Mexico María Teresa Vázquez Castillo, 2004 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informal company A Political Geography of Latin America Jonathan R. Barton, 2002-11 This book approaches the diversity of south and central America from a critical human geography perspective It seeks to overcome stereotypes by stressing the need for an inclusionary political geography which cuts across traditional boundaries After the Pink Tide Marina Gold, Alessandro Zagato, 2020-03-01 The left wing Pink Tide movement that swept across Latin America seems now to be overturned as a new wave of free market thinkers emerge across the continent This book analyses the emergence of corporate power within Latin America and the response of egalitarian movements across the continent trying to break open the constraints of the state Through an ethnographically grounded and localized anthropological perspective this book argues that at a time when the regular structures of political participation have been ruptured the Latin American context reveals multiple expressions of egalitarian movements that strive and sometimes momentarily manage to break through the state's apparatus Water, Power and Citizenship José Esteban Castro, 2005-11-21 Water Power and Citizenship investigates the interrelationship between water politics and institutions and the development of citizenship rights from a historical sociological perspective The evolution of water's manifold social character and values as a source of power as a public good as a commodity or as a universal right is examined in the light of ever changing and mutually binding social and ecological processes The Basin of Mexico's rich water history becomes the vantage point to cast light on one of the most crucial challenges facing the international community that of eliminating water inequality and injustice Limiting Resources LaDawn Haglund, 2010 Using empirical evidence from Costa Rica and El Salvador outlines alternative principles underlying water and electricity provision including social rights accountability and environmental sustainability Argues that an excessive market orientation marginalized these principles while weakening state structures and accountability mechanisms and benefiting a small group of elites Provided by publisher Latin American Development David A. Preston, 2014-06-03 Provides an up to date analysis of many aspects of Latin America through a series of short essays written by experienced geographers Development Sociology Norman Long, 2003-09-02 In this exciting and challenging work Norman Long brings together years of work and thought in development studies to provide a key text for guiding future development research and practice Using case studies and empirical material from Africa and Latin America Development Sociology focuses on the theoretical and methodological foundations of an actor oriented and social constructionist form of analysis This style of analysis is opposed to the traditional structuralist institutional analysis which is often applied in development studies With an accessible mix of general debate critical literature reviews and original case study materials this work covers a variety of key development issues Among many important topics discussed the author looks at commoditisation small scale enterprise and social capital knowledge interfaces networks and power globalisation and localisation as well as policy formulation and planned intervention processes This book should be read for its desire to pursue a form of analysis that helps us to understand better and more realistically the kinds of development interventions and social transformations that have characterised the second half of the twentieth century and will no doubt continue to characterise future development studies Migration,

Urbanization, and Development Richard E. Bilsborrow, 1998 Internal migration and urbanization are key dimensions of the process of socioeconomic development The unprecedented movement of peoples within the borders of their own countries is one of the greatest transformations witnessed in the 20th century Policy analysts especially those from developing countries where internal migration can be felt at first hand view migration as one of the most important factors affecting the course of development It is within this context that UNFPA convened the Symposium on Internal Migration and Urbanization in Developing Countries in January 1996 in preparation for the United Nations World Conference on Human Settlements in Istanbul in June 1996 The final results of the symposium are found in this book This volume provides a better understanding at global level of internal migration issues of concern to policy analysts

Contested Powers John-Andrew McNeish, Axel Borchgrevink, Owen Logan, 2015-06-11 In the global North the commoditization of creativity and knowledge under the banner of a creative economy is being posed as the post industrial answer to dependency on labour and natural resources Not only does it promise a more stable and sustainable future but an economy focused on intellectual property is more environmentally friendly so it is suggested Contested Powers argues that the fixes being offered by this model are bluffs development as witnessed in Latin American energy politics and governance remains hindered by a global division of labour and nature that puts the capacity for technological advancement in private hands The authors call for a multi layered understanding of sovereignty arguing that it holds the key to undermining rigid accounts of the relationship between carbon and democracy energy and development and energy and political expression Furthermore a critical focus on energy politics is crucial to wider debates on development and sustainability Contested Powers is essential reading for those wondering how energy resources are converted into political power and why we still value the energy we take from our surroundings more than the means of its extraction
