

Alert

When a rabbit is on alert their ears point straight up and their nose twitches rapidly. Rabbits' ears can rotate independently, which means you may see your rabbit direct one ear toward a noise and then swivel the other back and forth to listen for other sounds.

Rabbits are prey to a wide range of animals; this has a big impact on their behaviour and habits. Rabbits constantly process information about their environment to detect potential threats. Pet rabbits also use the same techniques to monitor their environment for positive events, such as the arrival of their owner or a treat jar opening.

Curious

Rabbits quickly investigate any changes or new additions to their environment. A curious rabbit will direct its ears forward, toward the object or sound it is investigating.

Your rabbit's innate curiosity can help with socialisation. If you sit very still and wait patiently your rabbit will come to investigate what you are doing; this is a much less stressful way to make friends than putting a rabbit on your lap.

Relaxed

When relaxed, rabbits' ears rest at approximately 45 degrees to their body, although a very relaxed/sleeping rabbit will lay its ears all the way back so they rest on its shoulders. A resting rabbit may raise one ear to an upright position to investigate movement or a noise.

The position a rabbit chooses to rest in is a good way to judge how relaxed they are. A rabbit will only lie down in a position that is slow to get up and flee from if they feel the environment is safe and there will be no need for a quick escape.

Nervous/Aggressive

A nervous or aggressive rabbit will fold its ears flat and point them back over its shoulders. Rabbits are naturally nervous animals because of their status as prey.

Rabbits feel more relaxed when they know there is a safe place nearby to hide in if they are frightened, even if they do not actually need to hide very often. Keep in mind, to a rabbit, a secure mesh run feels like they are out in the open, unprotected.
