The Street Vikas Mehta, 2013-03-05 Received the Environmental Design Research Association s 2014 Place Book Award Shortlisted for the UDG Francis Tibbalds Book Award 2014 Good cities are places of social encounter Creating public spaces that encourage social behavior in our cities and neighborhoods is an important goal of city design. One of the cardinal roles of the street as public space is to provide a setting for sociability. How do we make sociable streets? This book shows us how these ordinary public spaces can be planned and designed to become settings that support an array of social behaviors. Through carefully crafted research, The Street systematically examines people's actions and perceptions, develops a comprehensive typology of social behaviors on the neighborhood commercial street, and provides a thorough inquiry into the social dimensions of streets. Vikas Mehta shows that sociability is not a result of the physical environment alone but is achieved by the relationships between the physical environment, the land uses, their management, and the places to which people assign special meanings. Scholars and students of urban design, planning, architecture, geography, and sociology will find the book a stimulating resource. The material is also directly applicable to practice and should be widely read by professional urban designers, planners, architects, and others involved in the design, planning, and implementation of commercial streets.

Creating Neighbourhoods and Places in the Built Environment David Chapman, 2003-09-02
This design primer examines the forces at work in the built environment and their impact on the form of buildings and their environments. The actions of a range of individuals and agencies and the interaction between them is examined, exploring the competing interests which exist, their interaction with physical and environmental forces, and the uncertain results of both individual and corporate intervention.

Transformation of Cities in Central and Eastern Europe F. E. Ian Hamilton, Kaliopa Dimitrovska Andrews, Nataša Pichler-Milanović, 2005
Annotation: This volume is one in a series initiated by the United Nations University Institute of Advanced Studies on the interrelationship between globalisation and urban transformation. It identifies and describes the inter and intra urban transformations of Central and Eastern European cities and considers their pre 1945 historic legacies, the socialist period, and their contemporary transition towards market-oriented and democratic systems. The dramatic changes since 1989, including the collapse of Communist ideology, the break up of the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, and Yugoslavia, the end of the Cold War, and the impact of globalisation and European integration, have reconfigured this region and affected their reintegration into European and global networks. This book first examines the similarities and differences between significant Central and Eastern European cities, comparing the differing patterns of historical context and socialist legacies before 1990 and the impacts of internal and external forces on reshaping these cities and their paths of transformation since 1990. It also examines the role of contemporary planning within the overall development of Central and Eastern European cities. The conclusion demonstrates the similarities and differences between Central and Eastern European cities and their reintegration into global networks.

Housing Transformations Bridget Franklin, 2006-08-21

Hague,Paul Jenkins,2005 Can regional identities create a more sustainable alternative to the increasingly standardised environments in which we live Is bottom up rather than top down planning possible Revitalising Historic Urban Quarters Tim Heath,Taner Oc,Steve Tiesdell,2013-09-13 This book synthesizes urban design and urban regeneration by examining the revitalization of a number of historic urban quarters Its focus is on quarters or areas where there is a significant number of historic buildings concentrated in a small area with places and area based approaches Many cities have such quarters that confer on them a sense of place and identity through their historic continuity and cultural associations The quarters are often an integral element of the city's image and identity. The lessons and observations from the experience of the revitalization of such historic urban quarters forms the core of this book with a number of case study examples from North America and Europe showing a variety of approaches to and outcomes of revitalization.

Humanizing Cities Through Car-Free City Development and Transformation Doheim, Rahma M., Farag, Alshimaa, Aboelmakarem, Kamel, Ehab, 2020-06-05. The heavy dependency on private cars has shaped the design of cities. While offering fast, comfortable and convenient commutes, cars have become the most popular method of transportation but are also a health crisis due to the toxic emissions they release into the atmosphere as well as the high death toll from traffic accidents. For these reasons, there is a need to minimize the use of cars within cities in favor of greener and humanized urban design that would improve the quality of life and reduce the global threat of climate change.

Humanizing Cities Through Car Free City Development and Transformation is an essential publication that explores the concepts of car free cities and city humanization as possible solutions to reduce the deteriorating effect on the environment and the community. The publication discusses the urban initiative to implement pedestrianization and humanization of cities and public spaces to promote the concept of car free living. Featuring coverage on a wide range of topics including city humanization, smart mobility and urban policies, this book is ideally designed for urban planners, environmentalists, government officials, policymakers, architects, transportation authorities, researchers, academicians and students.

Urban Design Reader Matthew Carmona, Steven Tiesdell, 2007. Essential reading for architects, planners and anyone else involved in urban design.

On Asian Streets and Public Space Hee Limin, Low Boon Liang, Heng Chye Kiang, 2010-01-01. The rapid urbanization of the Asian continent and transformation of its cityscapes have incited many professionals and scholars to pay urgent attention to the study of Asian streets and public spaces in the hope of recording them, learning from their complex nature and even applying distilled principles in new environments before they disappear under the assault of rapid urban transformation. This volume presents articles focusing on four prevalent themes: namely, transformation and modernity, the culture of streets, experiencing the street and finally, design and quality of streets. However, these themes inevitably overlap, pointing out again the complexity of what we call the street and the necessity for interdisciplinary research. Finally, adding Asian to street opens up the discussion about spaces in the Asian city and even concepts of Asian-ness if indeed such a concept can be defined. Believing in the importance of understanding Asian streets and streets in general for future design and planning of our cities, this collection of essays encourages greater interest in this subject and therefore more interdisciplinary research Accordingly this book should interest not only urban planners architects and other design and building professionals but also environmentalists sociologists anthropologists geographers and historians as well as the general public
