Reducing the Impact of Poverty on Health and Human Development

Stephen G. Kaler, Owen M. Rennert, 2008-07-08 This work examines the many ways in which poverty contributes to ill health among the poor and to impeded development among poor children The volume is a response to a request by the Council of Science Editors that journals all over the world publish an issue in October 2007 addressing the theme of poverty and human development OECD Green Growth Studies Towards Green Growth in Southeast Asia OECD, 2014-11-11 Carried out in consultation with officials and researchers from across the region Towards Green Growth in Southeast Asia provides a framework for regional leaders to design their own solutions to move their countries towards green growth Pathways from the Periphery Stephan Haggard, 1990 Pathways from the Periphery is an innovative interpretation of the development of the newly industrializing countries NICs which now dominate Third World industry and manufacturing trade While such countries as Brazil and Mexico have achieved industrialization through strategies intended to foster self reliance the East Asian NICs South Korea Taiwan Hong Kong and Singapore have grown rapidly through an aggressive policy promoting the export of manufactured goods Stephan Haggard provides the first comprehensive comparison of the politics of industrialization in these East Asian and Latin American countries and offers new evidence on current issues in comparative political economy including the implications of different growth paths for dependency equity and democracy Recognizing the influence on development strategies of external shocks such as depression war and reduced access to foreign capital Haggard emphasizes the importance of domestic political institutions for economic decision making The East Asian NICs are characterized by close but regulated business government alliances weak labor movements and politically insulated and administratively capable states factors Haggard shows that have facilitated flexible and coherent industrial policies He argues that domestic policy choices can shape the external constraints states face The author considers in detail why Latin America's long standing efforts to achieve self reliance have ironically resulted in a dependence on international capital greater than that of the East Asian countries Addressing a long standing debate on the relationship between industrialization strategy and regime type Haggard carefully assesses the connection between growth and democratic politics Despite their authoritarian growth models the Asian NICs have he observes achieved greater equity than their Latin American counterparts Although the success of export led growth has in the past been associated with authoritarian rule Haggard argues that no compelling theoretical reasons preclude democratic governments from achieving strong economic performance Breaking new ground in theoretical inquiry and empirical research Pathways from the Periphery will be welcomed by political economists scholars and students of comparative politics historians of Asian and Latin American public policy and others concerned with the challenge of economic development Combating Poverty and Inequality Yusuf Bangura, 2010 Poverty reduction is a central feature of the international development agenda and contemporary poverty reduction strategies increasingly focus on targeting the poor yet poverty and inequality remain intractable foes The report

seeks to explain why people are poor and why inequalities exist As well as what can be done to rectify these injustices it explores the causes dynamics and persistence of poverty examines what works and what has gone wrong in international policy thinking and practice and lays out a range of policies and institutional measures that countries can adopt to alleviate poverty

Food Security in the High North Kamrul Hossain, Lena Maria Nilsson, Thora Martina Herrmann, 2020-09-09 This book explores the challenges facing food security sustainability sovereignty and supply chains in the Arctic with a specific focus on Indigenous Peoples Offering multidisciplinary insights and with a particular focus on populations in the European High North region the book highlights the importance of accessible and sustainable traditional foods for the dietary needs of local and Indigenous Peoples It focuses on foods and natural products that are unique to this region and considers how they play a significant role towards food security and sovereignty The book captures the tremendous complexity facing populations here as they strive to maintain sustainable food systems both subsistent and commercial and regain sovereignty over traditional food production policies A range of issues are explored including food contamination risks due to increasing human activities in the region such as mining to changing livelihoods and gender roles in the maintenance of traditional food security and sovereignty The book also considers processing methods that combine indigenous and traditional knowledge to convert the traditional foods that are harvested and hunted into local foods This book offers a broader understanding of food security and sovereignty and will be of interest to academics scholars and policy makers working in food studies geography and environmental studies agricultural studies sociology anthropology political science health studies and biology
