The Making of the European Spatial Development Perspective Andreas Faludi, Bas Waterhout, 2002 This book explores the processes that led to the preparation of the document and outlines the differing perspectives of the European member states

The Making of the European Spatial Development Perspective Andreas Faludi, Bas Waterhout, 2012-11-12 The European Spatial Development Perspective ESDP is published in eleven official EU languages and so is the most international planning policy document that exists This book is the only comprehensive account of the process of preparing negotiating and adopting this document It outlines the differing perspectives of the European member states and shows that the last thing its proponents wanted is a masterplan The Making of the European Spatial Development Perspective is a unique book offering a snapshot of contemporary European spatial planning

Making the european spatial development perspective , Making European Space Ole B. Jensen, Tim Richardson, 2004-08-02 Making European Space explores how future visions of Europe's physical space are being decisively shaped by transnational politics and power struggles which are being played out in new multi level arenas of governance across the European Union At stake are big ideas about mobility and friction about relations between core and peripheral regions and about the future Europe's cities and countryside The book builds a critical narrative of the emergence of a new discourse of Europe as monopia revealing a very real project to shape European space in line with visions of high speed frictionless mobility the transgression of borders and the creation of city networks The narrative explores in depth how the particular ideas of mobility and space which underpin this discourse are being constructed in policy making and reflects on the legitimacy of these policy processes In particular it shows how spatial ideas are becoming embedded in the everyday practices of the social and political organisation of space in ways that make a frictionless Europe seem natural and part of a common European territorial identity

The Making of the European Union Max Haller, 2012-12-06 Outstanding social scientists economists sociologists political scientists and policy researchers discuss in this book the issue of the social aspects of European integration For each field they sketch out the main problems provide a survey on the relevant literature and point to areas wherein more research is needed The science and research policy of the European Union is examined critically both in terms of relevant social issues and in terms of its organizational efficacy

The Institutionalisation of European Spatial Planning B. Waterhout, 2008-06-05 The Institutionalisation of European Spatial Planning aims to clarify the enterprise of European spatial planning The emphasis of the book lies on the need for a better understanding of the process of European integration in general It particularly points at the emerging middle range theories that used concepts that were showing similarity to those that academics those writing about planning were accustomed to such as networks discourses and governance The focus of this book is mostly on the post European Spatial Development Perspective ESDP the Committee of Spatial Development from 1999 until now As it is collection of articles it has a different gestation process and does not tell a story from A to Z What this book is about however is merely the issue concerning the institutional capacity of the ESDP and whether this has evaporated or not The fact that this book exists at all suggests it has not Uncovering the Territorial Dimension of European Union Cohesion Policy Eduardo Medeiros, 2017-07-14 This book examines the territorial dimension of EU Cohesion Policy specifically assessing territorial impacts at the various spatial levels engaging theoretically and empirically with the notion and role of the territorial dimension within a strongly fragmented EU policymaking process
