Making Connections:

Making Connections High Intermediate Teacher's Manual Kenneth J. Pakenham, 2005-07-11 The Teacher's Manual contains teaching suggestions and an answer key for the Student's Book

Making Connections Peggy Hackney, 2020-08-26 This book explores how we go about creating the connections within us that allow us to become fully embodied human beings in the world. It provides some very personal memories of Irmgard Bartenieff and the development of her approach to Fundamentals

Making Connections, 2006-01-01 In this book comparisons are made between the practices of classrooms in a variety of different school systems around the world. The abiding challenge for classroom research is the realization of structure in diversity. The structure in this case takes the form of patterns of participation, regularities in the social practices of mathematics classrooms. The expansion of our field of view to include international rather than just local classrooms increases the diversity and heightens the challenge of the search for structure while increasing the significance of any structures once found. In particular, this book reports on the use of lesson events as an entry point for the analysis of lesson structure. International research offers opportunities to study settings and characteristics untenable in the researcher's local situation. Importantly, international comparative studies can reveal possibilities for practice that would go unrecognized within the established norms of educational practice of one country or one culture. Our capacity to conceive of alternatives to our current practice is constrained by deep-rooted assumptions reflecting cultural and societal values that we lack the perspective to question. The comparisons made possible by international research facilitate our identification and interrogation of these assumptions. Such interrogation opens up possibilities for innovation that might not otherwise be identified, expanding the repertoire of mathematics teachers internationally and providing the basis for theory development

Making Connections Andrew Orton, Todd Stockdale, 2014-05-01 This book examines how deacons within the Methodist Church in Britain have understood their ministry and sought to address its challenges

Making Connections Carol Gilligan, Nona Lyons, Trudy J. Hanmer, 1990 These essays are a series of exercises en route to a new psychology of adolescence and of women and part of a process that they also describe of changing a tradition by including girls' voices of listening to girls and asking again about the meaning of self-relationship and morality concepts central to any psychology of human development

Making Connections Bettie Higgs, Shane Kilcommins, Tony Ryan, 2010 In this volume the authors document examples of programmes, courses, activities that are designed intentionally to build students' capacity to be integrative thinkers and learners. In doing so, they try to analyse and name the learning that is taking place and so make it visible to the reader. The work is intended as a resource for all those involved in teaching and student learning in Higher Education and beyond. The ultimate goal is to ensure that students in higher education can make meaningful connections within and between disciplines, for example by integrating on-campus and off-campus learning experiences and tying together and synchronising different perspectives and ways of Making Connections Heather Devere, 2024-10-27 This book is a historical review of literature and ideas that make the connections between friendship and politics Using pertinent quotations from a wide variety of sources the book is divided into three main parts Firstly it explores interpretations of the concept of friendship tracing its use from the Ancient Greek and Roman philosophical works through to modern and postmodern perspectives touching on different cultural religious and ethical connections Secondly the concept of the political is identified according to different aspects and ideological emphases looking at influences in different time periods and demonstrating the importance of relational politics as viewed through feminism identity culture globalism and the ethics of care The third part draws together the political and friendship highlighting the importance of relational politics and civic friendship as a topic relevant for academic consideration of politics

Building Communities and Making Connections Susana Rivera-Mills, Juan Antonio Trujillo, 2010-02-19 Building Communities and Making Connections explores areas of academic and community engagement through various studies that include community service learning and the development and implementation of university programs that contain a community dimension Academic endeavors have long been seen as separate from the realities of local and regional communities This book closes the gap by looking at ways in which both academia and the communities it serves can collaborate to create authentic and applied learning environments

Making Meaning by Making Connections Kathy L. Schuh, 2016-10-20 This book documents those first links that students make between content they learn in their classrooms and their prior experiences Through six late elementary school case studies these knowledge construction links are brought to life The links of the students are often rich in describing who these individuals are where they are in their learning process and what is meaningful to them Many times these links point to what has been learned both in and out of school and the contexts when and where that learning took place The mind as rhizome metaphor was used to guide the development and interpretation of the studies while the lens of Peircian semiotics provides an interpretation for these initial links The resulting grounded theory is presented through a rich and extensive presentation of excerpts from classroom observations student interviews and a student writing activity and describes the varying types of student links how the links were prompted the relationships between what the students were learning and what they already knew and specific types of in school links The narrative includes how these links were supported or inhibited in the classroom drawing on the roles of the teachers in the classrooms and what constituted authority sources of information in those classrooms Before exploring the students linking as a process of ongoing semiosis and how this process is part of a dynamic system a study of the relationship between student knowledge links and achievement is shared This rich narrative will be of interest to scholars and practitioners alike and includes an extensive appendix documenting the research methods

