unique online accessibility it is anticipated that the International Encyclopedia of Human Geography will become the major reference work for the discipline over the coming decades The Encyclopedia will be available in both limited edition print and online via ScienceDirect featuring extensive browsing searching and internal cross referencing between articles in the work plus dynamic linking to journal articles and abstract databases making navigation flexible and easy For more information pricing options and availability visit http://info.sciencedirect.com/content/books/ref_works coming Available online on ScienceDirect and in limited edition print format Broad interdisciplinary coverage across human geography Philosophy Methods People Social Cultural Political Economic Development Health Cartography Urban Historical Regional Comprehensive and unique the first of its kind in human geography The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies Peter Howard,Ian Thompson,Emma Waterton,2013 As a concept landscape does not respect disciplinary boundaries The Composition of Sense in Gertrude Stein's Landscape Writing Linda Voris,2016-10-12 This book offers a bold critical method for reading Gertrude Stein s work on its own terms by forgoing conventional explanation and adopting Stein s radical approach to meaning and knowledge Inspired by the immanence of landscape both of Provence where she travelled in the 1920s and the spatial relations of landscape painting Stein presents a new model of meaning whereby making sense is an activity distributed in a text and across successive texts From love poetry to plays and portraiture Linda Voris offers close readings of Stein s most anthologized and less known writing in a case study of a new method of interpretation By practicing Stein s innovative means of making sense Voris reveals the excitement of her discoveries and the startling implications for knowledge identity and intimacy Dwelling, Seeing, and Designing David Seamon,1993-01-22 Contributors include architects philosophers landscape architects and geographers who focus on the question of how people might see and understand the natural and built environments in a deeper more perceptive way What is a sense of place and how can it be supported by architecture policy and education Why are places important to people and can designers and policy makers create better places Is there a way to see and understand what might help to make buildings landscapes and places that are beautiful alive and humane What role do the geographical and architectural environments play in human life The Desert is No Lady Vera Norwood,Janice J. Monk,1997 Over the past century women artists and writers have expressed diverse creative responses to the landscape of the Southwest The Desert Is No Lady provides a cross cultureal perspective on women by examining Anglo Hispanic and Native American women s artistic expressions and the effect of their art in defining the southwestern landscape The Desert Is No Lady has been made into a motion picture of the same title by Women Make movies New York NY A beautifully crafted book Although it varies in intensity the response of women to the environment is virtually always different from the male frontiersman s view of the land as inanimate boundless conquerable and controllable Polly Wells Kaufman in Women s Review of Books A powerful masterpiece Eve Gruntfest in The Professional Geographer Northwest Lands, Northwest Peoples Dale D. Goble,Paul W. Hirt,2012-03-15 It can be said that all of human history is environmental history for all human action happens in an environment in a place This collection of essays explores the environmental history of the Pacific Northwest of North America addressing questions of how humans have adapted to the northwestern landscape and modified it over time and how the changing landscape in turn affected human society economy laws and values Northwest Lands and Peoples includes essays by historians anthropologists ecologists a botanist geographers biologists law professors and a journalist It addresses a wide variety of topics indicative of current scholarship in the rapidly growing field of environmental history

Running Cultures John Bale, 2004 Running is one of the world's most widely practiced sports and recreations but until now it has intended to elude serious study outside of the natural sciences John Bale brings the sport into the realm of the humanities by drawing on sources including literature poetry film art and sculpture as well as statistics and training manuals to highlight the tensions ambiguities and complexities that lie hidden beneath the commonplace notion of running The text explores both local and personal as well as communal and global aspects of running and its practitioners It examines the streets tracks and stadiums where athletes run the races in which they compete and the running relationships such as exist between the athlete and the coach between runners and between the athlete and spectator It discusses the importance of speed and records how running has been used to symbolise resistance and transgression and the extent to which it can be associated with a healthy lifestyle Running Cultures provides new ways of seeing a familiar sporting phenomenon it will appeal to both students and researchers with an interest in running in particular and sport and leisure cultures more generally

Globalization, Marginalization and Conflict Borna Fuerst-Bjeliš, Walter Leimgruber, 2020-10-21 This book looks at marginality from a less conventional perspective by analyzing complex social cultural political and economic relations between the aspects of globalization and various forms of marginalization It focuses specifically on the conflict potential that results from the globalization driven inequality and marginalization of many segments of societies This view is further illustrated in sections on border regions identity issues minorities and poverty The book gives a comprehensive but in depth analysis of the various aspects of the relations between globalization marginalization and conflict issues based on a number of case studies and regions worldwide It shows how the same issues of globalization and marginalization manifest themselves in different ways under different circumstance obviously requiring different solutions Based on original research this book provides new insights on the globalization marginalization relations and a good resource to academics scientists and students in various fields of social political science and humanities collection housed at the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of American History Linking Industry and Ecology Ray Côté, James Tansey, Ann Dale, 2015-08-01 It might at first glance seem to many that industry and ecology make strange bedfellows. For proponents of sustainable development, however, such a union is crucial. How else are we to make the industries that are so central to modern societies consistent with our visions of a sustainable future? Linking Industry and Ecology explores the origins, promise, and relevance of the emerging field of industrial ecology. It situates industrial ecology within the broader range of environmental management strategies and concepts, from the practices of pollution prevention through life cycle management to the more fundamental shift toward dematerialization and ecological design. The book makes a compelling argument for the need to think ecologically to develop innovative and competitive industrial policy. The contributors to this volume draw on their experience in a variety of disciplines to chart a clear path for industrial ecology. Their work not only affirms what has been learned to date in this nascent field but also provides new insight for a discourse traditionally dominated by natural scientists and engineers, by demonstrating that technologies are socially and politically embedded.

