news and publishing and social media      Reading and Writing for Pleasure Teresa Cremin, Helen Hendry, Liz Chamberlain, Samantha Jayne Hulston, 2025-09-12 Reading and writing for pleasure represent issues of global concern and interest in policy research and practice underpinned by evidence illustrating their importance for young people's academic, social and emotional experiences and outcomes. In the face of a sustained decline in children's enjoyment in both reading and writing, this highly significant book presents findings from a three-year study of research and practice that nurtures young people's engagement as readers and writers. The book offers a rich understanding of the study, highlighting the commonalities and synergies identified from the research literature and diverse practice contexts. It introduces a new and powerful Reading and Writing Framework for Practice for schools and charitable literacy programmes. The authors offer practical strategies and recommendations throughout for practitioners, researchers and policy makers who wish to advance this agenda in their own contexts. Areas covered include: The nature of reading and writing for pleasure; Literate identities; Motivating readers and writers; Social interactions; Role models and connected communities; Future research practice and policy. This field-defining text is a key resource for all those committed to halting the decline in young people's engagement as volitional readers and writers.

South African Writing in Transition Rita Barnard, Andrew van der Vlies, 2019-02-21 Bringing together leading and emerging scholars, this book asks the question: how has contemporary South African literature grappled with ideas of time and history during the political transition away from apartheid? Reading the work of major South African writers such as J. M. Coetzee, Nadine Gordimer and Ivan Vladislavic, as well as contemporary crime fiction, South African Writing in Transition explores how concerns about time and temporality have shaped literary form across the country's literary culture. Establishing new connections between leading literary voices and lesser-known works, the book explores themes of truth and reconciliation, disappointment and betrayal.

Exploring Children's Literature Nikki Gamble, Sally Yates, 2008-02-20 This book is based on the belief that deep subject knowledge of language and literature provides a foundation for effective teaching and learning. It provides a comprehensive guide to the range of genres and characteristic features of English language fiction written for children. It will help readers to: o develop their understanding of literature within social, cultural and political reading practices; o extend their knowledge of language features and conventions of different genres; o develop skills in analytical and critical reading. The scope of the first edition has been expanded from solely fiction to cover a range of contemporary literature including poetry, plays and picture books. The case study material, investigative activities and practical exercises promote an active approach to learning. The second edition focuses on a range of fiction relevant to the National Curriculum for England and the National Literacy Strategy. It provides examples from a range of world literature written in English. Examples from work in translation are also included. It also addresses the requirements of the primary curriculum for ITT English. This book is essential reading for student teachers on PGCE and undergraduate teacher education courses and for teachers undertaking CPD in English literacy or children's literature. It
