Whoever could stand the stench without blowing chunks would earn the Elmont fortune. Mucous Mansion Pat Pollari, 1997-01 Seth and his cousins have to spend the night in their dead great uncle Elmont's creepy place. Whoever could stand the stench without blowing chunks would earn the Elmont fortune. Get the Scoop on Animal Snot, Spit & Slime! Dawn Cusick, 2016-09-13 Learn amazingly icky facts, see the yucky photos and gross out everyone you can. Welcome to a world filled with snot, otters, puss caterpillars, spitting spiders, slime stars, snotties, and more. In Get the Scoop you'll learn that snot, spit, and slime may seem gross, but there's a lot of amazing science in these icky fluids. Animals use them for communication, defense, to find food, to travel fast, and more. Jellyfish and corals produce mucus nets to capture prey. Parrotfish burp out a mucus blanket to sleep under every night, while sea stars and sponges release volumes of mucus to distract and discourage predators. Barracudas use mucus in their scales to increase their swimming speeds and protect them from parasites. Poison dart frogs release toxins with mucus. Hagfish secrete slime if another animal tries to eat them. Clams and mussels make mucus strings to bring food to their mouths. Hippopotamuses release blood slime that works as sunscreen and an antibiotic. Saliva helps animals in hundreds of ways too. Anteaters and giraffes use sticky saliva to help them eat, while leeches, vampire bats, and ticks use chemicals in their saliva to help them feed on blood. Many mammals use saliva to help them recognize offspring, and others spit saliva at predators and prey. The venom in shrews, snakes, and other reptiles comes from adapted salivary glands. Some animal saliva works like glue, helping swifts, termites, and wasps build nests. Jellyfish Lisa-ann Gershwin, 2016-06-07 An introduction to these bizarre and beautiful creatures of the sea, filled with color photos and illustrations. Fascinating. Boing Boing Jellyfish are the oldest multi-organed life form on the planet, having inhabited the ocean for more than five hundred million years. With their undulating, umbrella-shaped bells and sprawling tentacles, they are compelling and gorgeous, strange and dangerous. In many places, they're also vastly increasing in number, and these population blooms may be an ominous indicator of the rising temperatures and toxicity of the oceans. Jellyfish presents these aquarium favorites in all their glory. Fifty unique species, from the purple people eater to black sea nettles, are presented in stunning photos along with the most current scientific information on their anatomy, history, distribution, position in the water, and environmental status. Foremost jellyfish expert Lisa-ann Gershwin provides an insightful look at the natural history and biology of each of these spellbinding creatures, plus a timely take on their place in the rapidly changing and deteriorating condition of the oceans. Learn about immortal jellyfish who live and die and live again, as well as those who camouflage themselves amid sea grasses and shells, hiding in plain sight. Discover the jellyfish that's the world's most venomous animal and the jellyfish that helped scientists win the Nobel Prize. They're all here and more in this delightful volume. A thorough coverage of jellyfish history, biology, and ecology. Gershwin, a marine biologist who has discovered over 200 new species of jellyfish does an excellent job of combining a compelling narrative of 50 different jellyfish with luscious I can't believe they're real photos Boing Boing A Guide to Zona Pellucida Domain Proteins Eveline S.