Making Connections in Elementary and Middle School Social Studies Andrew P. Johnson, 2009-10-15 Making Connections in Elementary and Middle School Social Studies Second Edition is the best text for teaching primary school teachers how to integrate social studies into other content areas This book is a comprehensive reader friendly text that demonstrates how personal connections can be incorporated into social studies education while meeting the National Council for the Social Studies' thematic pedagogical and disciplinary standards. Praised for its wealth of strategies that go beyond social studies teaching and including classroom strategies, pedagogical techniques, activities, and lesson plan ideas, this book examines a variety of methods both novice and experienced teachers alike can use to integrate social studies into other content areas.

Highlights of the International Transport Forum 2012 Seamless Transport: Making Connections OECD, 2012-11-28 Seamlessness in transport is the physical expression of one of the megatrends of the 21st century: complete connectivity. Seamlessness is about better connecting people and markets but also about linking sectors, businesses, and ideas. Being able to Making Connections in Primary Mathematics Sylvia Turner, Judith McCulloch, 2017-02-27 First published in 2004, Routledge is an imprint of Taylor & Francis, an information company.

Making Connections in and Through Arts-Based Educational Research Hala Mreiwed, Mindy R. Carter, Sara Hashem, Candace H. Blake-Amarante, 2023-02-18 This book explores the connections made in and through arts-based educational research through four themes: socially engaged connections, cultural connections, personal and pedagogical connections, and making connections during the COVID-19 pandemic. It emerges from the 3rd bi-annual 2020 Artful Inquiry Research Group symposium on the theme of connections. The symposium brought together artists, community members, teachers, students, and researchers through a virtual platform to examine the ways in which the arts can help connect people, ideas, and spaces in a pandemic reality. Art plays a predominant role in each chapter as authors weave their research and art-based understandings together. This book is a valuable teaching resource for undergraduate and postgraduate courses in teaching anthropology, digital ethnography, autoethnography, cultural studies, and communications. It is of interest to higher education students, academic researchers, and teachers exploring arts-based methodologies in the fields of creative practice and creativity studies, communications, critical studies, sociology, sciences, teacher education, and the arts.

Making Connections Level 1 Teacher's Manual Jessica Williams, 2013-06-17 Making Connections teaches an extensive range of reading skills and strategies in order to prepare students for college reading.

Making Connections with Vulnerable Children and Families Jan Horwath, 2025-04-21 Combining a range of activities and tools that have been developed and tested by practitioners, this book supports practitioners who wish to take a person-centred approach to establishing relationships with family members, understanding their past and current lived experiences, and the impact of this on outcomes for children and young people.

New Media, Development and Globalization: Making Connections in the Global South Don Slater, 2014-01-15 New media, development, and globalization are the key terms through which the future is being imagined and performed in governance, development initiatives, and public and political discourse. Yet these authoritative terms have arisen within particular cultural and ideological contexts. In using them we risk promoting over generalized and seemingly unchallengeable frameworks for action and knowledge production which can blind us to the complex global patterns and promise of social reality This compelling book forces us to look at these terms afresh Drawing on more than ten years of ethnographic fieldwork in Latin America West Africa and South Asia Don Slater seeks to challenge these terms as voicing specific northern narratives rather than universal truths and to see them from the perspective of southern people and communities who are equally concerned to understand new machines for communication new models of social change and new maps of social connection The central question the book poses is how we can democratize the ways we think and practise new media development and globalization opening these terms to dialogue and challenge within North South relations Rooted in sociological debates New Media Development and Globalization will also be a provocative contribution to media and cultural studies studies of digital culture development studies geography and anthropology
