ABSTRACT

We present an overview of the 5th International Workshop on Principles of Software Evolution (IWPSE 2002).

1. BACKGROUND AND MOTIVATION

The ever-changing business environment demands constant and rapid evolution of software. It is important that the research community provides solutions and insights that will improve the practice of software evolution.

Although a significant amount of work has been done, software evolution is still a challenging problem for both research and practice [1]. This is due to the inherent complexity of software and to the lack of theoretical foundation and empirical studies of software evolution.

The software evolution research deals with all aspects of software. To clarify the nature of software evolution, it is important to discuss the evolution from the wide range of perspectives, including both theory and practice.

While the software evolution and the software maintenance share some research topics, the software evolution emphasizes the changes of software systems triggered by the changes of requirements and/or surrounding environment.

2. EVOLUTION OF IWPSE

To provide a forum for the discussion of the theory and the experience of software evolution, the 5th International Workshop on Principles of Software Evolution (IWPSE '99) was held in 1998 in conjunction with ICSE '98 in Kyoto, Japan [2]. Since then, the workshop has been held annually: IWPSE '99 was held in Fukuoka, Japan [3], IWPSE 2000 was held in Kanazawa, Japan [4], and IWPSE 2001 was held in Vienna in conjunction with 8th ESEC/PSE. It drew 40 paper presentations from 18 countries [5].

3. THEME OF WORKSHOP

The 5th International Workshop on Principles of Software Evolution, IWPSE2002, is intended to discuss a wide range of topics of software evolution, foster the better understanding on the nature of software evolution, and promote the research on the software evolution as an emerging discipline in software engineering [6].

4. TOPICS

The major topics of the workshop include, but not limited to:

- 1) Theory of software evolution
- 2) Evolution of requirements and environments
- 3) Architecture for evolution and evolution of architecture
- 4) Software process for evolution and evolution of software process
- 5) Methodology for evolutionary design and development
- 6) Validation and verification of evolution
- 7) Metrics and evaluation of evolution
- 8) Configuration and change management for evolution
- 9) Development support environments for evolutionary design
- 10) Co-evolution of software and organization
- 11) Agile software development
- 12) Experience and lessons learned from evolutionary software systems
