Reader For Race And Ethnicity:

Race, Ethnicity, and Health Thomas A. LaVeist, Lydia A. Isaac, 2012-10-16 Race Ethnicity and Health Second Edition is a critical selection of hallmark articles that address health disparities in America It effectively documents the need for equal treatment and equal health status for minorities Intended as a resource for faculty and students in public health as well as the social sciences it will be also be valuable to public health administrators and frontline staff who serve diverse racial and ethnic populations The book brings together the best peer reviewed research literature from the leading scholars and faculty in this growing field providing a historical and political context for the study of health race and ethnicity with key findings on disparities in access use and quality This volume also examines the role of health care providers in health disparities and discusses the issue of matching patients and doctors by race New chapters cover reflections on demographic changes in the US based on the current census metrics and nomenclature for disparities theories of genetic basis for disparities the built environment residential segregation environmental health occupational health health disparities in integrated communities Latino health Asian populations stress and health physician patient relationships hospital treatment of minorities the slavery hypertension hypothesis geographic disparities and intervention design

Minoritized Women Reading Race and Ethnicity Mitzi J. Smith, Jin Young Choi, 2020-09-24 Nonwhite women primarily appear as marginalized voices if at all in volumes that address constructions of race ethnicity and early Christian texts Employing an intersectional approach the contributors analyze historical cultural literary and ideological constructions of racial ethnic identities which intersect with gender sexuality class religion slavery and or power Given their small numbers in academic biblical studies this book represents a critical mass of nonwhite women scholars and offers a critique of dominant knowledge production Filling a significant epistemological gap this seminal text provides provocative innovative and critical insights into constructions of race ethnicity in ancient and modern texts and contexts

Ethnicity And Crime: A Reader Spalek, Basia, 2008-07-01 Basia Spalek has compiled an excellent reader about a much researched and highly sensitive subject Crucially she contextualises ethnicity and crime within broadly defined social and intellectual contexts avoiding the limitation of all too frequently repeated research based solely on statistical measures and policy evaluations Simon Holdaway Professor of Criminology and Sociology Sheffield University Issues in relation to race and ethnicity have generated substantial and ever growing interest from and within a multitude of academic research and policy contexts This book brings together important material in race and ethnic studies and provides different ways of thinking about race and ethnicity in relation to crime and the criminal justice system Ethnicity and Crime A Reader consists of a collection of works that capture the main themes that arise from within this vast area of work It is divided into five sections Race and crime racial discrimination and criminal justice The racialisation of crime Social political and cultural contexts Race ethnicity and victimisation Self and discipline reflexivity Ethnic identities and crime Ethnic identities institutional reflexivity and crime Each section contains recurring and overlapping themes and includes many different ways of thinking about race and ethnicity in relation to crime. It spans theoretical approaches that might be labelled as positivist, critical race analyses, left realist approaches, feminist as well as post modern perspectives. This is the first title in the new series Readings in Criminology and Criminal Justice and follows the series format of thematic sections together with an editor's introduction to the complete volume and an introduction to each section.

Race and Ethnicity Reader (Preliminary Edition) Clifford Broman, 2012-11-07 Reader for Race and Ethnicity, 2003 Language, Race and Ethnicity Roxy Harris, Ben Rampton, 2003 Corrections: A Text/Reader Mary K. Stohr, Anthony Walsh, Craig Hemmens, 2012-03-20 Corrections A Text Reader Second Edition is designed for undergraduate and/or graduate corrections courses. Organized like a traditional corrections text, it offers brief authored introductions in a mini chapter format for each key section followed by carefully selected and edited original articles by leading scholars. This hybrid format ensuring coverage of important material while emphasizing the significance of contemporary research offers an excellent alternative which recognizes the impact and importance of new directions and policy in this field and how these advances are determined by research.

