Moving Image Theory Joseph D Anderson, Barbara Fisher Anderson, 2007-03-05 Blending unconventional film theory with nontraditional psychology to provide a radically different set of critical methods and propositions about cinema Moving Image Theory Ecological Considerations looks at film through its communication properties rather than its social or political implications Drawing on the tenets of James J Gibson's ecological theory of visual perception the fifteen essays and forty one illustrations gathered here by editors Joseph D Anderson and Barbara Fisher Anderson offer a new understanding of how moving images are seen and understood Focusing on a more straightforward perception of the world and cinema in an attempt to move film theory closer to reality Moving Image Theory proposes that we should first understand how cinema communicates information about the representation of the three dimensional world through properties of image and sound

Music, Electronic Media and Culture Simon Emmerson, 2016-04-29 Technology revolutionised the ways that music was produced in the twentieth century As that century drew to a close and a new century begins a new revolution in roles is underway The separate categories of composer performer distributor and listener are being challenged while the sounds of the world itself become available for musical use All kinds of sounds are now brought into the remit of composition enabling the music of others to be sampled or plundered including that of unwitting musicians from non western cultures This sound world may appear contradictory stimulating and invigorating as well as exploitative and destructive This book addresses some of the issues now posed by the brave new world of music produced with technology

Gert-Jan Pepping, Madeleine A. Grealy, 2007 First Published in 2007 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Major pillars of German syntax Peter Rolf Lutzeier, 2012-01-02 Over the past few decades the book series Linguistische Arbeiten Linguistic Studies comprising over 500 volumes has made a significant contribution to the development of linguistic theory both in Germany and internationally The series will continue to deliver new impulses for research and maintain the central insight of linguistics that progress can only be made in acquiring new knowledge about human languages both synchronically and diachronically by closely combining empirical and theoretical analyses To this end we invite submission of high quality linguistic studies from all the central areas of general linguistics and the linguistics of individual languages which address topical questions discuss new data and advance the development of linguistic theory

Cognitive Aspects of Stimulus Control W. K. Honig, J. Gregor Fetterman, Werner K. Honig, 2018-10-24 The study of discrimination and generalization in animals traditionally involves stimuli that are simple uniform and restricted in time or space In recent years the area of stimulus control has been expanded with the use of stimuli that are complex extended in time or space and incorporate or represent natural objects events or locations The contributors to this unique volume have emphasized controlling functions of complex stimulus events such as location or duration and their relation to cognitive processes in animals The chapters cover a wide array of topics including spatial cognition categorization pattern perception numerosity discriminations imagery and spatial tracking thereby addressing the question of how complex events are perceived processed and organized This volume goes beyond other recent books on animal cognition in that it specifically places some well known phenomena within the context of stimulus control Listening Stephen Handel, 1993-08-26 Listening combines broad coverage of acoustics speech and music perception psychophysics and auditory physiology with a coherent theoretical orientation in a lively and accessible introduction to the perception of music and speech events Handel treats the production and perception of music and speech in parallel throughout the text arguing that their production and perception follows identical principles music and speech share the same formal properties involve the same cognitive mechanisms and cannot exist in separate modules The way that a sound is produced determines the physical properties of the acoustic wave These properties in turn lead to the perception of the event The initial chapters take up physical processes including a section on characterization of sound and discussion of the way instruments and speech produce musical sound Handel explains how the environment affects perceived sounds including reflection reverberation diffraction and the Doppler effect Subsequent chapters take up psychological processes partitioning smeared sounds into discrete events identifying sound sources the units and phrases of speech and music and speech and music rhythms The final chapter provides a detailed treatment of the physiology and neurophysiology of the auditory system All of the author's explanations are coherent and clear and this strategy includes discussing particular pieces of research in detail rather than covering many things superficially Handel analyzes causes as well as describing phenomena and sets out for the reader the difficulties inherent in the research methods he discusses He defines the physical musical and psychological terms used even the most basic ones and covers all of the experimental methods and statistical procedures in the text

