changes in the climate and environment, as well as the depletion of natural resources, all greatly impact the lives of children and youths and hence their ways of learning, viewing the world, experiencing phenomena around them, and interacting with others. These changes challenge science educators to rethink the epistemology and pedagogy in science classrooms today, as the practice of science education needs to be proactive and relevant to students and prepare them for life in the present and in the future. Featuring contributions from highly experienced and celebrated science educators, as well as research perspectives from Europe, the USA, Asia, and Australia, this book addresses theoretical and practical examples in science education that, on the one hand, plays a key role in our understanding of the world and yet paradoxically now acknowledges a growing number of uncertainties of knowledge about the world. The material is in four sections that cover the learning and teaching of science, from science literacy to multiple representations, science teacher education, the use of innovations and new technologies in science teaching and learning, and science learning in informal settings, including outdoor environmental learning activities. Acknowledging the issues and challenges in science education, this book hopes to generate collaborative discussions among scholars, researchers, and educators to develop critical and creative ways of science teaching to improve and enrich the lives of our children and youths.

of Problem Solving Using Research to Inspire 21st Century Learning OECD, 2017-04-11 Solving non-routine problems is a key competence in a world full of changes, uncertainty, and surprise, where we strive to achieve so many ambitious goals. But the world is also full of solutions because of the extraordinary competences of humans who search for and find them.

Educational Research: the Educationalization of Social Problems Paul Smeyers, 2009-04-14 Pushing social responsibilities on schools is a process that has been underway for a long time. This phenomenon has been studied more in Europe than in North America and the U.K. and has been labelled 'pädagogisierung'. The editors have chosen to use 'Educationalization' to identify the overall orientation or trend toward thinking about education as the focal point for addressing or solving larger human problems. The term describes these phenomena as a sub-process of the modernization of society, but it also has negative connotations such as increased dependence, patronization, and pampering. In this book, distinguished philosophers and historians of education focus on educationalization to expand its meaning through an engagement with educational theory Topics discussed are the family and the child the learning society citizenship education widening participation in higher education progressive education and schooling movements such as No Child Left Behind Smeyers and Depaepe s book offers great insights into one of the most ambivalent phenomena of today s educational world and especially educational policy The contributions assembled represent perspectives of some of the most respected scholars in the field Their manifold critiques of the educationalization of social problems are rather convincing Our time is definitely ripe for such analysis Roland Reichenbach Center for Educational Studies University of Basel Switzerland This is a challenging critical and analytical treatment of the tendency of contemporary administrations to overburden educational institutions with the expectation that they will provide the solutions to an increasingly diverse range of social and economic problems It brings together the theoretical resources of a distinguished international group of philosophers and historians of education and deserves the careful attention of educational policy makers practitioners and researchers alike David Bridges Von H gel Institute St Edmund s College Cambridge England This publication is realized by the Research Community FWO Vlaanderen Research Foundation Flanders Belgium Philosophy and History of the Discipline of Education Evaluation and Evolution of the Criteria for Educational Research Also realized by the Research Community are Educational Research Why What Works Doesn t Work 2006 and Educational Research Networks and Technologies 2007 Issues in Educational Research John P.
