Making Justice Our Project Teachers Working Toward Critical Whole Language Practice:

Making Justice Our Project Carole Edelsky, 1999 This book brings together whole language and critical pedagogy reading each in terms of the other and providing a new and politically valuable synthesis of the two A related aim of this volume is to bring together the community of whole language educators with educators who identify themselves with racial ethnic and other groups historically positioned as minorities The book thus develops a rich interrogation of whole language education from multiple perspectives After a foreword by Bess Altwerger and Elizabeth R Saavedra essays in the book are On Critical Whole Language Practice Why What and a Bit of How Carole Edelsky Understanding and Transforming the Meaning of Our Lives through Poetry Biographies and Songs Cecilia M Espinosa and Karen J Moore Exchanging Ideas and Changing Positions The Importance of Conversation to Holistic Critical Endeavors Marie Elaine Boozer Lisa Burley Maras and Bill Brummett Si Se Puede Teaching for Transformation Rebeca Garcia Gonzalez Pilar Mejia and Winnie J Porter Critical Literacy in a Fourth Grade Classroom Maria Sweeney Teaching without Charisma Involving Third Graders as Co investigators of Their Inner City Neighborhood Paul Skilton Sylvester A Conversation about Critical Literacy James Albright Susan M Church Sue Settle and Vivian Vasquez The Quality of the Question Probing Culture in Literature Discussion Groups Cynthia Lewis Third Class Is More Than a Cruise Ship Ticket Beverly Busching and Betty Slesinger Critical Literacy Teaching Reading Writing and Outrage Linda M Christensen Schooling for Gangs When School Oppression Contributes to Gang Formations Ramon A Serrano Probing the Invisible Life of Schools Bill Bigelow Stories of a Liberatory Pedagogy Rebecca Jarvis Leadership as Critical Practice A Work in Progress Susan M Church Transformative Learning through a Study Group Elizabeth R Saavedra Literacy Education as a Site for Social Justice What Do Our Practices Do Barbara Comber and Helen Nixon EF Whole Language Teaching, Whole-hearted Practice Monica Taylor, 2007 This seminal collection brings together the multiple perspectives of whole language educators over the course of the past thirty five years The essays illustrate the complex ways in which whole language teachers have been and continue to be political activists through their interactions with students the teachers beliefs about teaching learning and curriculum their commitment to critical thinking and social justice their collaborative engagements with other teachers their role as leaders of change in schools and communities and finally their activism in society Although many believe that we are living in a climate where the term whole language is considered taboo the contributors to this book demonstrate hopefulness for the future of whole language as Yetta and Ken Goodman write in the concluding chapter whole language is alive and well Educational Justice Howard Ryan, 2017-01-01 That education should instill and nurture democracy is an American truism Yet organizations such as the Business Roundtable together with conservative philanthropists such as Bill Gates and Walmart s owners the Waltons have been turning public schools into corporate mills Their top down programs such as Common Core State Standards track judge and homogenize the minds of millions of American students from kindergarten through high school But corporate funders would not be able to implement this educational control without the de facto partnership of government at all levels channeling public moneys into privatization initiatives school closings and high stakes testing that discourages independent thinking Educational Justice offers hope that there is still time to take on corporatized schools and achieve democratic justice in the classroom Forcefully written by educator and journalist Howard Ryan with contributing authors the book opens with four chapters that discuss theories on teacher unionism social justice pedagogy and corporate school reform These chapters are balanced with four case study chapters documenting exemplary teaching and school site organizing practices in the field Reports from various educational fronts include innovative union strategies against charter school expansion as well as teaching visions drawn from the vibrant whole language movement Bold informative clearly reasoned this book is an education in itself a democratic one at that

The Most

Important Work Kyle D. Shanton, 2015-05-27 This book is a collection of essays that reflect the desire and determination guiding many practitioners and researchers as they work together in more meaningful and relevant ways for literacy. The essays are organized as three series of dialogues in which an academic scholar works with a practitioner or community leader on a particular struggle toward teaching learning and literacy. Together they portray the reflexive relationships involved in their shared endeavor, the different struggles for sovereignty they encountered, what they accomplished together, and what they learned by honoring one another's knowledge and skill. The work presented in this book reflects intentional connections among practitioners and researchers in terms of how they engaged with children, youth, and families to compose their language, lives, and culture into literacy for personal, political, and practical purposes that both pertain to and transcend contexts of school. Moreover, these narratives highlight a shared commitment to frame and forge such work in nuanced terms of solidarity and sovereignty rather than as stark assertions of this is what needs to be done and this is how to do it.

Reconceptualizing the Literacies in Adolescents' Lives Donna E. Alvermann, Kathleen A. Hinchman, David W. Moore, III, David W. Moore, Stephen F. Phelps, Diane R. Waff, 2007-07-10 Reconceptualizing the Literacies in Adolescents' Lives Second Edition focuses on exploring the impact of young people's identity-making practices in mediating their perceptions of themselves as readers and writers in an era of externally mandated reforms. What is different in the Second Edition is its emphasis on the importance of valuing adolescents' perspectives in an era of skyrocketing interest in improving literacy instruction at the middle and high school levels driven by externally mandated reforms and accountability measures. A central concern is the degree to which this new interest takes into account adolescents' personal, social, and cultural experiences in relation to literacy learning. In this new edition of Reconceptualizing the Literacies in Adolescents' Lives, students' voices and perspectives are featured front and center in every chapter. Particular attention is given throughout to multiple literacies, especially how information and new communication technologies are changing learning from and with text. Nine of the 15 chapters are new; all other chapters are thoroughly updated. The volume is structured around four main themes: Situating Adolescents' Literacies addressing how young people use favorite texts to perform their identities, how they counter school-based constructions of incompetence, and how they re-construct their literate identities in relation to certain kinds of gendered expectations, pedagogies, and cultural resources; Positioning Youth as Readers and Writers stressing the importance of classroom discourse, cultural capital, agency, and democratic citizenship in mediating adolescents' literate identities; Mediating Practices in Young People's Literacies looking at issues of language, social class, race, and culture in shaping how adolescents represent themselves and are represented by others; and Changing Teachers Teaching capturing the productive ambiguities associated with teaching urban adolescents to read and write in changing times, encouraging students to conduct action research on topics that are personally relevant, and using enabling constraints as a concept to formulate policies on adolescent literacy instruction. Reconceptualizing the Literacies in Adolescents' Lives Second Edition is an essential volume for researchers faculty teacher educators and graduate students in the field of adolescent literacy education