A Bradford Book Cognition and the Symbolic Processes Robert R. Hoffman, David S. Palermo, 2014-01-14 This volume is a festschrift dedicated to James J. Jenkins a pioneer in many areas of experimental psychology It has three major goals to provide a forum for debate on current theoretical issues in cognitive psychology to capture the state of the art in reviews of research methods and results and to generate ideas for new research directions and methodologies Contributors including Jenkins former students and present colleagues ponder fundamental questions such as How do people learn to read What happens during the processes of speech perception How do people acquire problem solving skills How do cognitive and motor skills develop and integrate with one another Many chapters focus specifically on ecological and applied cognitive psychology Specific topics covered include visual and speech perception language memory motivation child development problem solving and pedagogy

Event Representation in Language and Cognition Jürgen Bohnemeyer, Eric Pederson, 2010-12-23 Event Representation in Language and Cognition examines new research into how the mind deals with the experience of events Empirical research into the cognitive processes involved when people view events and talk about them is still a young field The chapters by leading experts draw on data from the description of events in spoken and signed languages first and second language acquisition co speech gesture and eye movements during language production and from non linguistic categorization and other tasks The book highlights newly found evidence for how perception thought and language constrain each other in the experience of events It will be of particular interest to linguists psychologists and philosophers as well as to anyone interested in the representation and processing of events

The Texture of Mystery J. Bradley Wigger, 1998 This book relies upon the revolutionary work of James Jerome Gibson and his ecological approach to perception in order to reconstruct some basic assumptions about sensing knowing and learning Instead of a closed system Gibson's work can be understood as corresponding to an open systems universe Learning has to do with how bodily perceptive systems attend to the inexhaustible and inherently meaningful reality in which we discover ourselves

Process, Image, and Meaning Wolfgang Wildgen, 1994-01-01 The general topic of this book is the development of a realistic model of meaning it has to account for the ecological basis of meaning in perception action and interaction and is realistic in the sense of scientific realism i e it is based on the most successful paradigm of modern science dynamical systems theory In Part One a model of sentences is put forward The first chapter outlines the philosophical background of a theory of meaning Chapter 2 gives a very short summary of recent proposals for a semantic model which considers image like schemata In Chapter 3 a realistic model of valence and basic predication is developed in detail Chapter 4 treats multistability in meaning and the application of chaos theory and dissipative structures in semantics Chapter 5 outlines the global framework of a stratified universe of meanings and Chapter 6 prepares the way for Part Two the analysis of narrative texts Oral narratives of personal experience are the prototypical form in which experienced events are organized with the aim of remaking a piece of reality In Chapter 7 a discrete grammar based on vectorial schemata is developed Chapters 8 and 9 elaborate the syntax of narratives in Chapter 7 Chapter 10 progress to conversational dynamics

Squeezing Minds From Stones Karenleigh A. Overmann, Frederick L. Coolidge, 2019-04-04 Squeezing Minds From Stones is a collection of wide ranging contemporary essays on the interdisciplinary field of cognitive archaeology which offers cognitive and psychological models to explain archaeological artifacts like stone tools figurines and art

New Frontiers in Urban Analysis Yasushi Asami, Yukio Sadahiro, Toru Ishikawa, 2009-06-26 Bringing together the world s leading experts in Urban Analysis this remarkable and critically acclaimed volume applies the theories and models of Atsuyuko Okabe Japan s preeminent spatial analyst to case studies in urban planning transport administration and public health in the context of the highly advanced Japanese planning system It inc

Vision and Motor Control L. Proteau, D. Elliott, 1992-02-20 Since the classic studies of Woodworth 1899 the role of vision in the control of movement has been an important research topic in experimental psychology While many early studies were concerned with the relative importance of vision and kinesthesia and or the time it takes to use visual information recent theoretical and technical developments have stimulated scientists to ask questions about how different sources of visual information contribute to motor control in different contexts In this volume articles are presented that provide a broad coverage of the current research and theory on vision and human motor learning and control Many of the contributors are colleagues that have met over the years at the meetings and conferences concerned with human movement They represent a wide range of affiliation and background including kinesiology physical education neurophysiology cognitive psychology and neuropsychology Thus the topic of vision and motor control is addressed from a number of different perspectives In general each author sets an empirical and theoretical framework for their topic and then discusses current work from their own laboratory and how it fits into the larger context A synthesis chapter at the end of the volume identifies commonalities in the work and suggests directions for future experimentation

