A Sacred Trust Eugene Labovitz, Annette Labovitz, 1994 Influential Ghosts Rachel Wetzsteon, 2013-10-18 Influential Ghosts A Study of Auden's Sources explores some of the most important literary and philosophical influences on W. H. Auden's poetry The study attempts to show that Auden's poetry derives much of its interest from the vast range of authors on whom he drew for inspiration But it also suggests that his relationship to these writers was marked by a fascinating ambivalence In chapters on Auden's relationship to Hardy and Kierkegaard the study shows how after lovingly apprenticing himself to their work and often borrowing stylistic or thematic features from it Hardy's sweeping hawk's vision Kierkegaard's urgent leap of faith he began to criticize the very things he had previously striven to emulate In a chapter on Auden's elegies the author argues that alone among examples of this poetic genre they both reverently mourn and harshly scrutinize their subjects Yeats Freud Henry James and others In a chapter on structural allusion in Auden's early poetry the study posits that Auden singlehandedly invented a new kind of allusion in which he alludes to the form and subject matter of entire poems But while doing so he also finds fault with the attitudes passivity despair depicted in them In these structurally allusive poems as with his relationship to Hardy Kierkegaard and his elegies subjects Auden's sometimes accepting sometimes skeptical attitude toward his poetic models is on powerful display and finds a perfect counterpart in the tension between imitative form and critical content

Christian Whitlowe, Consciousness is the essence of all existence manifesting itself in multiple forms from an indivisible core At the center of this essence is the I Am an immutable creative force independent of external circumstances Reality far from being shaped by extraneous factors is a direct reflection of the inner configuration of consciousness which by modifying its own self image transforms the world around it The power of transformation lies in the ability to reinterpret the I Am and through self knowledge align oneself with one s own desires Imagination plays an essential role in this process allowing us to feel the future as present and to shape reality based on this conviction By completely surrendering to the feeling of already having what you want the mind dissolves limitations creating the path to fulfillment Attention when focused firmly and consciously strengthens this creative power Concentrating on a single goal without wavering between doubts transforms the imagination into an active force capable of materializing what previously seemed unattainable The practice of concentration whether it s mentally revisiting the events of the day or visualizing desires fulfilled develops a natural ability to shape one s own life The process of creation follows three fundamental pillars desire which drives fulfillment stillness which concentrates creative energy and imagination which shapes the desired result By uniting these elements with conviction the individual transcends the limits imposed by circumstances allowing the invisible to become tangible There is no need for physical effort just the inner certainty that the desire is already a reality This transformation occurs spontaneously when the mind assimilates the new reality as something natural The confidence that what is desired already exists generates a creative force that knows no obstacles Every thought shapes the lived experience and by consciously choosing what you want to feel you become the architect of your own destiny Success does not depend on external factors but on the ability to keep your attention on what you want ignoring appearances to the contrary By persisting in this state of certainty the surrounding circumstances reorganize themselves in response to the inner vision Life then ceases to be an incessant search and becomes the natural manifestation of what one believes to be true In this alignment between desire and consciousness lies the power to transform reality in a full and lasting way Tags self knowledge power of the mind I am creative imagination law of attraction inner transformation creative mind manifestation creative visualization personal fulfillment spiritual development inner growth power of thought co creation of reality awakening of consciousness practical spirituality success prosperity wealth money
