New Directions In Prose And Poetry No 39:

The Works of Allen Ginsberg, 1941-1994 Bill Morgan, 1995-02-28 Avant garde poet and popular culture icon Allen Ginsberg has been one of the world's most important writers for over 40 years. This comprehensive bibliography covering the years 1941 to 1994 was prepared with the cooperation of the poet himself. All books, periodicals, photographs, recordings, films, and miscellaneous appearances are listed here. Entries are grouped in chapters according to type of work, and each entry provides full descriptive bibliographic information. Allen Ginsberg is perhaps the most famous poet of our time, as well as one of our most prolific writers. His subjects range from Buddhist studies to drug research to gay rights to political issues of every description, from Vietnam to censorship. Ginsberg gave the author access to personal files, and as a result, every appearance of Ginsberg's writings in the English language is noted. This bibliography is a comprehensive descriptive record of all of Ginsberg's works. The volume contains descriptive annotations of every book, pamphlet, and broadside by Ginsberg. It also contains complete descriptions of every contribution by Ginsberg to the works of others. In addition, all periodical contributions, recordings, films, and miscellaneous publications are listed. Due to Ginsberg's recent acceptance as a photographer of note, a special section identifies all of his published photographs. Entries are arranged in chapters according to the type of work to facilitate ease of use. As a result, this book presents a history of Ginsberg's works and traces the evolution of his writings over a period of publications and revisions.

Charles Henri Ford: Between Modernism and Postmodernism Alexander Howard, 2017-05-18 The first American surrealist poet, a prolific literary editor, and a seminal influence on the New York School of poetry, Charles Henri Ford was a key figure in the transition from late modernism to postmodern culture in America. Charles Henri Ford: Between Modernism and Postmodernism is the first book-length scholarly study of this important literary figure. Drawing on new archival research, including explorations of Ford's correspondence with the likes of Ezra Pound, Gertrude Stein, William Carlos Williams, Parker Tyler, and many others, the book explores the full impact of Ford's contribution to 20th-century American literary culture.

The New American Poetry John R. Woznicki, 2013-12-24 The New American Poetry Fifty Years Later is a collection of critical essays on Donald Allen's 1960 seminal anthology The New American Poetry, an anthology that Marjorie Perloff once called the fountainhead of radical American poetics. The New American Poetry is referred to in every literary history of post-World War II American poetry. Allen's anthology has reached its fiftieth anniversary, providing a unique time for reflection and reevaluation of this preeminent collection. As we know, Allen's anthology was groundbreaking; it was the first to distribute widely the poetry and theoretical positions of poets such as Charles Olson, Allen Ginsberg, and the Beats, and it was the first to categorize these poets by the schools: Black Mountain, New York School, San Francisco Renaissance, and the Beats, by which they are known today. Over the course of fifty years, this categorization of poets into schools has become one of the major, if not only way that The New American Poetry is remembered or valued. One certain goal of this volume, as one reviewer invites, is to pry The New American Poetry out from the hoary platitudes that have encrusted it To this point critics mostly have examined The New American Poetry as an anthology former treatments of The New American Poetry look at it intently as a whole Though the almost singularly focused study of its construction and less often reception has lent a great deal of documented highly visible and debated material in which to consider we have been left with certain notions about its relevance that have become imbued ultimately in the collective critical consciousness of postmodernity This volume however goes beyond the analysis of construction and reception and achieves something distinctive extending those former treatments by treading on the paths they create This volume aims to discover another sense of radical that Perloff articulated rather than a radical that departs markedly from the usual we invite consideration of The New American Poetry that is radical in the sense of root of harboring something fundamental something inherent as we uncover and trace further elements correlated with its widespread influence over the last fifty years

Never by Itself Alone David Grundy,2024 Through its comprehensive history of post war queer writing in Boston and San Francisco from the 1940s through the 21st century Never By Itself Alone provides a new view of queer history Grundy intertwines analysis of lesbian gay and queer literature of the time centering voices which have not yet before been explored in existing criticism The book elevates the underrepresented work of writers of color and those with gender nonconforming identities underscores the link between activism and literature and insists upon the vital importance of radical accounts of race class and gender in any queer studies worthy of the name

Optical Impersonality Christina Walter,2014-07-08 Christina Walter brings the next offering to the Hopkins Studies in Modernism series Her work looks at the influence of the modern science of visual perception a variety of modernist writers Walter focuses in particular on the way in which writers like H D Virginia Woolf Walter Pater and T S Eliot developed an alternative conception of the self in light of the developing neuro scientific account of our inner workings Critics have long seen modernist writers as being concerned with an impersonal form of writing that rejects the earlier Romantic notion that literature was a direct expression of an author's subjective personality. Walter argues that the charge of impersonality has been overblown and that the modernists did not want to entirely evacuate the self from writing. Rather, she argues, modernist writers embraced the kind of material and embodied notion of the self that resulted from the then-emerging physiological sciences. This work will appeal to scholars and advanced students of modernist literature as well as scholars interested in the influence of science on literature. Provided by publisher Expressive Writing Kathleen Adams, 2014-07-16 Expressive writing is life-based writing that focuses on authentic expression of lived experience with resultant insight, growth, and skill building. Research shows that expressive writing can help in the development of emotional intelligence, better choice making, and healthy coping skills. In this remarkable collection, 11 experts from education and community service join to offer compelling guidance on applied practice. You'll discover a model for a poetry group for youth at risk, how to help students develop inner resources through metaphor, a photovoice project to help at-risk students stay in school, how storytelling develops emotional intelligence in primary school children, a method that helps teachers become more confident writers, how expressive writing can help teachers manage stress and avoid burnout, expressive writing as change agent for communities, the benefits and limitations of writing programs in prisons and jails, hip-hop as the pen of the people, finding a writing group, writing with others, the ethics and standards of practice for expressive writing in the classroom, and community guidance for all levels of learners: Primary, teens, college age, adult, professional development, personal growth. Whether you are a teacher, a counselor, a facilitator, or a writer, you'll find this volume an invaluable and innovative resource for expressive writing in the classroom and in the community. The Routledge Companion to Literature and Art Neil Murphy, W. Michelle Wang, Cheryl Julia Lee, 2024-03-11 The Routledge Companion to Literature and Art explores the links between literature and visual art from classical ekphrasis through to contemporary experimental forms. The collection's engagement with diverse literary and cultural artifacts offers a comprehensive survey of the vibrant interrelationships that currently inform literary studies and the arts. Featuring four sections, the first part provides an overview of theoretical approaches to art and literature from philosophy and aesthetics through to cognitive neuroscience. Part two examines one of the most important intersections between text and image: the workings of ekphrasis across poetry, fiction, drama, comics, life and travel writing, and architectural treatises. Parts three and four consider intermedial crossings from antiquity to the present. The contributors examine the rich intermedial experiments that range from manuscript studies to infographics in graphic narratives, illuminating the vibrant ways in which texts have intersected with illustration, music, dance, architecture, painting, photography, media installations, and television. Throughout this dynamic collection of 37 chapters, the contributors evolve existing critical debates in innovative new directions. The volume will be a critical resource for advanced undergraduate and graduate students as well as specialist scholars working in literary studies, philosophy of art, text and image studies, and visual culture.
