Readers, Reading, and Librarians William A. Katz, 2001 Readers Reading and Librarians reaffirms librarians enthusiasm for books and readers in the midst of the evolution of libraries from reading centers to information centers where librarians are now Web masters information scientists and media experts It explores the future of the book as a medium and examines reasons for the decline in pleasure reading and the need for librarians to sponsor book groups With nearly two hundred open ended interviews with readers who read for pleasure this book looks at how and why they choose or reject certain books

Basic Research Methods for Librarians Ronald R. Powell, 1985 Any library that does not have a copy of Basic Research _ Methods for Librarians ought to acquire this edition and many library schools will want to put it on the list of required readings It remains the best book on its subject

Reference Sources for Small and Medium-Sized Libraries Jack O'Gorman, 2014-02-25 Focusing on new reference sources published since 2008 and reference titles that have retained their relevance this new edition brings O Gorman s complete and authoritative guide to the best reference sources for small and medium sized academic and public libraries fully up to date

Readers' Advisory Service in North American Public Libraries, 1870-2005 Juris Dilevko, Candice F.C. Magowan, 2007-02-13 Beginning in the early 1980s readers advisory services were a widely discussed topic in North American public libraries By 2005 almost every public library in the United States and Canada offered some form of readers advisory service The services offered have changed significantly in ways perhaps disadvantageous to adult North American library patrons This book provides a critical history of readers advisory philosophy and offers a new perspective on the evolution of the service The book analyzes the debate that shaped readers advisory and discusses how the service has assumed its present form The study follows readers advisory through its three prominent stages of development beginning with the period 1870 to 1916 when the service was still a subject of much crucial debate about its meaning and purpose During the second phase 1917 to 1962 readers advisory systematically committed itself to meaningful adult education through serious and purposeful reading The book argues however that during the most recent phase of readers advisory from 1963 until the present contemporary public libraries have turned their backs on the rich heritage of readers advisory services by valorizing the reading of entertainment oriented and commodified genre titles and bestsellers Historical analysis case studies and statistical charts augment the book's central argument

Challenges for South Asian Resources and Information Services Rajwant Singh Chilana, 2008
 Ravindra Nath Sharma b 1941 Indian library and information scientist contributed articles Autoethnography for Librarians and Information Scientists Ina Fourie, 2021-06-24 Autoethnography for Librarians and Information Scientists illustrates that autoethnography is a rich qualitative research method that can enhance understanding of one's own work experiences whilst also facilitating the design of tailored experiences for a variety of audiences Starting with the position that librarians and information scientists require deep insight into people's experiences needs and information behaviour in order to design appropriate services and information interventions this book shows that using only conventional methods such as questionnaires and focus groups is insufficient Arguing that autoethnography can provide unique insights into users' cultural experiences and needs contributors to this volume introduce the reader to different types of autoethnography Highlighting common challenges and clarifying how autoethnography can be combined with other research methods this book will empower librarians and information scientists to conceptualise topics for autoethnographic research whilst also ensuring that they adhere to strict ethical guidelines Chapters within the volume also demonstrate how to produce autoethnographic writing and stress the need to analyse autoethnographies produced by others Autoethnography for Librarians and Information Scientists is essential reading for any librarian information scientist or student looking to deepen their understanding of their own experiences It will be particularly useful to those engaged in the study of service provision user studies and information behaviour Library Research in Progress, 1963

Reference and Information Services Kay Ann Cassell, Uma Hiremath, 2013 Search skills of today bear little resemblance to searches through print publications Reference service has become much more complex than in the past and is in a constant state of flux Learning the skill sets of a worthy reference librarian can be challenging unending rewarding and yes fun Reading and the Reference Librarian Juris Dilevko, Lisa Gottlieb, 2014-10-16 Reference librarians are no longer expected to know much about the information they find they are merely expected to find it Technological competency rather than knowledge has become the order of the day In many respects reference service has become a matter of typing search terms into a library s online catalog or a web search engine and providing the patron with the results of the search Calling for a re intellectualization of reference librarianship this book suggests another approach to providing quality reference service reading The authors surveyed both academic reference librarians and public library reference personnel in the United States and Canada about their reading habits From the 950 responses the authors present findings about the extent to which librarians read newspapers periodicals fiction and nonfiction and recount and analyze stories about how reading has made them better librarians The authors also report that North American professors in the humanities and social sciences believe that the best reference librarians are those who have wide ranging subject based knowledge as opposed to the type of process based functional knowledge that is increasingly dominating the curricula of many Library and Information Science programs
