Design for Transport Mike Tovey, 2016-04-15 The central premise of Design for Transport is that the designer's role is to approach design for transport from the point of view of the user People have a collection of wants and needs and a significant proportion of them are to do with their requirements for mobility The authors show how creative designers can take a user focused approach for a wide range of types of transport products and systems In so doing their starting point is one of creative dissatisfaction with what is currently available and their specialist capability is in imagining and developing new solutions which respond to that opportunity How this is tackled varies depending on the context and the variety of solutions produced reflects the different aspirations and needs of the people they are designing for The chapters cover user needs and transport design and the transport system transport design case studies and the case for the automobile A conclusion briefly signals what the future for transport design might be Lavishly illustrated throughout in four colour Design for Transport is an imaginative and rigorous guide to how designers can take a user centred and socially responsible approach to tackling a range of types of transport from systems to products and from bicycles to automobiles demonstrating a rich array of solutions through case studies more about the scientific world around them This book contains over 50 activities designed to be completed in 15 minutes or less and can be used as lead in exercises for classroom discussion homework or extra credit assignments The activities help strengthen students understanding of key scientific concepts and examine thought provoking issues such as pollution space fragments and parasites Life Science Environmental Science and Earth Space Science are explored as students answer questions complete Extra Challenges and solve problems Creative Science Activities for Active Learners is a valuable tool that should be used in any science classroom Managing Martians Donna Shirley,2010-06-09 Donna Shirley s 35 year career as an aerospace engineer reached a jubilant pinnacle in July 1997 when Sojourner the solar powered self guided microwave oven sized rover was seen exploring the Martian landscape in Pathfinder's spectacular images from the surface of the red planet. The event marked a milestone in space but for Donna Shirley the leader of the mostly male team that designed and built Sojourner and the first woman ever to manage a NASA program it marked a triumph of another kind. Managing Martians is Shirley's captivating memoir of a life and career spent reaching for the stars. From her seemingly outlandish aspiration at age ten to build aircraft to abandoning high school Home Ec in favor of mechanical drawing and at sixteen becoming a licensed pilot Shirley defied expectations from the beginning. In a vivid narrative rich with anecdotes and thrilling turning points Shirley recounts the intense battles she waged to defend her vision and the ingenuity and resourcefulness of her committed team. Her moment by cliffhanging moment account of Pathfinder's landing and Sojourner's first tentative foray across the sands of Mars brilliantly captures the fulfillment of a lifelong dream as it heralds a brave new era of space exploration.
