Reimagining Textuality Textual Studies In The Late Age Of Print:

Reimagining Textuality Elizabeth Bergmann Loizeaux, Neil Fraistat, 2002 What happens when in the wake of postmodernism the old enterprise of bibliography textual criticism or scholarly editing crosses paths and processes with visual and cultural studies In Reimagining Textuality major scholars map out in this volume a new discipline drawing on and redirecting a host of subfields concerned with the production distribution reproduction consumption reception archiving editing and sociology of texts Publishing Blackness George Hutchinson, John Young, 2018-05-09 The first of its kind this volume sets in dialogue African Americanist and textual scholarship exploring a wide range of African American textual history and work Genetic Criticism Dirk Van Hulle, 2022-02-24 In Genetic Criticism Dirk Van Hulle introduces the study of creative processes to an Anglophone audience As a method in the study of literary writing processes genetic criticism is also a reading strategy The idea behind this book is to introduce this strategy to a broader audience from interested readers and graduate students to early career researchers and literary critics In literary studies it is often obvious that a particular work somehow seems to hit a nerve but more challenging to pinpoint exactly why it works This book therefore starts from a clear basic assumption knowing how something was made can help us understand how and why it works This strategy is at the basis of many disciplines including art history By means of X ray technology or hyperspectral imaging it is possible to look at a painting as a multilayered object with not only spatial dimensions but also a temporal one This temporal dimension is the core of the reading strategy introduced in this book Note books marginalia manuscripts and typescripts even if one works with scans give a concrete dimension to literature which is a helpful reading strategy for many students On the one hand this involves concrete transferrable skills such as aspects of transcription and digital scholarly editing On the other hand it also involves more abstract theoretical issues relating to matters of authorship collaboration authority agency intention and intertextuality Introduction to Scholarship in Modern Languages and Literatures David G. Nicholls, 2015-01-01 The third edition of the MLA's widely used Introduction to Scholarship in Modern Languages and Literatures features sixteen new essays by leading scholars Designed to highlight relations among languages and forms of discourse the volume is organized into three sections Understanding Language provides an overview of the field of linguistics with special attention to language acquisition and the social life of languages Forming Texts offers tools for understanding how speakers and writers shape language it examines scholarship in the distinct but interrelated fields of rhetoric composition and poetics Reading Literature and Culture continues the work of the first two sections by introducing major areas of critical study The nine essays in this section cover textual and historical scholarship interpretation comparative cultural and translation studies and the interdisciplinary topics of gender sexuality race and migrations among others As in previous volumes an epilogue examines the role of the scholar in contemporary society Each essay discusses the significance underlying assumptions and limits of an important field of inquiry traces the historical development of its subject introduces key terms outlines modes of research now being pursued postulates future developments and provides a list of suggestions for further reading This book will interest any member of the academic community seeking a review of recent scholarship while it provides an indispensable resource for undergraduate and graduate students of modern languages and literatures life and public memory In the end Gitelman turns to the World Wide Web and asks how the history of the Web is already being told how the Web might also resist history and how using the Web might be producing the conditions of its own historicity

Worlds Made Flesh Lauryn Mayer, 2004-06-01 This book focuses on the use of the past in two senses First it looks at the way in which medieval texts from the eighth to the fifteenth centuries discussed the past how they presented history what kinds of historical narratives they employed and what anxieties gathered around the practice of historiography Second this study examines twentieth century interactions with this textual past and the problems that have arisen for critics trying to negotiate this radically different textual culture Lauryn Mayer examines chronicle histories that have been largely ignored by scholars bringing these neglected texts into dialogue with contemporaneous canonical works such as Troilus and Criseyde The House of Fame The Morte Darthur Beowulf and The Battle of Maldon

Shimmering in a Transformed Light Rosemary Lloyd,2005 Although much has been written lately on the links between painting and writing little or no attention has been paid to those moments in literature when the narrative stops to allow for the description of those objects we associate with still life Rosemary Lloyd s book shows how fascinating this overlooked area is how rich in suggestions of class race and gender how much it indicates about human pleasures and about the experience of space and time Lloyd focuses on the last two centuries particularly at points marked by the irruption of images of contingency and rapid change into the fields of art for example the year of the Terror in French history the decade in which Haussman s politically driven transformation of Paris led Baudelaire to write his great modernist poem Le Cygne and on or about December 1910 the date to which Virginia Woolf attributes a revolution in the definition of literary character Lloyd s central concern lies with the ways in which the still life written or painted both evokes and attempts to deal with the sense of contingency While she makes frequent reference to paintings she focuses above all on written still lifes particularly those moments when novels pause to address the subject matter of still life a bowl of fruit a hat rack a desk cluttered with pens and papers in ways that invite contemplation of other and broader cultural domains She draws on literary and art works from Australia England France Germany Ireland Italy and the United States Critical Theory: The Key Concepts Dino
