

FROM THE INTRODUCTION BY

HARRY BENJAMIN, M.D.

Noted American endocrinologist

"As a physician and, I hope, a medical man of understanding, I value the courage of Christine Jorgensen and the warm humanity of the Jorgensen family.

"Here is an autobiography that was long overdue. Christine Jorgensen owed its writing not only to herself and her family but also to a large number of people who similarly are searching for their true identity. Christine also most decidedly owed it to science and the medical profession. She was in duty bound to supplement the technical report made by her Danish physicians in the Journal of the American Medical Association in 1953 with her own account of the inner and outer events in her still rather young life. Medically, Christine presents an almost classic case of the transsexual phenomenon or, in other words, a striking example of a disturbed gender role orientation.

"In this book Christine has written a human document of great medical value. And she has done so with extraordinarily courageous self-analysis. Her life story should forcefully support all those institutions and individuals who endorse and provide hormonal and surgical help for transsexuals, particularly the pioneering work done by Johns Hopkins Hospital and the University of Minnesota. Other institutions are reported ready to join in this work. For their role in extending our medical horizon, a salute is owed to them, also to those who will follow, and above all to Christine Jorgensen."

Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of captivating stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Pape, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and thrilling novel that will keep you speculating until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
