Maberly,2015-06-17 Excerpt from The Print Collector An Introduction to the Knowledge Necessary for Forming a Collection of Ancient Prints The study of art needs no apology Man may sometimes acquire too much power or too much money for his own advantage or for the good of his fellow men but true art is like true religion the more it is cultivated the richer are the heart and mind of its possessor Should it not beget wisdom it will increase knowledge and these if not twin brothers are very closely related There are good and bad systems of religion as there are true and false forms of art and a consideration of this analogy might be followed up with profit to the edification of some people and to the incredulity and disapprobation of others In this new country where for the last one hundred years utility has been the predominant idea I have often wondered why the poetic mind of the age has not created a goddess of Utility to whom we might render homage similar to that paid in the olden time at the shrines of the goddesses of Wisdom Beauty and Riches We know that art in its highest forms is capable of inspiring the purest of religious sentiment but this is only a portion of what it has done for the world in the past and is capable of doing for us now In all real art there is something which the lowliest person may partake of and enjoy just as art may be found and does exist in the lowliest and simplest forms and detail About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Print Collector Joseph Maberly,Theodore Henry Fielding,1880 The Print Collector; an Introduction to the Knowledge Necessary for Forming a Collection of Ancient J.