The Urban Design Reader Michael Larice, Elizabeth Macdonald, 2013-05-07 The second edition of The Urban Design Reader draws together the very best of classic and contemporary writings to illuminate and expand the theory and practice of urban design. Nearly 50 generous selections include seminal contributions from Howard Le Corbusier, Lynch, and Jacobs to more recent writings by Waldheim, Koolhaas, and Sorkin. Following the widespread success of the first edition of The Urban Design Reader, this updated edition continues to provide the most important historical material of the urban design field but also introduces new topics and selections that address the myriad challenges facing designers today. The six-part structure of the second edition guides the reader through the history, theory, and practice of urban design. The reader is initially introduced to those classic writings that provide the historical precedents for city making into the twentieth century. Part Two introduces the voices and ideas that were instrumental in establishing the foundations of the urban design field from the late 1950s up to the mid 1990s. These authors present a critical reading of the design professions and offer an alternative urban design agenda focused on vital and lively places. The authors in Part Three provide a range of urban design rationales and strategies for reinforcing local physical identity and the creation of memorable places. These selections are largely describing the outcomes of mid-century urban design and voicing concerns over the placeless quality of contemporary urbanism. The fourth part of the Reader explores key issues in urban design and development. Ideas about sprawl, density, community health, public space, and everyday life are the primary focus here. Several new selections in this part of the book also highlight important international development trends in the Middle East and China. Part Five presents environmental challenges faced by the built environment professions today, including recent material on landscape urbanism, sustainability, and urban resiliency. The final part examines professional practice and current debates in the field where urban designers work: what they do, their roles, their fields of knowledge, and their educational development. The section concludes with several position pieces and debates on the future of urban design practice This book provides an essential resource for students and practitioners of urban design drawing together important but widely dispersed writings Part and section introductions are provided to assist readers in understanding the context of the material summary messages impacts of the writing and how they fit into the larger picture of the urban design field The Cultured Landscape Sheila Harvey, Ken Fieldhouse, 2005 A team of eminent practitioners and writers contribute to an assessment of the philosophy of landscape and collectively form a new approach to creative design Place and Placelessness Revisited Robert Freestone, Edgar Liu, 2016-07-15 Since its publication in 1976 Ted Relph's Place and Placelessness has been an influential text in thinking about cities and city life across disciplines including human geography sociology architecture planning and urban design For four decades ideas put forward by this seminal work have continued to spark debates from the concept of placelessness itself through how it plays out in our societies to how city designers might respond to its challenge in practice Drawing on evidence from Australian British Japanese and North and South American urban settings Place and Placelessness Revisited is a collection of cutting edge empirical research and theoretical discussions of contemporary applications and interpretations of place and placelessness It takes a multi disciplinary approach including contributions from across the breadth of disciplines in the built environment architecture environmental psychology geography landscape architecture planning sociology and urban design in critically re visiting placelessness in theory and its relevance for twenty first century contexts Place as Material Culture Dragoş Gheorghiu, George Nash, 2013-11-01 The present book explores the complexity of the past by analysing the relationships between place territory the material value of objects and landscapes time and ritual during archaeological investigations It presents the archaeology of place as a series of interconnecting and interactive relationships It is clear that things and places do not emerge without some form of agency usually through the concept of material manipulation coupled with elaboration innovation and time Depending on the raw material used and the process of manipulation and its relationship with the environment materiality gains value How do we as modern humans work within the complexity of place materiality time and ritual Traditional in archaeological discourse is the need to describe place albeit in an empiricist and banal way Discourse is sometimes followed by a more fruitful and interpretive account However these accounts tend to ignore human emotion that is bound up in place for example the ritualized and symbolic meanings that place holds This book explores the significance of geography place and the materiality that place holds and challenges many of the tradition norms that in the past have trivialized landscape archaeology The book is divided into 14 thought provoking and crafted chapters and will be an ideal companion to anyone involved in the social sciences Theory and Methods Chris Philo, 2017-05-15 This volume tackles the complex terrain of theory and methods seeking to exemplify the major philosophical social theoretic and methodological developments some with clear political and ethical implications that have traversed human geography since the era of the 1960s when spatial science came to the fore Coverage includes Marxist and humanistic geographies and their many variations over the years as well as ongoing debates about agency structure and the concepts of time space place and scale Feminist and other positioned geographies alongside poststructuralist and posthumanist geographies are all evidenced as well as writings that push against the very limits of what human geography has embraced over these fifty plus years The volume combines readings that are well known and widely accepted as classic with readings that while less familiar are valuable in how they illustrate different possibilities for theory and method within the discipline The volume also includes a substantial introduction by the editor contextualising the readings and in the process providing a new interpretation of the last half century of change within the thoughts and practices of human geography
