Rock Inscriptions And Graffiti Project Volume 3 Sbl Resources For Biblical Study 31:

The Caucasian Archaeology of the Holy Land Yana Tchekhanovets, 2018-05-07 The Caucasian Archaeology of the Holy Land investigates the complete corpus of available literary epigraphic and archaeological evidence of the Armenian Georgian and Caucasian Albanian Christian communities activity in the Holy Land during the Byzantine and the Early Islamic periods This book presents the first integrated approach to a wide variety of literary sources and archaeological evidence previously unpublished or revised The study explores the place of each of these Caucasian communities in ancient Palestine through a synthesis of literary and material evidence and seeks to understand the interrelations between them and the influence they had on the national churches of the Caucasus Dirāsāt Fī Tārīkh Wa-āthār Al-Urdun, 2004 Contains papers presented at the International Conferences on the History and Archaeology of Jordan

Jewish Literacy in Roman Palestine Catherine Hezser, 2001 Since Judaism has always been seen as the quintessential religion of the book a high literacy rate amongst ancient Jews has usually been taken for granted Catherine Hezser presents the first critical analysis of the various aspects of ancient Jewish literacy on the basis of all of the literary epigraphic and papyrological material published so far Thereby she takes into consideration the analogies in Graeco Roman culture and models and theories developed in the social sciences Rather than trying to determine the exact literacy rate amongst ancient Jews she examines the various types social contexts and functions of writing and the relationship between writing and oral forms of discourse Following recent social anthropological approaches to literacy the guiding question is who used what type of writing for which purpose First Catherine Hezser examines the conditions which would enable or prevent the spread of literacy such as education and schools the availability and costs of writing materials religious interest in writing and books the existence of archives and libraries and the question of multilingualism Afterwards she looks at the different types of writing such as letters documents miscellaneous notes inscriptions and graffiti and literary and magical texts until she finally draws conclusions about the ways in which the various sectors of the populace were able to participate in a literate society

The Oxford Encyclopedia of Archaeology in the Near East Eric M. Meyers, American Schools of Oriental Research, 1997 This comprehensive five volume work analyzes the archaeological and linguistic data that pertain to the broad cultural milieu of the ancient Near East the crossroads of three of the world's most influential religions Judaism Christianity and Islam Ranging from prehistoric times up to the early centuries of the rise of Islam the work covers the civilizations of Syria Palestine Mesopotamia Anatolia Iran Arabia Cyprus Egypt and the coastal regions of North and East Africa It includes 1 125 alphabetically arranged entries on sites languages material culture archaeological methods organizations and institutions and major excavators and scholars of the field This one of a kind accessibly written reference brings new breadth to the study of archaeology in the biblical world making it a valuable resource not only to scholars and students of archaeology but also to those with an interest in ancient art and architecture languages history and religion Alibris com
