Information Sources in Information Technology David Haynes,2013-02-07 The aim of each volume of this series Guides to Information Sources is to reduce the time which needs to be spent on patient searching and to recommend the best starting point and sources most likely to yield the desired information The criteria for selection provide a way into a subject to those new to the field and assists in identifying major new or possibly unexplored sources to those who already have some acquaintance with it The series attempts to achieve evaluation through a careful selection of sources and through the comments provided on those sources Machine Intelligence A. Gomersall,2013-03-14 In 1981 Robotics Bibliography was published containing over 1 800 references on industrial robot research and development culled from the scientific literature over the previous 12 years It was felt that sensors for use with industrial robots merited a section and accordingly just over 200 papers were included It is a sign of the increased research into sensors in production engineering that this bibliography on both the contact and non contact forms has appeared less than three years after that first comprehensive collection of references appeared In a review in 1975 Professor Warnecke of IPA Stuttgart drew attention to the lack of sensors for touch and vision Since then research workers in various companies universities and national laboratories in the USA the UK Italy Germany and Japan have concentrated on improving sensor capabilities particularly utilising vision artificial intelligence and pattern recognition principles As a result many research projects are on the brink of commercial exploitation and development This bibliography brings together the documentation on that research and development highlighting the advances made in vision systems but not neglecting the development of tactile sensors of various types No bibliography can ever be comprehensive but significant contributions from research workers and production engineers from the major industrialised countries over the last 12 years have been included Resonant Robotic Systems V. I. Babitsky,Alexander Shipilov,2012-09-22 Especially designed as self sustaining oscillating systems resonant robotic systems use the natural modes of oscillation of electromechanical modules for their movements In fact manipulator systems built on these principles demonstrate record breaking characteristics in performance The authors summarize the results and experience of research on and development of resonant robotic systems For the readers convenience a presentation of design concepts is followed by solutions to new dynamical and control problems The book is intended for designers researchers and graduate students and technical reports Expert writers assess these difficulties and provide a guide to solutions to the problems inherent in building these collections Walford's Guide to Reference Material: Science and technology Albert John Walford, Library Association, 1999 A revised and updated guide to reference material It contains selective and evaluative entries to guide the enquirer to the best source of reference in each subject area be it journal article CD ROM on line database bibliography encyclopaedia monograph or directory It features full critical annotations and reviewers comments and comprehensive author title and subject indexes The contents include mathematics astronomy and surveying physics chemistry earth sciences palaeontology anthropology biology natural history botany zoology patents and interventions medicine engineering transport vehicles agriculture and livestock household management communication chemical industry manufactures industries trades and crafts and the building industry Robotics in Practice Joseph F.

Engelberger, 2012-12-06 THE REAL THING by Isaac Asimov Back in 1939 when I was still a teenager I began to write and publish a series of stories about robots which for the first time in science fiction were pictured as having been deliberately engineered to do their job safely They were not intended to be creaky Gothic menaces nor outlets for mawkish sentiment They were simply well designed machines Beginning in 1942 I crystallized this notion in what I called The Three Laws of Robotics and in 1950 nine of my robot stories were collected into a book I Robot I did not at that time seriously believe that I would live to see robots in action and robotics becoming a booming industry Yet here we are better yet I am alive to see it But then why shouldn't they be with us Robots fulfil an important role in industry They do simple and repetitive jobs more steadily more reliably and more uncomplainingly than a human being could or should Does a robot displace a human being Certainly but he does so at a job that simply because a robot can do it is beneath the dignity of a human being a job that is no more than mindless drudgery Better and more human jobs can be found for human beings and should Robotics Technology Abstracts , 1985 Robot Technology and Applications K. Rathmill, P. MacConaill, S. O'Leary, J.

Browne, 2013-06-29 Computer-Integrated Manufacturing Handbook V.D. Hunt, 2012-12-06 Manufacturing has entered the early stages of a revolutionary period caused by the convergence of three powerful trends The rapid advancement and spread of manufacturing capabilities worldwide has created intense competition on a global scale The emergence of advanced manufacturing technologies is dramatically changing both the products and processes of modern manufacturing Changes in traditional management and labor practices organizational structures and decision making criteria represent new sources of competitiveness and introduce new strategic opportunities These trends are interrelated and their effects are already being felt by the U.S. manufacturing community Future competitiveness for manufacturers worldwide will depend on their response to these trends Based on the recent performance of U.S. manufacturers efforts to respond to the challenges posed by new competition technology and managerial opportunities have been slow and inadequate Domestic markets that were once secure have been assailed by a growing number of foreign competitors producing high quality goods at low prices In a number of areas such as employment capacity utilization research and development expenditures and capital investment trends in u s manufacturing over the last decade have been unfavorable or have not kept pace with major foreign competitors such as Japan There is substantial evidence that many u s manufacturers have neglected the manufacturing function have overemphasized product development at the expense of process improvements and have not begun to make the adjustments that will be necessary to be competitive
