Blood and Roses - The Paston Family in the Fifteenth Century Helen Castor, 2025-05-24 The Wars of the Roses turned England upside down Between 1455 and 1485 four kings lost their thrones more than forty noblemen lost their lives on the battlefield or their heads on the block and thousands of the men who followed them met violent deaths Yet almost nothing is known about the thoughts and feelings of the people who lived through this bloody conflict whether kind of noble landowner or peasant Almost nothing but not quite As they made their way in a disintegrating world a Norfolk family called the Pastons were writing letters about politics about business about shopping about love and about each other Using these letters the oldest surviving family correspondence in English Helen Castor traces the extraordinary history of the Paston family across three generations Blood Roses tells the dramatic moving and intensely human story of how one family survived one of the most tempestuous periods in English history

Paston Letters and Papers of the Fifteenth Century Norman Davis, Richard Beadle, Colin Richmond, 2004 The Paston family papers have long been consulted for their information about social history and politics in the fifteenth century both within East Anglia and also nationally Parts I and II of Paston Letters and Papers of the Fifteenth Century edited by Norman Davis were originally published by the Clarendon Press in 1971 and 1976 and were reissued with corrections by EETS in 2004 Part III completes the edition It contains the texts of 120 additional letters and papers many of them relating to Sir John Fastolf and his circle These texts are previously unprinted or printed only in part some only came to light after the publication of Parts I and II The texts have been edited according to the principles established by Norman Davis and are accompanied by an Introduction and Bibliography as well as a consolidated index to all three parts of the edition a glossary to the entire edition a concordance of the principal editions and original sources and a working chronology of the documents Richard Beadle is Reader in English Literature and Historical Bibliography at the University of Cambridge Colin Richmond is Emeritus Professor of Medieval History at the University of Keele

The Paston Women Diane Watt, 2004 The Paston letters viewed in the context of medieval women's writing and medieval letter writing The Paston letters form one of only two surviving collections of fifteenth century correspondence in their case especially rich in letters from the women of the family Clandestine love affairs secret marriages violent family rows bickering with neighbours battles and sieges threats of murder and kidnapping fears of plague these are just some of the topics discussed in the letters of the Paston women Diane Watt's introduction seeks to place these letters in the context of medieval women's writing and medieval letter writing Her interpretive essay reconstructs the lives of these women by examining what the letters reveal about women's literacy and education life in the medieval household religion and piety health and medicine and love marriage family relationships and female friendships in the middle ages Professor Diane Watt is Head of the School of English and Languages University of Surrey

A Companion to Middle English Prose Anthony Stockwell Garfield Edwards, 2004 The essays in this volume provide an up to date and authoritative guide to the major prose Middle English authors and genres Each chapter is written by a leading authority on the subject and offers a succinct account of all relevant literary history and cultural factors that need to be considered together with bibliographical references Authors examined include the writers of the Ancrene Wisse the Katherine Group and the Wounges Group Richard Rolle Walter Hilton Nicholas Love Julian of Norwich Margery Kempe Sir John Mandeville John Trevisa Reginald Pecock and John Fortescue Genres discussed include romances saints' lives letters sermon literature historical prose anonymous devotional writings Wycliffite prose and various forms of technical writing The final chapter examines the treatment of Middle English prose in the first age of print Contributors BELLA MILLETT RALPH HANNA III AD PUTTER KANTI K GHOSH BARRY A WINDEATT A C SPEARING IAN HIGGINS A S G EDWARDS VINCENT GILLESPIE HELEN L SPENCER ALFRED HIATT FIONA SOMERSET HELEN COOPER GEORGE KEISER OLIVER S PICKERING JAMES SIMPSON RICHARD BEADLE ALEXANDRA GILLESPIE

Medieval Women's Writing Diane Watt, 2007-10-22 Medieval Women's Writing is a major new contribution to our understanding of women's writing in England 1100-1500 The most comprehensive account to date it includes writings in Latin and French as well as English and works for as well as by women Marie de France Clemence of Barking Julian of Norwich Margery Kempe and the Paston women are discussed alongside the Old English lives of women saints The Life of Christina of Markyate the St Albans Psalter and the legends of women saints by Osbert Bokenham Medieval Women's Writing addresses these key questions Who were the first women authors in the English canon What do we mean by women's writing in the Middle Ages What do we mean by authorship How can studying medieval writing contribute to our understanding of women's literary history Diane Watt argues that female patrons audiences readers and even subjects contributed to the production of texts and their meanings whether written by men or women Only an understanding of textual production as collaborative enables us to grasp fully women's engagement with literary culture This radical rethinking of early women's literary history has major implications for all scholars working on medieval literature on ideas of authorship and on women's writing in later periods The book will become standard reading for all students of these debates

Family Life in The Middle Ages Linda E. Mitchell, 2007-08-30 Mitchell takes a regional approach in exploring the lives of families in the Middle Ages Starting with the late Roman families the first five chapters explore the roles of family members

defined by tradition and law what constituted a legal marriage and a family to whom the children belonged and who was included in the extended family The remaining chapters delve into daily family life homes of various social classes and the division of labor both maintaining the home and family based labor such as agriculture banking manufacturing of goods and mercantile activity Religious cultures of the medieval world varied but all often included oblation of children to monasteries religious ceremonies for life stages and family obligations in the religious culture Birth death and inheritance all affected the family and new families were often formed from previous generations and defunct family lines Non traditional families included family structures advocated by heretical groups the Cathars and the Beguines families created without marriage concubinage relationships and those that developed as a result of social and environmental stresses the Black Death war and natural disasters Perfect for students studying the Middle Ages and medieval life this work provides a clear and engaging narrative on the day to day lives of the family Reference resources include a timeline sources for further reading photographs and an index Volumes in the Family Life Through History series focus on the day to day lives and roles of families The roles of all family members are defined and information on daily family life the role of the family in society and the ever changing definition of the term family are discussed Discussion of the nuclear family single parent homes foster and adoptive families stepfamilies and gay and lesbian families are included where appropriate Topics such as meal planning homes entertainment and celebrations are discussed along with larger social issues that originate in the home like domestic violence child abuse and neglect and divorce Ideal for students and general readers alike books in this series bring the history of everyday people to life
