The Rise of Interactive Governance and Quasi-Markets S.A. Denters, Oscar van Heffen, J. Huisman, P.J. Klok, 2013-06-29 It has taken a long time to make this book Many initial drafts of the chapters published in this book were presented in November 2000 during a two day conference on Interactive governance towards a post parliamentary democracy held in Enschede The Netherlands The Netherlands Institute of Governance NIG sponsored the conference After this conference the organisers discussed the possibility of making a book on the basis of papers presented at this event In the end it was agreed that such a publication would indeed be worthwhile provided the initial papers were fundamentally revised Moreover it was agreed that also supplementary chapters should be included in order to strengthen the international comparative perspective On this basis authors of the conference papers chapters and envisioned new chapters were invited to re submit drafts The completion of the book however was unexpectedly halted by the tragic sudden death of our co editor and dear friend Oscar van Heffen In his lifetime he was the driving force behind this project Without his efforts insightful comments and helpful suggestions this book in its present form would never have been published As such we dedicate this volume to his memory the completion of the book being an honorary debt to our friend and his wife Mirjan Governing a Common Sea Marko Joas, Detlef Jahn, Kristine Kern, 2012-05-16 This is a very welcome volume and it will reach a large audience and readership among those involved in these issues from a truly multidisciplinary perspective in essence a much needed book Erik Bonsdorff professor of marine biology at Åbo Akademi University Finland This timely volume provides a thorough account of how the highly advanced industrial societies seek to govern and manage the Baltic Sea The way they proceed and the degree to which they succeed provide valuable lessons for riparian states seeking to avoid tragedies of their commons Lennart J Lundqvist professor of environmental policy and administration University of Gothenburg Sweden How is a natural common pool resource such as a sea which is shared by several countries best governed The potential for international conflict is immense as each country may have different agendas with regard to issues such as exploitation and environmental protection This book uses a case study of the Baltic Sea Region to examine this complex problem The sea itself has been highly vulnerable to pollution and recently the bordering nations have begun to change their mode of cooperation to tackle this issue by establishing several new forums to manage the sea Administrative and political structures developed in the region are reviewed and shown to provide a model that could be applied to other seas and natural resource systems elsewhere in the world

Good Governance in Asia Linda Chelan Li, 2016-03-22 The international aid community has advocated governance reforms as a necessary complement to economic aid to developing countries The resultant Good Governance Agenda has been criticised for its ahistorical bias The empirical case studies reported in this book further illustrate the limitations by showing the complex logics of governance reforms and their relations with development in the Asian context The analysis highlights the importance of taking full notice of the Asian reform experiences in the ongoing reflection over the global institutional and development agenda The message is not to deny the need for governance reforms or the utility of international learning and sharing of experiences Global development will benefit however from a better understanding of the linkages between governance reforms and the diverse historical conditions they are embedded in both developing or the advanced economies This book was published as a special issue of Journal of Contemporary Asia

Urban Governance in Southeast Asia Ambe J. Njoh, 2024-07-30 The book draws from regulation theory to explain urban planning policies and outcomes in Southeast Asia as a function of governance structures and processes A considerable portion of the book is spent re tracing the historical roots of planning dispositives including the totality of institutional entities which together constitute an apparatus of government in South East Asian polities Therefore of essence in the book are the institutional structures and administrative principles that were introduced by colonial authorities and inherited by their post colonial successors in South East Asia The book seeks to demonstrate the role of the policies and commensurate implementation institutional frameworks in accounting for important dynamics in the contemporary urban domain in the region In analyzing the institutional framework for urban planning and governance the book is doing due diligence to a hitherto neglected subject namely governmentality in the discourse on the political economy of urban management in Southeast Asia Thus the book is intended to acknowledge the importance of institutions in determining the success of urban development policies The notion of institutions or governmentality as will be used in the book includes de facto governance structures government and parastatal agencies and the formal rules and regulations they are charged with implementing The book is based on the premise that knowledge of institutions and their functions is critical in explaining phenomena in economic geography This is particularly true in Southeast Asian countries because of the dominant and overarching role of the state or government agencies in the economy In defence of Governance for Harmony in Asia and Beyond Julia Tao,Anthony B. L. Cheung,Martin Painter,Chenyang Li,2009-12-18 Harmony has become a major challenge for modern governance in the twenty first century because of the multi religious multi racial and multi ethnic character of our increasingly globalized societies Governments all over the world are facing growing pressure to integrate the many diverse elements and subcultures which make up modern pluralistic societies This book examines the idea of harmony and its place in politics and governance both in theory and practice in Asia the West and elsewhere It explores and analyses the meanings mechanisms dimensions and methodologies of harmony as a normative political ideal in both Western and Asian philosophical traditions The book argues that in Western political thought which sees politics as primarily concerned with resolving social conflicts and protecting individual rights the concept of harmony has often been neglected In contrast since earliest times harmony or he has been a profound theme in Confucian thought and current leaders of many East Asian governments and the Chinese government have explicitly declared that the realisation of a harmonious society is their aim The book also assesses how harmony is pursued jeopardized or deformed in the real world of politics based upon empirical analysis of a variety of different cultural social and political contexts including China Hong Kong Singapore Malaysia Singapore Vietnam Denmark Latin America and the Scandinavian countries It shows how harmony as an organizing concept can help to promote new thinking in governance and overcome problems of modern day governance like distrust adversarial conflicts hyper individualism coercive state intervention and free market alienation

It also discusses the potential problems posed by the pursuit of harmony in particular in the grave threat of totalitarianism and considers how these risks could best be mitigated
