1790 Katharine Dorothea Ewart Vernon, Katharine Dorothea Ewart, 1909 Italy's Primacy in Musical History Guy Graybill, 2019-01-08 This remarkable revelatory reference work written in a conversational style that is witty and fast paced argues that the Italian people did more for the development and propagation of music than any other people in the world The book is filled with supporting data that prove this claim showing that the first written music was an Italian creation and that the vocabulary of music is primarily Italian It also notes that the primary instruments were either devised or thoroughly improved by the Italians the great musical forms including the opera ballet operetta and symphony and that the great body of musical geniuses who were the early composers musicians conductors and vocalists were Italian The book eventually closes with a telling of the great musical story to come out of the Italian American communities Memoirs of the Opera in Italy, France, Germany, and England George Hogarth, 1851 The sentence printed at the top of p.14 is Duplicated in the middle of p.168 and bottom of p.544 within the Context of a 234,348 word text (see p.6 through 609 excluding the Three pages mentioned above). On p.544 the sentence Bleeds onto p.545. Todd Van Buskirk, 2015-08-02 The Indiscernibility of Identicals is the principle that if two objects are absolutely identical then they must be indistinguishable from one another with respect to all of their properties But does that include the context of the identical objects The notion of identical gives rise to many philosophical problems including 1 What does it mean for an object to be the same as itself 2 If x and y are identical are the same thing must they always be identical Are they necessarily identical 3 What does it mean for an object to be the same if it changes over time Is an apple the same as an apple 1 4 If an object's parts are entirely replaced over time in what way is it the same
