Making A Memory:

Making Memory Boxes Anna Corba, 2005 Say the words memory box and many people instantly think of shadow boxes Not designer Anna Corba She let her imagination run wild went beyond the ordinary and in the process totally redefined the tradition Corba author of the very successful Vintage Paper Crafts creates romantic charming projects that use such unexpected items as tins and wooden crates as a starting point Outside she decorates with buttons polish fabric sheet music stamps and seashells inside she places anything that will evoke wonderful memories including vacation souvenirs and family recipes Among her clever ideas Baby s New Nest made from a birdcage and adorned with photographs and alphabet blocks and a velvet beribboned Opera Box for storing cherished programs

Making Memory Alana M Vincent, 2014-11-27 The twentieth century has been called a century of horror Proof of that designation can be found in the vast and ever increasing volume of scholarly work on violence trauma memory and history across diverse academic disciplines This book demonstrates not only the ways in which the wars of the twentieth century have altered theological engagement and religious practice but also the degree to which religious ways of thinking have shaped the way we construct historical narratives Drawing on diverse sources from the Hebrew Bible to Commonwealth war graves from Greek tragedy to post Holocaust theology Alana M Vincent probes the intersections between past and present memory and identity religion and nationality The result is a book that defies categorization and offers no easy answers but instead pursues an agenda of theological realism holding out continued hope for the restoration of the world

Making Memory Matter Lisa Saltzman, 2006-10-02 In an ancient account of painting s origins a woman traces the shadow of her departing lover on the wall in an act that anticipates future grief and commemoration Lisa Saltzman shows here that nearly two thousand years after this story was first told contemporary artists are returning to similar strategies of remembrance ranging from vaudevillian silhouettes and sepulchral casts to incinerated architectures and ghostly processions Exploring these artists work Saltzman demonstrates that their methods have now eclipsed painting and traditional sculpture as preeminent forms of visual representation She pays particular attention to the groundbreaking art of Krzysztof Wodiczko who is known for his projections of historical subjects Kara Walker who creates powerful silhouetted images of racial violence in American history and Rachel Whiteread whose work centers on making casts of empty interior spaces Each of the artists Saltzman discusses is struggling with the roles that history and memory have come to play in an age when any historical statement is subject to question and doubt In identifying this new and powerful movement she provides a framework for understanding the art of our time

Making Education Educational Halvor Hoveid, Marit Honerød Hoveid, 2019-09-26 This book is an argument for reflexivity in the act of teaching which means to acknowledge that intention guides the act of teaching Teaching must create attention towards processes of collectivity in the classroom Today teaching is both acts of expressing knowledge and acts of securing justice to all students through a mediation of knowledge Teaching therefore expresses both knowledge with reference to school subjects and justice according to the distribution of this knowledge The authors argue for teaching as the driver of education To pay attention to teaching is to pay attention to that which is inside the system of education To consider education as a mediation of knowledge between generations places teaching as an act of performing the content of education in a class in a school The complexity of these processes is easily overlooked when education is used as a means in competitive economies The approach taken in this text is that deliberations about teaching must be based on historicity The support for this argument builds on a reading of the French philosopher Paul Ricoeur The book addresses teaching as an integral part of the learning process In education today everything seems to be concentrated around learning as if teaching no longer takes place Teachers and teacher educators need a language to discuss and understand teaching both as personal and institutional actions A Ricoeurian approach to a discussion on teaching as a reflexive and institutional practice provides a timely approach to important questions related to teaching in our day and age
