Science, Women and Revolution in Russia Ann Hibner Koblitz, 2014-01-02 While the women s movement might seem like a relatively new concept Russian women of the 1860s deserve to be acknowledged as individuals who changed the direction of science and opened the doors of higher education to women throughout Europe The 1860 s and 1870 s witnessed a rise in women s consciousness and the beginnings of the Russian revolutionary movement that saw women pursue and receive doctorates in many areas of science These same women went on to become some of the brightest in their fields This book provides a look at Russian women scientists of the 1860 s their personal independence and technical and literary achievements that made science the popular social movement of the time and changed the face of the Russian intellectual culture

Women's Education in the Third World David H. Kelly, Gail P. Kelly, 2017-05-18 Originally published in 1989 This detailed bibliography focuses on women s education in the developing nations of Asia Africa Latin America and the Caribbean and the Middle East It contains annotations for about 1200 published works in English French Spanish Portuguese and German The entries include extensive research journal monograph and book literature items including chapters hidden in books that don't have women or education as their main theme. The citations are organised thematically but with geographic divisions within each of the 15 sections and each entry has a decently detailed summary. It is prefaced by a useful article written by Gail Kelly on the directions in research at the time and the development of women-centric approaches. Women in Jamaica, 1997. The first detailed bibliography of books, unpublished reports, theses and articles written on women in Jamaica up to 1994. There is no limitation in scope except that newspaper articles are excluded as is material published after 1994. Most of the works identified were written after 1970 as the bulk of the research on women in Jamaica really had its genesis with the declaration of International Women's Year in 1975. Prior to that research seems to have been concentrated on the twin subjects of family and fertility. Certain areas are yet to be tapped and recorded but the bibliography by identifying what already exists points to areas where material is lacking. Introduction: Women in Jamaica is intended for the practitioner, the researcher and the tertiary level student and lecturer. It cites over 600 works under topical headings such as Arts and Literature, Biography, Education, Economic Conditions and Employment, Family and Fertility, Health, Legal Issues, Politics and Social Conditions. This volume includes short listings of bibliographies, periodicals and audiovisual material. Women in the Third World. Nelly P. Stromquist, 2014-04-04. Ideal for researching the status and activities of Third World women. For quick, reliable coverage of women's issues in developing countries, here is a concise reference work written by a team of more than 80 international experts. The Encyclopedia comprises 68 essays that cover the entire Third World from Africa to Asia, from the Near East to South and Central America, from the South Pacific to the Caribbean. The women authors are acknowledged experts from Harvard University, the World Bank, the United Nations Development Fund for Women, the University of Nairobi, the International Labor Organization and other institutions who summarize the most recent scholarship on a wide range of important subjects. Thoroughly indexed and cross-referenced, the Encyclopedia is an ideal starting point for in-depth research in such areas as recent developments in the prevention of violence against women, the conditions of women's lives across regions and countries, women's participation in government, science and technology, hidden curriculum issues in higher education, an overview of women's experiences as small-scale entrepreneurs. A feminist viewpoint enhances the coverage. Informed throughout by a feminist perspective, the Encyclopedia focuses on traditional women's concerns such as political participation, human rights, nutrition, housework, the family, equality, health and more. But the coverage also extends to such issues as domestic and sexual violence, creation of women-friendly cities, patriarchal ideologies, as religious beliefs, the needs of older women, new jobs and exploitation in industrial production, AIDS, the gender consequences of ecological devastation, movements for change and other areas of increasing awareness. Geographical entries cover all the major regions and countries and discuss conditions and issues in each area. Spotlights the newest and best sources. The Encyclopedia brings together information that has been widely scattered in sources from many disciplines. An introduction by the editor illuminates the most important issues faced by Third World women today and analyzes the drastically changed global situation and how the changes impacted on the material presented in the Encyclopedia Reference aids make information retrieval easy An annotated bibliography of the latest and most important sources as well as a reference list at the end of each chapter provide quick access to current literature A thorough name and subject index makes it easy to pinpoint information Special Features Offers articles by recognized scholars and activists on gender and developmental issues Presents a variety of perspectives by women from both industrialized and developing countries Summarizes the literature of established disciplines bringing together important material scattered in many sources Identifies new areas for research affecting gender and development in emerging fields such as legal rights Outlines strategies for action in such critical areas as ecology and urban issues An annotated bibliography and list of references at end of each chapter make it easy to expand your research Eastern Africa Social Science Research Review ,1992 Connect ,1994 Science in Africa American Association for the Advancement of Science. National Meeting,1991 Postcolonial Studies Pramod K. Nayar,2015-09-28 This new anthology brings together the most diverse and recent voices in postcolonial theory to emerge since 9 11 alongside classic texts in established areas of postcolonial studies Brings fresh insight and renewed political energy to established domains such as nation history literature and gender Engages with contemporary concerns such as globalization digital cultures neo colonialism and language debates Includes wide geographical coverage from Ireland and India to Israel and Palestine Provides uniquely broad coverage offering a full sense of the tradition including significant essays on science technology and development education and literacy digital cultures and transnationalism Edited by a distinguished postcolonial scholar this insightful volume serves scholars and students across multiple disciplines from literary and cultural studies to anthropology and digital studies Measuring Gender Equality in Science and Engineering UNESCO,2017-11-13

