Broude,2018-03-08 Several decades have now passed since postcolonial and feminist critiques presented the art historical world with a demythologized Paul Gauguin 1848 1903 a much diminished image of the artist hero who had once been universally admired as the father of modernist primitivism In this volume both long established and more recent Gauguin scholars offer a provocative picture of the evolution of Gauguin scholarship in the recent postmodern era as they confront and consider how the dismantling of the longstanding Gauguin myth positions us now in the 21st century to deal with and assess the life work and legacy of this still perennially popular artist To reassess the challenges that Gauguin faced in his own day as well as those that he continues to present to current and future scholarship they explore the multiple contexts that influenced Gauguin s thought and behavior as well as his art and incorporate a variety of interdisciplinary approaches from anthropology philosophy and the history of science to gender studies and the study of Pacific cultural history Dealing with a wide range of Gauguin s production they challenge conventional art historical thinking highlight transnational perspectives and offer clues to the direction of future scholarship as audiences worldwide seek to make multicultural peace with Gauguin and his art Broude has raised the bar of Gauguin scholarship ever higher in this groundbreaking volume which will be necessary reading for students and scholars of art history late 19th century French and Pacific culture gender studies and beyond Letters to His Wife and Friends Paul 1848-1903 Gauguin,Maurice Malingue,2021-09-09 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public To ensure a quality reading experience this work has been proofread and republished using a format that seamlessly blends the original graphical elements with text in an easy to read typeface We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant The Flesh of Images Mauro Carbone,2015-09-23 In The Flesh of Images Mauro Carbone begins with the point that Merleau Ponty s often misunderstood notion of flesh was another way to signify what he also called Visibility Considering vision as creative voyance

in the visionary sense of creating as a particular presence something which as such had not been present before Carbone proposes original connections between Merleau Ponty and Paul Gauguin and articulates his own further development of the new idea of light that the French philosopher was beginning to elaborate at the time of his sudden death Carbone connects these ideas to Merleau Ponty's continuous interest in cinema an interest that has been traditionally neglected or circumscribed Focusing on Merleau Ponty's later writings including unpublished course notes and documents not yet available in English Carbone demonstrates both that Merleau Ponty's interest in film was sustained and philosophically crucial and also that his thinking provides an important resource for illuminating our contemporary relationship to images with profound implications for the future of philosophy and aesthetics Building on his earlier work on Marcel Proust and considering ongoing developments in optical and media technologies Carbone adds his own philosophical insight into understanding the visual today Degas Landscapes Richard Kendall, Edgar Degas, 1993-01-01 Biografi om Degas
