The Role of Subject Knowledge in the Early Years of Schooling Carol Aubrey, 2022-11-21 Originally published in 1994 the aim of the authors was to provide a comprehensive introduction to recent advances in research which had been made in learning and teaching in the early years of schooling at the time Emphasis is placed on how subject knowledge is constructed or acquired and the organization of teaching to promote the learner's active construction of meaning through the integration of new knowledge with existing understanding The National Curriculum is founded in subject knowledge though little examination appears to have been made of this in terms of how subject matter is transformed into the content of teaching that young children can understand It this remains for the teacher to develop instruction through the creation of a curriculum content and sequence which both reflects and advances the structure of existing forms of representation problem solving and knowledge which the child brings to the school The whole thrust of the book challenges the conventional early years ideology with its emphasis on child centred concrete and empirical approaches to learning with a view of teaching which is concerned with making sense of children's understanding and allowing their active construction of knowledge and information processing to develop expertise in context The Role of Subject Knowledge in the Early Years of Schooling

mathematical development Lynne McClure Editor Math Coordinator s File Mathematics Association In their exceptionally readable and informative book Children s Mathematics Making Marks Making Meaning Carruthers and Worthington 2006 draw attention to one of the main goals of early years teaching that is to help children make links between the mathematics they have already encountered and continue to engage with at home and the more abstract mathematics of the school These authors suggest that by encouraging children to represent mathematical ideas in their own ways and crucially by talking to the pupils about the marks they have made we are given a window onto their thinking that may otherwise be inaccessible Liz Pumphrey NRICH This book draws on the authors many years of teaching children aged three to eight years and also on their extensive research with children in the home nursery and school The authors explain the development and range of young children s mathematical marks and visual representations showing how children make mental connections between their own early marks and subsequent abstract mathematical symbolism and go on to develop their own written methods Combining theory and practice this acclaimed book demonstrates how children s own mathematical graphics are highly creative and show deep levels of thinking The authors show how this is the key to success in school mathematics and to higher levels of achievement The authors are winners of TACTYC s 2003 Jenefer Joseph Award for the Creative Arts 3 8 awarded for their innovative work with children on mathematical graphics
