

How Stone Age Humans Made Hand Axes

1. The process started with a large piece of rock.

2. The humans roughly shaped the rock with a stone hammer.

3. Using a hammer made of wood, stone, or antler, they sharpened the edge.

4. They trimmed the edge by prying off tiny flakes with a pointed stick.

Rocks Of The Ages Ancient Technologies For The New Millennium:

Ancient Building Technology, Volume 3: Construction (2 Vols) G.R.H. Wright, 2009-11-23 Building construction is the subject of this third part of the Ancient Building Technology set dealing with the history of building and building materials Beginning with the formulation of a project it goes on to discuss preliminary site surveying and setting out followed by building site development and its attendant installations and then examines the disposition of the various building materials in building construction from pre history to the end of antiquity Ancient Building Technology, Vol. 2: Materials G.R.H. Wright, 2023-03-20 This r sum study deals with building material which together with construction and structures forms one of the three aspects of building or equally one of the three factors which constitute the nature of a building Unlike existing manuals on ancient building this offers an analytic presentation and the subject matter extends across all ages and regions The treatment of materials is set out according to a paradigm of nature manufacture and use so as to facilitate direct comparison between different modes of the one material as also between different materials and between different building traditions This second part is published in two volumes the first containing texts the second more than 300 illustrations The print edition is available as a set of two volumes 9789004140073 The Bronze Age Towers at Bat, Sultanate of Oman Christopher P. Thornton, Charlotte M. Cable, Gregory L. Possehl, 2016-11-17 In the third millennium B C E the Oman Peninsula was the site of an important kingdom known in Akkadian texts as Magan which traded extensively with the Indus Civilization southern Iran the Persian Gulf states and southern Mesopotamia Excavations have been carried out in this region since the 1970s although the majority of studies have focused on mortuary monuments at the expense of settlement archaeology While domestic structures of the Bronze Age have been found and are the focus of current research at Bat most settlements dating from the third millennium B C E in Oman and the U A E are defined by the presence of large circular monuments made of mudbrick or stone that are traditionally called towers Whether these so called towers are defensive agricultural political or ritual structures has long been debated but very few comprehensive studies of these monuments have been attempted Between 2007 and 2012 the University of Pennsylvania Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology conducted excavations at the UNESCO World Heritage Site of Bat in the Sultanate of Oman under the direction of the late Gregory L. Possehl The focus of these years was on the monumental stone towers of the third millennium B C E looking at the when how and why of their construction through large scale excavation GIS aided survey and the application of radiocarbon dates This has been the most comprehensive study of nonmortuary Bronze Age monuments ever conducted on the Oman Peninsula and the results provide new insight into the formation and function of these impressive structures that surely formed the social and political nexus of Magan s kingdom Technology and Urbanism in Late Bronze Age Egypt Anna K. Hodgkinson, 2018 This study examines the distribution of high status materials in addition to archaeological evidence of their production in the settlements known as royal cities during the New Kingdom in ancient Egypt c 1550 1069 BC The research focuses on the site

George Roy Haslam Wright,2009 Ancient Building Technology: Construction: pt. 1. Text; pt. 2. Illustrations

George R. H. Wright,2009 The Living Rock Arthur Wilson,1994 This book concentrates on the social and economic effects that metals have had on community life and on wider historical developments It gives a fascinating perspective proclaiming that the history of metals is the history of civilization basing the text on the results of archeometallurgists and materials scientists and looking at the advancement of societies as a direct result of their new found technology The author s clear and lucid style prevents the book becoming aridly academic while he maps the course of ancient history through to medieval times and beyond showing metal to be ultimately the key to history Deep-Time Images in the Age of Globalization Oscar Moro Abadía,Margaret W. Conkey,Josephine McDonald,2024-05-13 This open access volume explores the impact of globalization on the contemporary study of deep time art The volume explores how early rock art research s Eurocentric biases have shifted with broadened global horizons to facilitate new conversations and discourses in new post colonial realities The book uses seven main themes to explore theoretical methodological ethical and practical developments that are orienting the study of Pleistocene and Holocene arts in the age of globalization Compiling studies as diverse as genetics visualization with the proliferation of increasingly sophisticated archaeological techniques means that vast quantities of materials and techniques are now incorporated into the analysis of the world s visual cultures Deep Time Images in the Age of Globalization aims to promote critical reflection on the multitude of positive and negative impacts that globalization has wrought in rock art research The volume brings new theoretical frameworks as well as engagement with indigenous knowledge and perspectives from art history It highlights technical methodological and interpretive developments and showcases rock art characteristics from previously unknown in the global north geographic areas This book provides comparative approaches on rock art globally and scrutinises the impacts of globalization on research preservation and management of deep time art This book will appeal to archaeologists social scientists and art historians working in the field as well as lovers of rock art Bulletin of Primitive Technology ,2001 There and Back Again: Afro-Eurasian