Toward the Integration of Theory, Methods, Research, and Utilization Gary T. Moore, Robert W. Marans, 2013-03-09 This fourth volume in the Advances in Environment Behavior and Design series continues the intent of earlier volumes by exploring new directions in the multidisciplinary environment behavior EB or EBS field The series is organized around a framework of theory methods research and utilization that some say has defined the field for the past 15 years This fourth volume is devoted to chapters that explore the integration of theory quantitative and qualitative research and utilization in policy planning and architecture The authors selected for this volume exemplify the multidisciplinary character of the field they have been selected from architecture environmental psychology environmental studies housing research landscape architecture social anthropology social ecology urban design and urban planning from academe and practice and from Australia Europe and North America HISTORY OF THE ADVANCES SERIES The idea for the series emerged in 1983 at meetings of the Board of Directors of the Environmental Design Research Association EDRA Several publishers were contacted about the possibility of an EDRA Annual Review Eliot Werner at Plenum Press expressed great interest but suggested that an Advances series would be more appropriate since publication could be tied to a less specific timetable EDRA Plenum and the editors signed a contract in June 1984 for three volumes with an open door for oral agreements between Plenum and the editors after that time Four volumes have been published Volume 1 1987 Volume 2 1989 Volume 3 1991 and the current Volume 4 each containing 10 to 12 chapters Issues in the

Ecological Study of Learning T. D. Johnston, A. T. Pietrewicz, 2014-01-14 First published in 1985 This volume is based on a symposium also titled Issues in the Ecological Study of Learning that was held at the 1981 meeting of the Animal Behavior Society in Knoxville Tennessee The Psychology of Expertise Robert R. Hoffman, 2014-02-25 This volume investigates our ability to capture and then apply expertise In recent years expertise has come to be regarded as an increasingly valuable and surprisingly elusive resource Experts who were the sole active dispensers of certain kinds of knowledge in the days before AI have themselves become the objects of empirical inquiry in which their knowledge is elicited and studied by knowledge engineers experimental psychologists applied psychologists or other experts involved in the development of expert systems This book achieves a marriage between experimentalists applied scientists and theoreticians who deal with expertise It envisions the benefits to society of an advanced technology for capturing and disseminating the knowledge and skills of the best corporate managers the most seasoned pilots and the most renowned medical diagnosticians This book should be of interest to psychologists as well as to knowledge engineers who are out in the trenches developing expert systems and anyone pondering the nature of expertise and the question of how it can be elicited and studied scientifically The book's scope and the pivotal concepts that it elucidates and appraises as well as the extensive categorized bibliographies it includes make this volume a landmark in the field of expert systems and AI as well as the field of applied experimental psychology

Sacred Darkness Holley Moyes, 2012-04-15 Caves have been used in various ways across human society but despite the persistence within popular culture of the iconic caveman deep caves were never used primarily as habitation sites for early humans Rather in both ancient and contemporary contexts caves have served primarily as ritual spaces In Sacred Darkness contributors use archaeological evidence as well as ethnographic studies of modern ritual practices to envision the cave as place of spiritual and ideological power that emerges as a potent venue for ritual practice Covering the ritual use of caves in Europe Asia Australia Africa Mesoamerica and the US Southwest and Eastern woodlands this book brings together case studies by prominent scholars whose research spans from the Paleolithic period to the present day These contributions demonstrate that cave sites are as fruitful as surface contexts in promoting the understanding of both ancient and modern religious beliefs and practices This state of the art survey of ritual cave use will be one of the most valuable resources for understanding the role of caves in studies of religion sacred landscape or cosmology and a must read for any archaeologist interested in caves
