Questions For Feminism Reading The Romance:

Reading the Romance Janice A. Radway, 2009-11-18 Originally published in 1984 Reading the Romance challenges popular and often demeaning myths about why romantic fiction one of publishing's most lucrative categories captivates millions of women readers Among those who have disparaged romance reading are feminists literary critics and theorists of mass culture They claim that romances enforce the woman reader's dependence on men and acceptance of the repressive ideology purveyed by popular culture Radway questions such claims arguing that critical attention must shift from the text itself taken in isolation to the complex social event of reading She examines that event from the complicated business of publishing and distribution to the individual reader's engagement with the text Radway's provocative approach combines reader response criticism with anthropology and feminist psychology Asking readers themselves to explore their reading motives habits and rewards she conducted interviews in a midwestern town with forty two romance readers whom she met through Dorothy Evans a chain bookstore employee who has earned a reputation as an expert on romantic fiction Evans defends her customers choice of entertainment reading romances she tells Radway is no more harmful than watching sports on television We read books so we won't cry is the poignant explanation one woman offers for her reading habit Indeed Radway found that while the women she studied devote themselves to nurturing their families these wives and mothers receive insufficient devotion or nurturance in return In romances the women find not only escape from the demanding and often tiresome routines of their lives but also a hero who supplies the tenderness and admiring attention that they have learned not to expect The heroines admired by Radway's group defy the expected stereotypes they are strong independent and intelligent That such characters often find themselves to be victims of male aggression and almost always resign themselves to accepting conventional roles in life has less to do Radway argues with the women readers fantasies and choices than with their need to deal with a fear of masculine dominance These romance readers resent not only the limited choices in their own lives but the patronizing attitude that men especially express toward their reading tastes In fact women read romances both to protest and to escape temporarily the narrowly defined role prescribed for them by a patriarchal culture Paradoxically the books that they read make conventional roles for women seem desirable It is this complex relationship between culture text and woman reader that Radway urges feminists to address Romance readers she argues should be encouraged to deliver their protests in the arena of actual social relations rather than to act them out in the solitude of the imagination In a new introduction Janice Radway places the book within the context of current scholarship and offers both an explanation and critique of the study's limitations

Women, Feminism and Media Sue Thornham, 2007-05-30 Over the past few decades feminist media scholarship has flourished to become a major influence on the fields of media film and cultural studies At the same time the cultural shift towards post feminism has raised questions about the continuing validity of feminism as a defining term for this work This book explores the changing and often ambivalent relationship between the three terms women feminism and media in the light of these recent debates At the same time it places them within the broader discussions within feminist theory about subjectivity identity culture and narrative of which they have formed a crucial part The book is organised around four key topic areas Fixing into Images offers a rethinking of one of the first preoccupations of feminist media analysis the relationship between women and images Narrating Femininity explores the narratives of femininity produced in media texts in the light of theories of narrative and identity Real Women examines both the continuing absence of women s voices from the genres of news and documentary and their over presence within popular reality media forms Finally Technologies of Difference examines the relationship between feminism women and new media technologies Throughout the book explores key issues within feminist media studies both through specific examples and via critical engagement with the work of major theoretical writers Features A completely up to date study of the key areas of issue and debate in feminist media studies Includes case studies and discussion of the work of key writers in the field Contains readings of specific texts ranging from news and advertising to reality TV and postfeminist TV drama

Questions of Method in Cultural Studies Mimi White,James Schwoch,2008-04-15 Question of Method in Cultural Studies brings together a group of scholars from across the social sciences and humanities to consider one of the most vexing issues confronting the proverbial anti discipline of cultural studies Covers such topics as the media feminism and politics Identifies what methods have prevailed in the interdisciplinary pursuit of cultural studies Examines the relationship between cultural studies and traditional disciplines the politics of knowledge and spatial and temporal models Probes the possibility of method in explicit terms for scholars and students in media communications sociology and allied fields

Feminism and the Power of Love Adriana García-Andrade,Lena Gunnarsson,Anna Jónasdóttir,2018-04-17 The power of love has become a renewed matter of feminist and non feminist attention in the 21st century s theory debates What is this power Is it a form of domination Or is it a liberating force in our contemporary societies Within Feminism and the Power of Love lies the central argument that although love is a crucial site of gendered power asymmetries it is also a vital source of human empowerment that we cannot live without Instead of emphasizing either or this enlightening title puts the dualities and contradictions of love center stage Indeed by offering various theoretical perspectives on what makes love such a central value and motivator for people this title will increase one s understanding as to why love can keep people in its grip even when practiced in ways that deplete and oppress In light of such analyses the contributions within Feminism and the Power of Love present new perspectives on the conditions and characteristics of non oppressive mutually enhancing ways of loving Bridging the gap between Feminist Affect Studies and Feminist Love Studies this book will appeal to undergraduate and postgraduate students including postdoctoral researchers interested in fields such as women s and gender studies sociology political science philosophy cultural studies and sexuality studies

collection of American and British feminist literary criticism ever to be published In this revised edition the editors have updated the volume in keeping with the expanded parameters of feminist literary discourse With the inclusion of more than two dozen new essays along with a major reorganization of the sections in which they appear Warhol and Price Herndl have again established the measure for representing the latest developments in the field of feminist literary theory Believing that the feminist movement can only move forward where difference commands attention not dismissal or negativism they have continued the original collection's mission of providing a multiplicity of perspectives and approaches This anthology contains three new sections Conflict Gaze and Practice and includes more selections by and about women of color and lesbians Aimed at academics and the general public alike this collection is an indispensable guide to the range of practice on campus today in the field of feminist literary criticism