Women, Development, and Survival in the Third World Haleh Afshar,1991 A series of articles which discuss the role of women in Third World countries The contributors look at women s role at work both in the rural communities and in industry and look at the implications of development for women Gender at the Crossroads of Knowledge Micaela di Leonardo,2023-09-01 Gender at the Crossroads of Knowledge brings feminist anthropology up to date highlighting the theoretical sophistication that characterizes recent research Twelve essays by outstanding scholars written with the volume s concerns specifically in mind range across the broadest anthropological terrain assessing and contributing to feminist work on biological anthropology primate studies global economy new reproductive technologies ethno linguistics race and gender and more The editor s introduction not only sets two decades of feminist anthropological work in the multiple contexts of changes in anthropological theory and practice political and economic developments and larger intellectual shifts but also lays out the central insights feminist anthropology has to offer us in the postmodern era The profound issues raised by the authors resonate with the basic interests of any discipline concerned with gender that is all of the social sciences and humanities Gender at the Crossroads of Knowledge brings feminist anthropology up to date highlighting the theoretical sophistication that characterizes recent research Twelve essays by outstanding scholars written with the volume's concerns specifically in UNESCO science report UNESCO,2015-11-09 There are fewer grounds today than in the past to deplore a North South divide in research and innovation This is one of the key findings of the UNESCO Science Report towards 2030 A large number of countries are now incorporating science technology and innovation in their national development agenda in order to make their economies less reliant on raw materials and more rooted in knowledge Most research and development R D is taking place in high income countries but innovation of some kind is now occurring across the full spectrum of income levels according to the first survey of manufacturing companies in 65 countries conducted by the UNESCO Institute for Statistics and summarized in this report For many lower income countries sustainable development has become an integral part of their national development plans for the next 10 20 years Among higher income countries a firm commitment to sustainable development is often coupled with the desire to maintain competitiveness in global markets that are increasingly leaning towards green technologies The quest for clean energy and greater energy efficiency now figures among the research priorities of numerous countries Written by more than 50 experts who are each covering the country or region from which they hail the UNESCO Science Report towards 2030 provides more country level information than ever before The trends and developments in science technology and innovation policy and governance between 2009 and mid 2015 described here provide essential baseline information on the concerns and priorities of countries that could orient the implementation and drive the assessment of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development in the years to come International African Bibliography ,1991 Gender and Agricultural Development Helen Kreider Henderson,2022-03-29 Agricultural planning and development are crucial to human survival but they usually proceed without any consideration of the importance of gender issues at the production level Although women have long been prime movers in agriculture their contribution to the world's food supply has been largely ignored and consequently their stake in development has been undermined This book is both a resource guide and a review of major issues in gender and agriculture which demonstrates that recognizing the contribution of women to agricultural production is a necessary step in development planning It presents relevant information and research literature regarding women's roles in agriculture in a consolidated and accessible format offering insights into how the inclusion or exclusion of appropriate information at the planning stage can have an impact during implementation It also provides guidelines for locating information on gender related agricultural issues and incorporating it into development planning research and training The literature reviewed not only calls attention to the work women do in order to improve their access to technology and training but also challenges existing development paradigms The issues discussed present women's experiences and local knowledge and allude to gender and class inequities that farming women face Each chapter is intended to help the reader address major gender issues in a specific subject in order to access relevant information and thereby better design and implement appropriate agricultural planning and policies By synthesizing twenty years of international research Gender and Agricultural Development provides an effective tool for development practitioners to use in training programs or surveys in order to ensure the appropriate collection of gender disaggregated data and for educators to integrate gender issues into courses dealing with social aspects of agricultural systems Its findings are presented in such a way as to allow them to be easily incorporated into innovative planning for more sustainable and equitable agricultural policies The Chemical Element Javier García-Martínez,Elena Serrano-Torregrosa,2011-09-19 In the International Year of Chemistry prominent scientists highlight the major advances in the fight against the largest problems faced by humanity from the point of view of chemistry showing how their science is essential to ensuring our long term survival Following the UN Millennium Development Goals the authors examine the ten most critical areas including energy climate food water and health All of them are opinion leaders in their fields or high ranking decision makers in national and international institutions Intended to provide an intellectual basis for the future development of chemistry this book is aimed at a wide readership including students professionals engineers scientists environmentalists and anyone interested in a more sustainable future Social Change Roxanne Friedenfelds,1998 To find more information on Rowman Littlefield titles please visit us at www.rowmanlittlefield.com
