

Reading Rhetoric

- Rhetoric is all around us. It is usually used for the purposes of the common good, but can often be used to manipulate and control the beliefs of people.
- That is why it is so important for us to be able to critically analyze all forms of rhetoric in order to understand it's true intentions behind it.
- You don't want to get played by someone who "out-talks" you

Reading And Rhetoric:

Reading and Rhetoric (Classic Reprint) Robert B. Kaplan, 2015-09-27 Excerpt from Reading and Rhetoric There are already a great many readers on the market and it hardly seems necessary to add to the abundance with one more effort This reader is designed for a particular purpose which it seems to me is not satisfied by any other work presently available Great numbers of students come to the United States each year to study everything from anthropology to zoology and many of these students are handicapped in their pursuit of higher education by their deficiencies in English More and more universities and colleges are beginning to recognize the need for more intensified English training and are attempting to meet it with special courses in English as a Second Language Of course textbooks have been prepared for such purposes But it seems to me that many of the textbooks in this field suffer from one of two distinct disadvantages either they are composed of materials which because of their simplicity and condescension insult the often highly developed intelligence and mature sophistication of the international student or they are composed of materials which mistakenly strive to give the international student a very contemporary view of American life and which as a result present that student with selections containing cultural assumptions far beyond his grasp This textbook attempts to do two things First it tries to avoid the sins of which I have accused other texts Second it tries to present its materials according to a rhetorical pattern so that it may conveniently be synchronized with a writing and grammar course About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Staircase to Writing and Reading Alan Casty, Donald J. Tighe, 1969

Inventions of Reading Clayton Koelb, 2019-06-30 Where do writers of fiction get their ideas Clayton Koelb here takes issue with those who regard inspiration or imitation as primary forces influencing literary invention He finds that another mechanism which he calls rhetorical construction underlies much fiction and some nonfiction as well Rhetorical construction Koelb says is a way of producing writing out of reading The rhetorical writer begins by discovering an interpretive crux in a familiar text a passage from the Bible for example or a commonplace expression and then proceeds to imagine a fictional situation in which all the meanings of the passage contradictory though they may seem may be realized According to Koelb inventions of reading do not stop with the discovery of the eternal and inevitable deconstructibility of language they somehow generate an urge to put language back together through the invention of a fictional world Among the texts he discusses are writings by Boccaccio Rabelais Goethe Schiller Kleist Hawthorne Hans Christian Andersen Nietzsche Kafka Calvino and Flannery O Connor Ideology, Rhetoric, Aesthetics Andrzej Warminski, 2013-06-07. Readings of de Man's critique of aesthetic ideology and the strange materiality that emerges from it. This volume explicates Paul de Man's late project of a critique of aesthetic ideology and attempts to extend it in ways productive for critical thought. After a reading of de Man's work in all its rigour and hence also the aesthetic theory of Kant, Schiller, and Hegel, the book goes on to uncover a material moment in Hegel's Phenomenology of Spirit that lives in Marx and in the Marxist tradition. The book also elucidates de Man's critical reading of Heidegger on the example of Hölderlin; a moment essential for de Man's shifts to the question of rhetoric and then to the question of ideology, and ends with a reading of Derrida's last text on de Man and its uncanny self-inscription in Rousseau's episode of the stolen ribbon.

Rhetorical Hermeneutics Alan G. Gross, William M. Keith, 1997-01-01. Examines the nature of rhetorical theory and criticism, the rhetoric of science, and the impact of poststructuralism and postmodernism on contemporary accounts of rhetoric.

