Regions and Powers Barry Buzan, Ole Wæver, 2003-12-04 This book develops the idea that since decolonisation regional patterns of security have become more prominent in international politics The authors combine an operational theory of regional security with an empirical application across the whole of the international system Individual chapters cover Africa the Balkans CIS Europe East Asia EU Europe the Middle East North America South America and South Asia The main focus is on the post Cold War period but the history of each regional security complex is traced back to its beginnings By relating the regional dynamics of security to current debates about the global power structure the authors unfold a distinctive interpretation of post Cold War international security avoiding both the extreme oversimplifications of the unipolar view and the extreme deterritorialisations of many globalist visions of a new world disorder Their framework brings out the radical diversity of security dynamics in different parts of the world explores the progress in and the obstacles surrounding developing comprehensive security cooperation between Russia and South Korea since diplomatic relations were established in 1991 within the framework of economic security. The book focuses on oil and natural gas projects linking the Trans Siberian and Trans Korean Railroads, industrial development in the Nakhodka Free Economic Zone, fishery cooperation and the arms trade and examines whether these five aspects of cooperation serve to contribute to building Russian South Korean bilateral and regional economic security. The author argues that these five aspects of cooperation all have the potential to enhance comprehensive bilateral security and further regional economic security in Northeast Asia. However, Russian South Korean economic cooperation has been hampered by a number of obstacles including domestic factors as well as external factors and prevented Russia and South Korea from fulfilling their potential for creating a cooperative comprehensive security relationship. The author concludes with an assessment on the utility of the concept of multi dimensional security cooperation as a framework for studying and improving the prospects for Russian South Korean bilateral relations.

Multilateral Asian Security Architecture See Seng Tan, 2015-07-16. This book provides a comparative assessment of the material and ideational contributions of five countries to the regional architecture of post Cold War Asia. In contrast to the usual emphasis placed on the role and centrality of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) in Asia's multilateral architecture and its component institutions, this book argues that the four non ASEAN countries of interest here – Australia, Japan, China and the United States – and Indonesia have played and continue to play an influential part in determining the shape and substance of Asian multilateralism from its pre inception to the present. The work does not contend that existing scholarship overstates ASEAN's significance to the successes and failures of Asia's multilateral enterprise. Rather, it claims that the impact of non ASEAN stakeholders in innovating multilateral architecture in Asia has been understated. Whether ASEAN has fared well or poorly as a custodian of Asia's regional architecture, the fact remains that the countries considered here notwithstanding their present discontent over the state of that architecture are key to understanding the evolution of Asian multilateralism. This book will be of much interest to students of Asian politics, international organisations, security studies and IR more generally.

Maritime Security Cooperation in the Gulf of Guinea Kamal-Deen Ali, 2015-07-28. In Maritime Security Cooperation in the Gulf of Guinea: Prospects and Challenges, Kamal Deen Ali provides ground breaking analyses of the maritime security situation in the Gulf of Guinea and its implications for shipping, energy, security, sustainable fisheries as well as national and regional security. The book juxtaposes the growing strategic importance of the Gulf of Guinea against the rising insecurity in the maritime domain, especially from piracy. Ali points out key gaps in prevailing regional and international approaches to maritime security cooperation in the Gulf of Guinea and sets out several suggestions for combating piracy as well as other maritime security threats while effectively enhancing maritime security cooperation in the region.
