H. Elliott, 2006-01-01 This epic history compares the empires built by Spain and Britain in the Americas from Columbus s arrival in the New World to the end of Spanish colonial rule in the early nineteenth century J H Elliott one of the most distinguished and versatile historians working today offers us history on a grand scale contrasting the worlds built by Britain and by Spain on the ruins of the civilizations they encountered and destroyed in North and South America Elliott identifies and explains both the similarities and differences in the two empires processes of colonization the character of their colonial societies their distinctive styles of imperial government and the independence

Retrofitting Blade Runner Judith Kerman, 1991 This book of essays looks at the multitude of texts and influences which converge in Ridley Scott's film Blade Runner especially the film's relationship to its source novel Philip K Dick's Do Androids Dream of Electric Sheep The film's implications as a thought experiment provide a starting point for important thinking about the moral issues implicit in a hypertechnological society Yet its importance in the history of science fiction and science fiction film rests equally on its mythically and psychologically resonant creation of compelling characters and an exciting story within a credible science fiction setting These essays consider political moral and technological issues raised by the film as well as literary filmic technical and aesthetic questions Contributors discuss the film's psychological and mythic patterns important political issues and the roots of the film in Paradise Lost Frankenstein detective fiction and previous science fiction cinema

The Puritan Way of Death David E. Stannard, 1977-10-13 The Puritan Way of Death is more than a book about Puritans or about death It is also about family community and identity in the modern world Even before publication eminent historians sociologists and religious scholars in the United States and Europe among them Gordon Wood Philippe Ariès William Clebsch and Robert Nisbet hailed it as a pathbreaking provocative and exciting work a terse urbane learned clear humane volume

Settler Colonialism Patrick Wolfe, 1999-01-01 This work analyzes the politics of anthropological knowledge from critical perspective that alters existing understandings of colonialism At the same time it produces insights into the history of anthropology Organized around an historical reconstruction of the great anthropological controversy over doctrines of virgin birth the book argues that the allegation a great deal about European colonial discourse and little if anything about indigenous beliefs By means of an Australian example the book shows not only that the alleged ignorance was an artifact of the anthropological theory that produced it but also that the anthropology was an artifact of the anthropological theory that produced it but also that the anthropology concerned has been closely tied into both the historical dispossession and the continuing oppression of native peoples The author explores the links between metropolitan anthropological theory and local colonial politics from the 19th century up to the present settler colonialism and the ideological and sexual regimes that characterize it

Beastly Natures Dorothee Brantz, 2010-08-03 Although the animal may be as Nietzsche argued ahistorical living completely in the present it nonetheless plays a crucial role in human history The fascination with animals that leads not only to a desire to observe and even live alongside them but to capture or kill them is found in all civilizations The essays collected in Beastly Natures show how animals have been brought into human culture literally helping to build our societies as domesticated animals have done or contributing often in problematic ways to our concept of the wild The book begins with a group of essays that approach the historical relevance of human animal relations seen from the perspectives of various disciplines and suggest ways in which animals might be brought into formal studies of history Differences in species and location can greatly affect the shape of human animal interaction and so the essays that follow address a wide spectrum of topics including the demanding fate of the working horse the complex image of the American alligator at turns a dangerous predator and a tourist attraction the zoo gardens of Victorian England the iconography of the rhinoceros and the preference it reveals in society for myth over science relations between humans and wolves in Europe and what we can learn from society's enthusiasm for political animals such as the pets of the American presidents and the Soviet Union's space dogs Taken together these essays suggest new ways of looking not only at animals but at human history Contributors Mark V Barrow Jr Virginia Tech Peter Edwards Roehampton University Kelly Enright Rutgers University Oliver Hochadel Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona Uwe L. Early Modern Dutch Prints of Africa Elizabeth A. Sutton, 2017-07-05 Using Pieter de Marees Description and Historical Account of the Gold Kingdom of Guinea 1602 as her main source material author Elizabeth Sutton brings to bear approaches from the disciplines of art history and book history to explore the context in which De Marees account was created Since variations of the images and text were repeated in other European travel collections and decorated maps Sutton is able to trace how the framing of text and image shaped the formation of knowledge that continued to be repeated and distilled in later European depictions of Africans She reads the engravings in De Marees account as a demonstration of the intertwining domains of the Dutch pictorial tradition intellectual inquiry and Dutch mercantilism At the same time by analyzing the marketing tactics of the publisher Cornelis Claesz this study illuminates how early modern epistemological processes were influenced by the commodification of knowledge Sutton examines the book s construction and marketing to shed new light on the social milieus that shared interests in ethnography trade and travel Exploring how the images and text function together Sutton suggests that Dutch visual and intellectual traditions informed readers choices for translating De Marees text visually Through the examination of early modern Dutch print culture Early Modern Dutch Prints of Africa expands the boundaries of our understanding of the European imperial enterprise

Early Visions and Representations of America M. Carmen Gomez-Galisteo,2012-11-22 When the Europeans first arrived in America they had a number of preconceptions prejudices expectations and hopes about what life in the New World would be like This book examines the different visions and representations of America conveyed in the writings of Spanish conquistador Ivar N ez Cabeza de Vaca and the Pilgrim leader William Bradford taking both writers within their respective literary and historical contexts Anthologies of American literature have consistently ignored Spanish language achievements on the grounds of a restrictive interpretation of American literature based on linguistic boundaries Consequently Spanish language texts such as Cabeza de Vaca s or the account by the Hidalgo de Elvas to name but two examples have been marginalized in the narrative of American literary history In seeking to redress this neglect Galisteo contributes to scholarship which seeks to analyze Early America as a whole including not only Anglo American perspectives but also the Spanish American aspect of the colonization process The Goddess and the Nation Sumathi
