Wolcott, 1994-02-18 Publisher's description After the glamour of working in the field is over you now face the daunting challenge of transforming your field notes and interview tapes into a completed study But where do you start In Transforming Qualitative Data Harry F Wolcott guides you through the process of completing your research study Beginning with an introductory chapter that presents his views on ethnography he explores the transformation process by breaking it down into three related activities description analysis and interpretation To illustrate each point he critically examines his own work using nine of his previous studies as illustrations Then he shows you how to learn and to teach qualitative research by applying the three principles outlined in the volume Written with the usual wit and brilliance shown in Wolcott's work Transforming Qualitative Data is a major statement on doing research by one of the master ethnographers of our time

Historical Foundations of Educational Psychology John A. Glover, Royce R. Ronning, 2013-11-11 This volume represents a beginning effort to compile a history of educational psychology The project began innocuously enough several years ago when we decided to add mon material about the history of educational psychology to the undergraduate course we were teaching What seemed like a simple task became very complex as we searched in vain for a volume dealing with the topic We ended up drawing on various histories of psychology that devoted anywhere from a few paragraphs to several pages to the topic and on a very few articles addressing the issue We were startled frankly by the apparent lack of interest in the history of our field and decided to attempt to compile a history ourselves As is the case with any edited volume the contributing authors deserve credit for its positive features They uniformly made every effort asked of them and taught us much about educational psychology Any errors or omissions are our responsibility alone Index of Patents Issued from the United States Patent Office United States.
