Maps and Models for Ministry David Whitelaw, 1996 ... Official Catalogue ... Moses Purnell Handy, 1893 The Ministry of the Shepherd and the Church in Africa, 2017-01-25 With over two million church leaders working in the more than ten million parishes congregations seminaries and houses of religious formation around the world it is important that all the people of God of every church have selfless church leaders who reflect the mind of Christ But how can church leaders learn to be true shepherds like Jesus whose selfless sacrifice of his life for his people set the standard for the pastoral ministry The Ministry of the Shepherd and the Church in Africa draws on a wide range of Old and New Testament texts to develop the biblical theology of the shepherd Ministry which encourages right shepherding and evangelization in the world of self serving leadership styles Focusing especially on the example of pastoral ministry in Africa author and priest Cletus Chukwudi Imo explores some of the underlying attitudes of the pastor and the laity and challenges church leaders to adopt a role as shepherds and servants not as self serving masters so that they can lead guide and teach their congregations as Christ would Because it can be easy for church leaders to get wrapped up in the sociocultural political and economic concerns of their parishes it is important for these church leaders to shed an undue focus on these concerns instead of shepherd their flocks By modeling their lives and leadership on the ideals of Jesus church leaders including priests religious lecturers seminarians and even lay Christian parents alike can become true servants and shepherds honoring the example of Jesus the Good Shepherd A Map of the New Country Sara Maitland, 2014-10-03 Most feminists have turned away from the Christian churches regarding both Catholicism and the protestant denominations as bastions of sexism and patriarchal oppression However Christian feminists committed to improving the position of Christian women and to the spiritual renewal of their respective churches are drawing inspiration for their struggles from the contemporary Women's Movement In this study Sara Maitland looks at what has been happening to Christian women in general and Christian feminists in particular over the last fifteen to twenty years She sets their experiences in the framework of the history of the churches and reviews it in the light of events such as the Second Vatican Council the ordination of Baptist and Episcopal women ministers in America and Britain and the debate about the ordination of women in the Anglican communion She argues that the insights gained by Christian feminists put them in a unique position to prophesy to their respective churches leading them back to the Gospel imperatives of love justice and freedom and that an understanding and acceptance of this role of women is crucial to the well being of the whole Church As well as studying the history theology and institutional structures of the denominational churches the book uses a wealth of interview material from both sides of the Atlantic to describe the experiences of women from many different backgrounds including nuns women priests and lay workers Sara Maitland concludes that Christianity can and must pass beyond the long centuries of oppression and division into a new country a country in which women and men are equally made in the image of God First published in 1983 A Map of the New Country Sara Maitland, 2014-10-03

Most feminists have turned away from the Christian churches regarding both Catholicism and the protestant denominations as bastions of sexism and patriarchal oppression. However, Christian feminists committed to improving the position of Christian women and to the spiritual renewal of their respective churches are drawing inspiration for their struggles from the contemporary Women's Movement. In this study, Sara Maitland looks at what has been happening to Christian women in general and Christian feminists in particular over the last fifteen to twenty years. She sets their experiences in the framework of the history of the churches and reviews it in the light of events such as the Second Vatican Council, the ordination of Baptist and Episcopal women ministers in America and Britain, and the debate about the ordination of women in the Anglican communion. She argues that the insights gained by Christian feminists put them in a unique position to prophesy to their respective churches, leading them back to the Gospel imperatives of love, justice, and freedom, and that an understanding and acceptance of this role of women is crucial to the well-being of the whole Church. As well as studying the history, theology, and institutional structures of the denominational churches, the book uses a wealth of interview material from both sides of the Atlantic to describe the experiences of women from many different backgrounds, including nuns, women priests, and lay workers. Sara Maitland concludes that Christianity can and must pass beyond the long centuries of oppression and division into a new country, a country in which women and men are equally made in the image of God. First published in 1983.

Europe's Borderlands Steven Seegel, 2012-05-14 The simplest purpose of a map is a rational one: to educate, to solve a problem, to point someone in the right direction. Maps shape and communicate information for the sake of improved orientation. But maps exist for states as well as individuals, and they need to be interpreted as expressions of power and knowledge. As Steven Seegel makes clear in his impressive and important new book Mapping Europe's Borderlands, it takes the familiar problems of state and nation building in eastern Europe and presents them through an entirely new prism: that of cartography and cartographers. Drawing from sources in eleven languages, including military, historical, pedagogical, and ethnographic maps, as well as geographic texts and related cartographic literature, Seegel explores the role of maps and mapmakers in the East Central European borderlands from the Enlightenment to the Treaty of Versailles For example Seegel explains how Russia used cartography in the aftermath of the Napoleonic Wars and later formed its geography society as a cover for gathering intelligence He also explains the importance of maps to the formation of identities and institutions in Poland Ukraine and Lithuania as well as in Russia Seegel concludes with a consideration of the impact of cartographers regional and socioeconomic backgrounds educations families career options and available language choices Orogenic Belts, Geological Mapping Zhiqin Xu,Yufeng Ren,Xiaoping Qiu,1997 Air Pollution Modeling and its Application XV Carlos Borrego,Guy Schayes,2007-05-08 In 1969 the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO established the Committee on Challenges of Modern Society CCMS The subject of air pollution was from the start one of the priority problems under study within the framework of various pilot studies undertaken by this committee The organization of a periodic conference dealing with air pollution modelling and its application has become one of the main activities within the pilot study relating to air pollution These international conferences were successively organized by the United States first five Federal Republic of Germany five Belgium five The Netherlands four and Denmark five With this one Portugal takes over the duty This volume contains the papers and poster abstracts presented at the NATO CCMS International Technical Meeting on Air Pollution Modelling and Its Application held in Louvain la Neuve Belgium during 15 19 October 2001 This ITM was jointly organized by the University of Aveiro Portugal Pilot country and by the Catholic University of Louvain Belgium host country The ITM was attended by 78 participants representing 26 countries from Western and Eastern Europe North and South America Asia Australia and Africa The main topics of this ITM were Role of Atmospheric Models in Air Pollution Policy and Abatement Strategies Integrated Regional Modelling Global and Long Range Transport Regional Air Pollution and Climate New Developments and Model Assessment and Verification