Feminism's Queer Temporalities Sam McBean, 2015-07-16 Despite feminism's uneven movements it has been predominantly understood through metaphors of generations or waves Feminism's Queer Temporalities builds on critiques of the limitations of this linear model to explore alternative ways of imagining feminism's timing It finds in feminism's literary and cultural archive narratives of temporality that might now be diagnosed as queer where queer designates modes of being historical that exceed the linear and the generational Few theorists have looked to popular feminist figures literature and culture to theorize feminism's timing Through methodologically creative readings McBean explores non generational anti linear and asynchronous time in the figure of Antigone Marge Piercy's Woman on the Edge of Time the film Ladies and Gentlemen The Fabulous Stains Valerie Solanas and SCUM Manifesto and Alison Bechdel's Fun Home The first to substantially bring together the ways in which time has come to matter in both feminist and queer disciplines this book will appeal to students and scholars of feminist queer and gender studies cultural studies and literary studies

Living Room Wars Ien Ang, 2006-07-13 Living Room Wars brings together Ien Ang's recent writings on television audiences and in response to recent criticisms of cultural studies argues that it is possible to study audience pleasures and popular television in a way that is not naively populist Ang examines how the makers and marketers of television attempt to mould their audience and looks at the often unexpected ways in which the viewers actively engage with the programmes they watch Living Room Wars highlights the inherent contradictions of a politics of pleasure of television consumption Ang moves beyond the traditional focus on textual meanings to explore the structural and historical representations of television audiences as an integral part of modern culture Her wide ranging and illuminating discussion takes in the battle between television and its audiences the politics of empirical audience research new technologies and the tactics of television consumption ethnography and radical contextualism in audience studies television fiction and women's fantasy feminist desire and female pleasure in media consumption and the transnational media system A Readers Guide to Contemporary Feminist Literary Criticism Maggie Humm, 2015-07-17 This introduction to feminist literary criticism in its international contexts discusses a broad range of complex critical writings and then identifies and explains the main developments and debates within each approach Each chapter has an easy to use format comprising an introductory overview an explanation of key themes and techniques a detailed account of the work of specific critics and a summary which includes critiques of the approach Each chapter is accompanied by a guide to the primary texts and further reading

Reading Cultures Molly Abel Travis, 1998 Molly Abel Travis unites reader theory with an analysis of historical conditions and various cultural contexts in this discussion of the reading and reception of twentieth century literature in the United States Travis moves beyond such provisional conclusions as the text produces the reader or the reader produces the text and considers the ways twentieth century readers and texts attempt to constitute and appropriate each other at particular cultural moments and according to specific psychosocial exigencies She uses the overarching concept of the reader in and out of the text both to differentiate the reader implied by the text from the actual reader and to discuss such in and out movements that occur in the process of reading as the alternation between immersion and interactivity and between role playing and unmasking Most reader theorists fix on the product of reading and exclude the process Travis notes which means they necessarily focus on the text Even theorists who argue for the reader's resistance make the text so determinant that they conceive of text and reader as discrete entities in a closed universe with these entities exerting force and counterforce respectively Missing in these accounts are wave and field theories concerned with such dynamic and contrastive effects as changes in the art of literary reading over historical periods and differences among readers in the context of a cultural field Travis seeks to fill gaps in current reader theories by focusing on process and difference Unlike most reader theorists Travis is concerned with the agency of the reader Her conception of agency in reading is informed by performance psychoanalytic and feminist theories This agency involves compulsive reiterative performance in which readers attempt to find themselves by going outside the self engaging in literary role playing in the hope of finally and fully identifying the self through self differentiation Furthermore readers never escape a social context they are both constructed and actively constructing in that they read as part of interpretive communities and are involved in collaborative creativity or what Kendall Walton calls collective imagining New Directions in American Reception Study Philip Goldstein, James L. Machor, 2008-01-30 Contemporary reception study has developed a diversity of approaches and methods including the institutional textual historical authorial and reader response which to a greater or lesser extent acknowledge the various ways in which readers have found texts literature television shows movies and newspapers meaningful This collection emphasizes that new diversity examining movies newspapers fans television shows and traditional American as well as modern Hispanic Black and Women s literature The essays on literature include James Machor on Melville s short fiction Kenneth Roemer on Edward Bellamy s utopian work Looking Backward Amy Blair on the popularity of Sinclair Lewis s Main Street Marcial Gonzalez on Danny Santiago and his Hispanic novel Famous All Over Town and Leonard Diepeveen on modernist fiction and criticism The theoretical essays on reader oriented criticism include Patsy Schweickart on interpretation and the ethics of care and Jack Bratich on active audiences Media versions of response criticism include Andrea Press and Camille Johnson s ethnographic analysis of fans of the Oprah Winfrey Show Janet Staiger on Robert Aldrich s film version of Mickey Spillane s Kiss Me Deadly and Rhiannon Bury on the fans of the HBO television show Six Feet Under History of the book versions include Barbara Hochman on the popularity of the 1890s editions of Harriet Beecher Stowe s Uncle Tom s Cabin Ellen Garvey on nineteenth century scrapbooks of newspaper and David Nord on early twentieth century newspapers relations to audience charges of bias and unfairness Poststructuralist studies include Philip Goldstein on Richard Wright s Native Son Steve Mailloux on Reading Lolita in Tehran and Tony Bennett on the cultural analyses of Pierre Bourdieu The collection concludes with essays by Janice Radway on the limits of these methods and on the possibility of new forms of sociological and anthropological reception study and by Toby Miller on the reception deception in relation to the worldwide distribution and reception of movies and television shows
