New Directions In Psychological Anthropology:

New Directions in Psychological Anthropology Theodore Schwartz, Geoffrey M. White, Catherine A. Lutz, 1992 The field of psychological anthropology has changed a great deal since the 1940s and 1950s when it was often known as Culture and Personality Studies Rooted in psychoanalytic psychology its early practitioners sought to extend that psychology through the study of cross cultural variation in personality and child rearing practices Psychological anthropology has since developed in a number of new directions Tensions between individual experience and collective meanings remain as central to the field as they were fifty years ago but alongside fresh versions of the psychoanalytic approach other approaches to the study of cognition emotion the body and the very nature of subjectivity have been introduced And in the place of an earlier tendency to treat a culture as an undifferentiated whole psychological anthropology now recognizes the complex internal structure of cultures The contributors to this state of the art collection are all leading figures in contemporary psychological anthropology and they write about recent developments in the field Sections of the book discuss cognition developmental psychology biology psychiatry and psychoanalysis areas that have always been integral to psychological anthropology but which are now being transformed by new perspectives on the body meaning agency and communicative practice New Directions in Psychological Anthropology Theodore Schwartz, Geoffrey M. White, Catherine A. Lutz, 1993

Explorations in Psychoanalytic Ethnography Jadran Mimica,2007-05 Self and Identity Richard D. Ashmore, Lee Jussim,1997-05-15 Self and identity have been important yet volatile notions in psychology since its formative years as a scientific discipline Recently psychologists and other social scientists have begun to develop and refine the conceptual and empirical tools for studying the complex nature of self This volume presents a critical analysis of fundamental issues in the scientific study of self and identity These chapters go much farther than merely taking stock of recent scientific progress World class social scientists from psychology sociology and anthropology present new and contrasting perspectives on these fundamental issues Topics include the personal versus social nature of self and identity multiplicity of selves versus unity of identity and the societal cultural and historical formation and expression of selves These creative contributions provide new insights into the major issues involved in understanding self and identity As the first volume in the Rutgers Series on Self and Social Identity the book sets the stage for a productive second century of scientific analysis and heightened understanding of self and identity Scholars and advanced students in the social sciences will find this highly informative and provocative reading Dr Richard D Ashmore is a professor and Dr Lee Jussim is an associate professor in the Department of Psychology at Rutgers University New Brunswick New Jersey Introduction to Vygotsky Harry Daniels,2017-04-26 This thoroughly updated third edition provides students with an accessible overview of Vygotsky s work combining reprints of key journal and text articles with rich editorial commentary Lev Vygotsky provided the twentieth century with an enticing mix of intellectual traditions within an attempt to provide an account of the social formation of the mind His legacy is an exciting but at times challenging fusion of ideas Retaining a multi disciplinary theme Introduction to Vygotsky 3rd edition begins with a review of current interpretations of Vygotsky s original work Harry Daniels goes on to consider the development of Vygotsky s work against a backdrop of political turmoil in the developing USSR Major elements explored within the volume include the use of the culture concept in social development theory the development of means of describing social life the concept of mediation and implications for teaching learning and assessment This book will be essential reading for Vygotskian students in developmental psychology education and social sciences as well as to students on specialised courses on cultural cross cultural and socio cultural psychology philosophical psychology philosophy of science history of psychology and Soviet Russian history Clifford Geertz by His Colleagues Richard A. Shweder, Byron Good, 2005-03-15 Clifford Geertz is the most influential American anthropologist of the past four decades His writings have defined and given character to the intellectual agenda of a meaning centered nonreductive interpretive social science and have provoked much excitement and debate about the nature of human understanding As part of the American Anthropological Association s centennial celebration the executive board sponsored a presidential session honoring Geertz Clifford Geertz by His Colleagues compiles the twelve speeches given then by a distinguished panel of social scientists along with a concluding piece by Geertz in which he responds to each speaker and reflects on his own career These edited speeches cover a broad range of topics including Geertz s views on morality cultural critique interpretivism time and change Islam and violence A fitting tribute to one of the great thinkers of our age this collection will be enjoyed by anthropologists as well as students of psychology history and philosophy Latah in South-East Asia Robert L. Winzeler, 1995-01-12 A critical reassessment of latah the Malayan hyperstartle pattern and culture bound syndrome Suicide as a Dramatic Performance David Lester, Steven Stack, 2015-09-30 Each suicide is as unique as the individuals involved especially if one examines the nature of the act and to what extent these acts can be viewed as a theatrical performance Focusing on the dramatic aspects of suicide may seem tangential to the physical and mental pain experienced by those who try to kill themselves but dramatic aspects often provide important clues for understanding the mental state of suicidal individuals David Lester and Steven Stack investigate what happens in the weeks days and hours before a suicide when the suicidal individual must make decisions and formulate the script for his or her suicidal act The editors argue that these choices may help us understand and prevent other suicides and stimulate new and innovative research in this important area Through twenty five substantive chapters including both quantitative and qualitative analyses this book offers insights into suicide as a dramatic act with chapters on the intended audience the suicide note the location and method chosen and cultural scripts including suicide by cop sati seppuku and duels The contributors to this volume argue that psychological social and cultural factors influence these choices and that the decisions made by the individual are important for understanding the mental state of the person choosing to die by suicide

A Cognitive Theory of Cultural Meaning Claudia Strauss, Naomi Quinn, 1997 Culture and meaning are central to anthropology but anthropologists do not agree on what they are Claudia Strauss and Naomi Quinn propose a new theory of cultural meaning one that gives priority to the way people s experiences are internalized Drawing on connectionist or neural network models as well as other psychological theories they argue that cultural meanings are not fixed or limited to static groups but neither are they constantly revised and contested Their approach is illustrated by original research on
