Services And Space Key Aspects Of Urban And Regional Development:

Services and Space J. N. Marshall, Peter Anthony Wood, 1995 Services and Economic Development in the Asia-Pacific P.W. Daniels, J.W. Harrington, 2016-04-01 Until the 1990s industrialization was the dominant development paradigm for the Asia Pacific region. Since then, advanced services, finance, business, or producer services, information, and creative services have become deeply embedded in the processes of economic growth and change in the region. This rapid tertiary expansion is fundamentally restructuring national and regional economies and urban form in line with the introduction of advanced production systems, national modernization programmes, and the globalization strategies of governments. Services are being actively deployed as instruments of metropolitan reconfiguration and land use change. This book explores various aspects of the relationship between service industries and economic development in Japan, South Korea, China, Taiwan, Singapore, India, Australia, and New Zealand. It provides new sector-oriented and regional and national perspectives on services and development.

Understanding Contemporary Ireland Brendan Bartley, Rob Kitchin, 2006-12-20 This is an account of Ireland in the twenty-first century and the remarkable economic and social transformations that have occurred since the late 1980s. The Celtic Tiger phenomenon made Ireland the focus of much attention in recent years. Other countries have openly declared that they want to follow the Irish economic and social model. Yet there is no book that gives a comprehensive spatially informed analysis of the Irish experience. This book fills that gap. Divided into four parts: planning and development, the economy, the political landscape, and population and social issues, the book explains a particular aspect of Ireland and Irish life. The authors reveal how the transformations that have occurred are uneven and unequal in their effects across the country and highlight the challenges now facing Irish society and policy makers.

Producer Services in China Anthony Yeh, Fiona Yang, 2013-02-11 In the past three decades, China has experienced an unprecedented pace of economic and urban development. Its economy is now transforming from one based on manufacturing industries towards the producer services, with the importance of these services in the national and regional economy being recognized by economists and policy makers alike. With growing demand and policy support, producer services are expected to expand rapidly, leading to a new wave of economic and urban development in China. This groundbreaking volume is one of the first to address questions related to the development of these services in China. The contributions explore a wide range of associated topics, including the characteristics of the growth of producer services and how this is related to China's economic and urban transition, the distribution of these services amongst Chinese cities, as well as drawing comparison between producer service development in China and Western counterparts. This volume also discusses the dynamics of the development of these services in China and how the political economic embeddedness of China has shaped the development of producer services. Finally, the consequences of this growth and how the economy and urban space have changed in response are explored, as well as the challenges Chinese cities face in moving towards a service economy and how this can inform future public policies. This volume addresses the pressing need to understand the economic and urban changes in post industrial China to allow appropriate strategies and policies to be formulated to facilitate future development in China The text is rich with statistical data and diagrams providing original contributions and a cutting edge overview This timely publication will be of interest to upper level undergraduates postgraduates and researchers interested in China Urban Studies and Economic Development

Consumer Services and Economic Development Colin C. Williams,1997 Consumer Services and Economic Development evaluates the role of consumer services as motors for local economic development in contemporary advanced economies The contributions that specific consumer service industries are making to local economic development are analysed Tourism sports universities retailing and the cultural industries are each examined in turn Following this the roles that the consumer services sector are playing in economic regeneration are investigated in a number of different contexts a global city several contrasting urban areas and a rural locality In each case whether consumer services have taken a lead or supportive role in local economic development is surveyed and their effectiveness in promoting economic regeneration is evaluated This book dispels the common myth that consumer services are residual activities dependent upon other economic sectors for their vitality and viability Providing a comprehensive overview and evaluation of the contributions of the consumer services sector to economic development this book reveals the need for a fundamental reconceptualization of both the function of services in particular and economic development theory and practice more generally Handbook of Service Business John R.

Bryson,Peter W. Daniels,2015-04-30 Service business accounts for more than 75 per cent of the wealth and employment created in most developed market economies The management and economics of service business is based around selling expertise knowledge and experiences This Handbook co Making a Living in Europe Alan Townsend,2005-08-18 Will making a Living remain a dream for the deprived and excluded Jobs are one of Europe s most important problems Employment provides the basic means of distributing wealth in society in providing for families and ensuring pensions for the elderly Yet unemployment and increasingly non employment continues at near record levels in the European Union Making a Living in Europe shows how the culture of work has been transformed in the industrialised nations of the EU Exploring the relationship between employment change society and economic restructuring the shift toward flexible work for women in services away from traditional industrial jobs for men is demonstrated within three key sectors business services retailing and tourism The outcome of change is discussed in terms of shifts of people and jobs from urban to rural areas Europe must be understood in the context of the new Europe of change in the USA and of global change Drawing on examples from UK and European Regions and USA the author challenges long standing assumptions about changes in economy and society and highlights the need for stronger local and European policies to reduce inequality at large and contribute positively to local people s struggles to make a living in Europe Encyclopedia of Environmental Change John A Matthews,2013-12-13