Exchange in the Neolithic and Bronze Age Periods Marie Nicole Pareja,Robert Arnott,2024-09-19 This book evaluates the evidence for indirect connections between the Aegean and the Indus extending back to the third and fourth millennia BCE particularly commodities such as tin and lapis lazuli and discusses recently discovered objects new methods of materials analysis techniques and topics as well as iconographic investigation The Archaeology of the Bronze Age Levant

New Insights into the Iron Age Archaeology of Edom, Southern Jordan Erez Ben-Yosef,Thomas E. Levy,Mohammad Najjar,2014-12-31 Situated south of the Dead Sea near the famous Nabatean capital of Petra the Faynan region in Jordan contains the largest deposits of copper ore in the southern Levant The Edom Lowlands Regional Archaeology Project ELRAP takes an anthropological archaeology approach to the deep time study of culture change in one of the Old World s most important locales for studying technological development Using innovative digital tools for data recording curation analyses and dissemination the researchers focused on ancient mining and metallurgy as the subject of surveys and excavations related to the Iron Age ca 1200 500 BCE when the first local historical state level societies appeared in this part of the eastern Mediterranean basin This comprehensive and important volume challenges the current scholarly consensus concerning the emergence and historicity of the Iron Age polity of biblical Edom and some of its neighbors such as ancient Israel Excavations and radiometric dating establish a new chronology for Edom adding almost 500 more years to the Iron Age including key periods of biblical history when David Solomon and the Egyptian pharaoh Shoshenq I are alleged to have interacted with Edom Included is a 7 gigabyte DVD with over 55 000 files of additional data and photographs from the project

Stone Vessels and Values in the Bronze Age Mediterranean Andrew Bevan,2007-08-13 The societies that developed in the eastern Mediterranean during the Bronze Age produced the most prolific and diverse range of stone vessel traditions known at any time or anywhere in the world Stone vessels are therefore a key class of artefact in the early history of this region As a form of archaeological evidence they offer important analytical advantages over other artefact types virtual indestructibility a wide range of functions and values huge variety in manufacturing traditions as well as the subtractive character of stone and its rich potential for geological provenancing In this 2007 book Andrew Bevan considers individual stone vessel industries in great detail He also offers a highly comparative and value led perspective on production consumption and exchange logics throughout the eastern Mediterranean over a period of two millennia during the Bronze Age ca 3000 1200 BC

Cycladic Archaeology and Research: New Approaches and Discoveries Erica Angliker, John Tully, 2018-04-30 Recent excavations and new theoretical approaches are changing our view of the Cyclades This volume aims to share these recent developments with a broader international audience Essays have been carefully selected as representing some of the most important recent work and include significant previously unpublished material

Stone Vessels in the Levant RachaelThyrza Sparks, 2017-07-05 Examining stone vessels in the Levant during the 2nd millennium BC the author explores the links between material culture and society through a comprehensive study of production and distribution Extensively illustrated with 100 drawings maps and charts this volume includes a full object catalogue This study represents the first comprehensive overview of the stone vessel assemblages of the Levant in this period a time which fed by an increase of wealth and interregional trade saw a growth in the popularity and variety of such vessels Previously our understanding of the varied functions and forms of these diverse vessels has been relatively underdeveloped In this volume the author attempts to address this problem by creating a typological framework through which we can analyse variability and define essential characteristics of local stone vessel workshops Only once this has been achieved is it possible to look at stone vessel production in its wider cultural context Subsequent chapters explore broader themes beginning within the workshops themselves examining the links between craftsmen their sources of raw materials and the authorities that controlled and distributed their output Considerations of the geographical and chronological distribution of such goods are then used to provide a regional perspective for the operation of these workshops connections between them and further insights into the nature of local and international trade Finally the objects themselves can be used to assess the impact of trends such as the growing Egyptianization of the ruling classes of the Levant at this time

Lapis Lazuli from the Kiln Andrew J. Shortland, 2012 Lapis Lazuli from the Kiln examines the history of the first glass from its early sporadic occurrence through the height of its production in the late second millennium BCE to its disappearance at the end of that millennium The book draws on an exceptionally wide range of sources including ancient texts detailing recipes and trade in glass iconographic depictions in tombs and temples archaeological excavation of the most important sites including Amarna and Qantir and the description of the glass objects themselves