'Mixed Race' Studies Jayne O. Ifekwunigwe, 2015-03-24 Mixed race studies is one of the fastest growing as well as one of the most important and controversial areas in the field of race and ethnic relations. Bringing together pioneering and controversial scholarship from both the social and the biological sciences as well as the humanities, this reader charts the evolution of debates on race and mixed race from the nineteenth to the twenty first century. The book is divided into three main sections tracing the origins of miscegenation, moral degeneracy and genetics, mapping contemporary and foundational discourses, mixed race identities, politics and celebration, debating definitions, multiraciality, census categories and critiques. This collection adds a new dimension to the growing body of literature on the topic and provides a comprehensive history of the origins and directions of mixed race research as an intellectual movement. For students of anthropology, race and ethnicity, it is an invaluable resource for examining the complexities and paradoxes of racial thinking across space, time and disciplines.

Empathy and Reading Suzanne Keen, 2022-06-23 This pioneering collection brings together Suzanne Keen's extensive body of work on empathy and reading, charting the development of narrative empathy as an area of inquiry in its own right and extending cross disciplinary conversations about empathy evoked by reading. The volume offers a brief overview of the trajectory of research following the 2007 publication of Empathy and the Novel, with empathy understood as a suite of related phenomena as stimulated by representations in narratives. The book is organized around three thematic sections: theories, empathetic readers and interdisciplinary applications, each preceded by a short framing essay. The volume features excerpts from the author's seminal works on narrative empathy and makes available her harder to access contributions. The book brings different strands of the author's research into conversation with existing debates with the aim of inspiring future interdisciplinary research on narrative empathy. This book will be of interest to students and scholars in such fields as literary studies, cognitive science, emotion studies, affect studies and applied contexts.

S. Mullis, 1993 The National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP

1992 reading assessment was administered to nationally representative samples of fourth eighth and twelfth grade students attending public and private schools and to state representative public school samples of fourth graders in 43 jurisdictions. Nearly 140 000 students were assessed in all. Data were summarized on the NAEP reading proficiency scale ranging from 0 to 500 and results were reported according to three achievement levels at each grade: basic, proficient, and advanced. Major findings were that 1. 59% of the fourth graders, 69% of eighth graders, and 75% of twelfth graders reached the basic level or beyond; 2. 25%, 28%, and 37% of grade 4, 8, and 12 students met or exceeded the proficient level respectively; 3. from 2% to 4% of students at any of the grade levels achieved the advanced performance level; 4. fourth graders within the basic level generally understood simple narratives; 5. eighth graders reading within the basic level demonstrated literal understanding of passages; 6. twelfth graders within the basic level were able to interpret aspects of the passages they read and make connections between their reading and their own knowledge; 7. students attending private schools had higher average reading proficiency than students at public schools; 8. considerable variation in performance existed within and across participating states; 9. females had higher average reading proficiency than males at all three grade levels; and 10. fourth graders appeared to be learning reading through varied instructional approaches. Contains 67 tables and 9 figures of data: a detailed description of anchoring the achievement levels; an overview of procedures; state contextual background factors; and reading passages are attached. Reader's Guide to American History Peter J. Parish, 2013-06-17. There are so many books on so many aspects of the history of the United States offering such a wide variety of interpretations that students, teachers, scholars, and librarians often need help and advice on how to find what they want. The Reader's Guide to American History is designed to meet that need by adopting a new and constructive approach to the appreciation of this rich historiography. Each of the 600 entries on topics in political, social, and economic history describes and evaluates some 6 to 12 books on the topic, providing guidance to the reader on everything from broad surveys and interpretive works to specialized monographs. The entries are devoted to events and individuals as well as broader themes and are written by a team of well over 200 contributors, all scholars of American history.

Reading Report Card for the Nation and the States, 1998 (NAEP) Patricia L. Donahue, 1999-08. Report by the National Center for Education Statistics on the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), the nation's only ongoing survey of what students know and can do in various academic subject areas. In 1998, NAEP conducted a national reading assessment of 4th, 8th, and 12th grade students and a state-by-state reading assessment of 4th and 8th grade students. This report presents the results of the 1998 NAEP reading assessment for the nation and for participating states or jurisdictions. Results in 1998 are compared to those in 1994 and 1992. Includes dozens of tables and figures.