Understanding Rhetoric Eamon M. Cunningham, 2020-01-01. Understanding Rhetoric: A Guide to Critical Reading and Argumentation is a composition textbook that outlines three essential skills: rhetoric, argument, and source-based writing, geared towards newcomers and advanced students alike. Though comprehensive in its coverage, the book's focus is a simple one: how to move beyond a gut reaction while reading to an articulation of what is effective and what is not, while explicitly answering the most important question of all: Why? This text gets at this central concern in two fundamental ways. First, the text teaches composition as a cumulative process, coaching you how to question, challenge, and expand on not just the readings you hold in your hands but also how to interrogate the internal processes of writing and thinking. The book's blend of composition methods details the cross point of product and process to turn reading and writing from a matter of coming up with answers to questions to learning what type of questions need to be asked in the first place. The right questions, the text argues, are fundamentally rhetorical in nature. Second, the content of the practice-based chapters is framed into a larger mesh of intellectual history to show how the writing and thinking you are doing today is continuous with a long history of writing instruction that goes back to the ancient world. This book provides equal representation from classical and contemporary theory with the recognition that theory cannot be fully grasped without practice, and practice cannot be fully understood without its theoretical antecedent. After all, you can't write outside the box until you know where the box is and what it looks like Reading Writing George Y. Trail, 2002 Reading Writing An Argument Rhetoric and Reader was conceived as a textbook for an undergraduate class in the rhetoric of argument but in its final form casts a much wider net in terms of audience Starting from the Orwellian premise that those who are passive rather than active in their relationship with the language will be its victims rather than its masters this book critically examines a series of examples of persuasion as it is currently practiced in the popular media Every reader and every writer can learn something from this personable witty thoughtful and thought provoking book Reading Rhetorical Theory Barry Brummet, 2000 An anthology of original readings Reading Rhetorical Theory uses selections from primary sources to track the history of thinking Two features of this book enable it to stand apart from other texts on rhetorical theory First its unique mix of readings blends traditional authors such as Aristotle Plato and Kenneth Burke with popular modern authors such as Karlyn Kohrs Campbell Second the editorial introductions develop a consistent and unified perspective that allows for differing interpretations of rhetorical theory at the same time that it ties together the history of the subject Reading Rhetorical Theory is appropriate in graduate or undergraduate courses that cover the history of rhetorical theory by using primary sources to track the history of thinking about human symbolic influence Reading for Rhetoric Caroline Shrodes, Clifford Anthon Josephson, 1962 Reading and Rhetoric in Montaigne and Shakespeare Peter Mack, 2010 Reading as Rhetorical Invention Doug Brent, 1992 Noting that teaching the research paper seldom gets below surface conventions this book surveys the work of key theorists in rhetoric past and present and seeks to change the way teachers and students think about the relationship between writers and readers Focusing on theorists who see the creation of knowledge as a social process the book discusses reader response and discourse processing theories and develops a model of how an individual evolves a set of beliefs about the world Chapters of the book are 1 Starting Points 2 Reading as Construction Reading as Communication 3 From Interpretation to Belief 4 The Rhetoric of Reading as a Critical Technique and 5 Implications for Teaching and for the Art of Rhetoric Each chapter includes footnotes and a five page bibliography is attached NKA J. Hillis Miller and the Play of Literature Jonathan Locke Hart, 2023-12-27 This is the first book to discuss the full sweep of the work of J Hillis Miller from his earliest writing in the 1950s to those near the time of his death in February 2021 across the genres of his criticism and theory poetry fiction drama fiction non fiction The book examines Miller's preference for close and careful reading of individual literary and critical works over abstract theory The study will discuss the last member of the so called Yale School of deconstruction to die but will see him as a reader and lover of literature someone interested in Georges Poulet and phenomenology and in Jacques Derrida and deconstruction Miller was concerned about many aspects of literature and life including the pleasure of reading and writing and in climate change which he saw as the crisis of our time Miller was well known in humanities and literature worldwide as one of the greatest of modern critics and theorists Rhetorical Poetics Donald Rice, Peter Schofer, 1983 The current renewed interest in rhetoric particularly as it relates to the art of literary interpretation has returned tropes to their central position in the reading process In this incisive volume Donald Rice and Peter Schofer provide a sound and systematic redefinition of the major tropes and demonstrate how every act of reading is necessarily rooted in those tropological operations The implications of their study are far reaching By identifying the rhetorical steps that must be followed in explicating any literary work Rice and Schofer provide the reader with a clear guide to fiction of all genres and periods Anyone involved in literary interpretation and looking for a model that promises a heightened appreciation and grasp of figurative texts will welcome the resulting volume
