Making History Jonathon S. Cullick, 2000-04-01 From his first published book to his last works Robert Penn Warren wrote novels poetry biographies and essays based on the lives of American historical figures Even some of his critical texts take a biographical approach to their subjects In Making History the first comprehensive survey of Warren's biographical narratives Jonathan S Cullick tracks a clear development toward autobiography in Warren's career By applying narrative theory to that provocative trend he then makes an intriguing discovery Warren's discourse techniques dramatize his philosophy of history and ethics Cullick unearths what might be called the narrative syntax of Warren's historical vision in which genre becomes vital in the attempt to reconcile American past and present Making History considers all of Warren's major biographical narratives and their evolution from detached reporting to doubtful self examination It offers a new reading of Warren's famed novel All the King's Men and close examination of several neglected texts including Warren's first book John Brown The Making of a Martyr his essay The World of Daniel Boone and two of his final works Jefferson Davis Gets His Citizenship Back and Portrait of a Father

Authorship and Text-making in Early China Hanmo Zhang, 2018-10-08 This book is a timely response to a rather urgent call to seek an updated methodology in rereading and reappraising early Chinese texts in light of newly discovered early writings For a long time the concept of authorship in the formation and transmission of early Chinese texts has been misunderstood The nominal author who should mainly function as a guide to text formation and interpretation is considered retrospectively as the originator and writer of the text This book illustrates that although some notions about the text as the author's property began to appear in some Eastern Han texts a strict correlation between the author and the text results from later conceptions of literary history Before the modern era there existed a conceptual gap between an author and a writer A pre modern Chinese text could have had both an author and a writer or even multiple authors and multiple writers This work is the first study addressing these issues by more systematically emphasizing the connection of the text the author and the religious and sociopolitical settings in which these issues were embedded It is expected to constitute a palpable contribution to Chinese studies and the discipline of philology in general

Historian's Life Fay Anderson,2017-04-28 Max Crawford was one of Australia's pre eminent historians As both a participant in and observer of many decisive episodes of the era Europe in the midst of the Depression America and Russia at the height of World War II post war reconstruction and the Cold War in Australia Crawford was regarded as a radical and outspoken defender of intellectual autonomy This biography considers Crawford as an historian and a public intellectual It relates his experiences as a student at Sydney and Oxford a struggling teacher during the Depression as the head of the History School at the University of Melbourne a diplomat in wartime Russia and a Cold War victim and accuser The study of Crawford's life provides insight into one man's experience in the midst of political turmoil and the limits of intellectual autonomy on Australian campuses as well as the suspicion of liberal intellectuals in Australian public life the repression of academic radicals and ASIO's attempts to stifle dissident voices Spanning his life 1906-1991 Crawford's political and intellectual journey suggests the changing nature of Australian progressive liberalism and the precarious state of academic freedom

The Historian's Craft in the Age of Herodotus Nino Luraghi,2007 The origins and development of Greek historiography cannot be properly understood unless early historical writings are situated in the framework of late archaic and early classical Greek culture and society Contextualization opens up new perspectives on the subject in The Historian's Craft in the Age of Herodotus At the same time such writings offer significant insights into how works of Herodotus reflect the attitude of fifth century Greeks towards the transmission and manipulation of knowledge about the past Essays by an international range of experts explore all aspects of the topic and at the same time make a thought provoking contribution to the ongoing debates concerning literacy and oral culture

The Historian's Red Badge of Courage Paul A. Cimbala,2020-07-08 For someone who did not actually fight in the American Civil War Stephen Crane was extraordinarily accurate in his description of the psychological tension experienced by a youthful soldier grappling with his desire to act heroically his fears and redemption Stephen Crane's novel The Red Badge of Courage provides an extraordinary take on the battlefield experiences of a young soldier coming of age under extreme circumstances His writing took place a generation after the war's conclusion at a time when the entire nation was coming to grips with the meaning of the Civil War It was during this time in the late 19th century that the battle over the memory of the war was taking place This new annotated edition of the novel is designed to guide readers through references made through Crane's characters and how they reflect Civil War military experiences specifically how the youth's experiences reflect the reality of the multi day battle of Chancellorsville which took place in Virginia beginning on May 1 1863 and concluded on May 4 of the same year The annotated text is preceded by introductory essays on Crane and on the Civil War Crane's short story The Veteran is also included to allow readers to better understand the post war lives of Civil War soldiers Princeton Alumni Weekly ,1967
