Vaccines against Allergies Rudolf Valenta, Robert L. Coffman, 2011-08-26 We are celebrating this year the hundred years anniversary of allergen specific immunotherapy In 1911 Leonard Noon published his seminal work Prophylactic inoculation against hay fever describing his attempts to achieve active immunity against grass pollen toxin by administering increasing doses of grass pollen extract before the grass pollen season to allergic patients Although it was unknown at that time that allergy represents an immunological hypersensitivity disease the treatment was effective and many observations made by Noon remained valid until today Today allergen specific immunotherapy is well established as the only allergen specific and disease modifying treatment for IgE mediated allergies and has long lasting effects In fact more than 25% of the population suffer from IgE mediated allergies which therefore represent a major health burden of our society particularly because untreated allergy often progresses to severe disabling forms of disease such as asthma and sometimes kills sensitized people through anaphylaxis

Considering the Patient in Pediatric Drug Development Klaus Rose, 2020-11-19 Considering the Patient in Pediatric Drug Development How Good Intentions Turned into Harm addresses a fundamental challenge in drug development and healthcare for young patients In clinical trials and clinical practice the term children is used ambiguously to confer physiological characteristics to a chronological age limit which in reality does not exist This book outlines why the United States US and European Union s EU regulatory authorities pediatric academia and the pharmaceutical industry demand support and perform pediatric drug studies along with the key flaws of this demand that blurs the different administrative and physiological meanings of the term child In addition the book covers why most pediatric regulatory studies lack medical sense and many even harm young patients and the conflicts of interest behind pediatric drug studies It includes relevant information about the maturation of the human body regarding absorption distribution metabolism and excretion of food and drugs as well as key differences between newborns infants older children and adolescents Explains relevant information about the maturation of the human body regarding absorption distribution metabolism and excretion of food and drugs including key differences between newborns infants older children and adolescents Discusses historical roots of separate drug approval in officially labeled children and conflicts of interest in performing and publishing pediatric research Helps to decipher justifications for pediatric studies to help people navigate the relevance of the information
