Map Projections:

Choosing a Map Projection Miljenko Lapaine, E. Lynn Usery, 2017-04-04 This book offers a much needed critical approach to the intelligent use of the wide variety of map projections that are rapidly and inexpensively available today It also discusses the distortions that are immanent in any map projection A well chosen map projection is one in which extreme distortions are smaller than those in any other projection used to map the same area and in which the map properties match its purpose Written by leading experts in the field including W Tobler F C Kessler S E Battersby M P Finn K C Clarke V S Tikunov H Hargitai B Jenny and N Fran ula This book is designed for use by laymen The book editors are M Lapaine and E L Usery Chair and Vice Chair respectively of the ICA Commission on Map Projections for the period 2011 2015

Working with Map Projections Fritz Kessler, Sarah Battersby, 2019-05-03 A map projection fundamentally impacts the mapmaking process Working with Map Projections A Guide to Their Selection explains why for any given map there isn't a single best map projection Selecting a projection is a matter of understanding the compromises and consequences of showing a 3 D space in two dimensions The book presents a clear understanding of the processes necessary to make logical decisions on selecting an appropriate map projection for a given data set The authors discuss the logic needed in the selection process describe why certain decisions should be made and explain the consequences of any inappropriate decision made during the selection process This book also explains how the map projection will impact the map's ability to fulfill its purpose uses real world data sets as the basis for the selection of an appropriate map projection and provides illustrations of an appropriately and inappropriately selected map projection for a given data set The authors take a novel approach to discussing map projections by avoiding an extensive inventory of mathematical formulae and using only the mathematics of map projections that matter for many mapping tasks They also present information that is directly applicable to the process of selecting map projections and not tied to a specific software package Written by two leading experts this book is an invaluable resource for anyone studying or working with geospatial data from students to experienced professionals and will help readers successfully weigh the pros and cons of choosing one projection over another to suit a map's intended purpose

Flattening the Earth John P. Snyder, 1997-12-05 Cartographers have long grappled with the impossibility of portraying the earth in two dimensions To solve this problem mapmakers have created map projections This work discusses and illustrates the known map projections from before 500BC to the present with facts on their origins and use context of Geographical Information Systems GIS the book offers a timely review of Map Projections The first chapters are of foundational type We introduce the mapping from a left Riemann manifold to a right one specified as conformal equiaerial and equidistant perspective and geodetic In particular the mapping from a Riemann manifold to a Euclidean manifold plane and the design of various coordinate systems are reviewed A speciality is the treatment of surfaces of Gaussian curvature zero The largest part is devoted to the mapping the sphere and the ellipsoid of revolution to tangential plane cylinder and cone pseudo cone using the polar aspect transverse as well as oblique aspect Various Geodetic Mappings as well as the Datum Problem are reviewed In the first extension we introduce optimal map projections by variational calculus for the sphere respectively the ellipsoid generating harmonic maps The second extension reviews alternative maps for structures namely torus pneu hyperboloid cooling tower paraboloid parabolic mirror onion shape church tower as well as clothoid High Speed Railways used in Project Surveying Third we present the Datum Transformation described by the Conformal Group C10 3 in a three-dimensional Euclidean space a ten parameter conformal transformation It leaves infinitesimal angles and distance ratios equivariant Numerical examples from classical and new map projections as well as twelve appendices document the Wonderful World of Map Projections An Album of Map Projections John Parr Snyder, Philip M. Voxland, 1989

Map Projections--a Working Manual John Parr Snyder, 1987 Under each of the projections described the nonmathematical phases are presented first without interruption by formulas They are followed by the formulas and tables Even with the mathematics there are almost no derivations and very little calculus The emphasis is on describing the characteristics of the projection and how it is used Coordinate Systems and Map Projections D.H. Maling, 2013-10-22 A revised and expanded new edition of the definitive English work on map projections The revisions take into account the huge advances in geometrical geodesy which have occurred since the early years of satellite geodesy The detailed configuration of the geoid resulting from the GEOS and SEASAT altimetry measurements are now taken into consideration Additionally the chapter on computation of map projections is updated bearing in mind the availability of pocket calculators and microcomputers Analytical derivation of some map projections including examples of pseudocylindrical and polyconic projections is also covered Work undertaken in the USA and USSR on the creation of suitable map projections obtained through numerical analysis has been included The book concludes with a chapter on the abuse and misrepresentation of map projections An invaluable reference source for professional cartographers and all those interested in the fundamental problems of mapping the Earth
