Matrix Of Language Contemporary Linguistic Anthropology:

The Matrix Of Language Donald Brenneis, 2018-02-20 This book presents a range of methodological approaches and case studies that illustrate the interconnection of language culture and social practice It is useful for anyone exploring the relation of language to psychology political theory feminist studies and literature and folklore A Companion to Linguistic Anthropology Alessandro Duranti, 2008-04-15 A Companion to Linguistic Anthropology provides a series of in depth explorations of key concepts and approaches by some of the scholars whose work constitutes the theoretical and methodological foundations of the contemporary study of language as culture Provides a definitive overview of the field of linguistic anthropology comprised of original contributions by leading scholars in the field Summarizes past and contemporary research across the field and is intended to spur students and scholars to pursue new paths in the coming decades Includes a comprehensive bibliography of over 2000 entries designed as a resource for anyone seeking a guide to the literature of linguistic anthropology Translinguistics Jerry Lee, Sender Dovchin, 2019-12-06 Translinguistics represents a powerful alternative to conventional paradigms of language such as bilingualism and code switching which assume the compartmentalization of different languages into fixed and arbitrary boundaries Translinguistics more accurately reflects the fluid use of linguistic and semiotic resources in diverse communities This ground breaking volume showcases work from leading as well as emerging scholars in sociolinguistics and other language oriented disciplines and collectively explores and aims to reconcile the distinction between innovation and ordinariness in translinguistics Features of this book include 18 chapters from 28 scholars representing a range of academic disciplines and institutions from 11 countries around the world research on understudied communities and geographic contexts including those of Latin America South Asia and Central Asia several chapters devoted to the diversity of communication in digital contexts Edited by two of the most innovative scholars in the field Translinguistics Negotiating Innovation and Ordinariness is essential reading for scholars and students interested in the question of multilingualism across a variety of subject areas Scripting Addiction E. Summerson Carr, 2010-10-18 Gaming the language of addiction treatment Scripting Addiction takes readers into the highly ritualized world of mainstream American addiction treatment It is a world where clinical practitioners evaluate how drug users speak about themselves and their problems and where the ideal of healthy talk is explicitly promoted carefully monitored and identified as the primary sign of therapeutic progress The book explores the puzzling question why do addiction counselors dedicate themselves to reconciling drug users relationship to language in order to reconfigure their relationship to drugs To answer this question anthropologist Summerson Carr traces the charged interactions between counselors clients and case managers at Fresh Beginnings an addiction treatment program for homeless women in the midwestern United States She shows that shelter food and even the custody of children hang in the balance of everyday therapeutic exchanges such as clinical assessments individual therapy sessions and self help meetings Acutely aware of the high stakes of self representation experienced clients analyze and learn to effectively perform prescribed ways of speaking a mimetic practice they call flipping the script As a clinical ethnography Scripting Addiction examines how decades of clinical theorizing about addiction language self knowledge and sobriety is manifested in interactions between counselors and clients As an ethnography of the contemporary United States the book demonstrates the complex cultural roots of the powerful clinical ideas that shape therapeutic transactions and by extension administrative routines and institutional dynamics at sites such as Fresh Beginnings

The Social Life of the Japanese Language Shigeko Okamoto, Janet S. Shibamoto-Smith, 2016-08-04 This book focuses on the historical construction of language norms and its relationship to actual language use in contemporary Japan

The Struggle for a Multilingual Future Christina P. Davis (Anthropologist), 2020 In The Struggle for a Multilingual Future Christina Davis examines the tension between ethnic conflict and multilingual education policy in the linguistic and social practices of Sri Lankan minority youth Facing a legacy of post independence language and education policies that were among the complex causes of the Sri Lankan civil war 1983-2009 the government has recently sought to promote interethnic integration through trilingual language policies in Sinhala Tamil and English in state schools Integrating ethnographic and linguistic research in and around two schools during the last phase of the war Davis's research shows how despite the intention of the reforms practices on the ground reinforce language based models of ethnicity and sustain ethnic divisions and power inequalities By engaging with the actual experiences of Tamil and Muslim youth Davis demonstrates the difficulties of using language policy to ameliorate ethnic conflict if it does not also address how that conflict is produced and reproduced in everyday talk

Rapport and the Discursive Co-Construction of Social Relations in Fieldwork Encounters Zane Goebel, 2019-08-19 In accounts of ethnographic fieldwork and textbooks on ethnography we often find the notion of rapport used to describe social relationships in the field Frequently rapport between researcher and researched is invoked as a prerequisite to be achieved before fieldwork can start or used as evidence to judge the value and robustness of an ethnography With few exceptions and despite regular pleas to do so ethnographers continue to avoid presenting any discursive evidence of what rapport might look like from an interactional perspective In a sense the uncritical acceptance of rapport as a fieldwork goal and measure has helped hide the discursive work that goes on in the field In turn this has privileged ideas about identity as portable rather than portable and emergent and reports of social life as more important than how such reports emerge Written for all those who engage or plan to engage in ethnographic fieldwork this collection examines how social relationships dialogically emerge in fieldwork settings

The Modernity Bluff Sasha Newell, 2024-05-31 In Cote d'Ivoire appearing modern is so important for success that many young men deplete their already meager resources to project an illusion of wealth in a fantastic display of Western imitation spending far more than they can afford on brand name clothing accessories technology and a robust nightlife Such imitation however is not primarily meant to deceive rather as Sasha Newell argues in The Modernity Bluff it is an explicit performance so valued in Cote d'Ivoire it has become a matter of national pride Called bluffeurs these young urban men operate in a system of cultural economy where reputation is essential for financial success That reputation is measured by familiarity with and access to the fashionable and expensive which leads to a paradoxical state of affairs in which the wasting of wealth is essential to its accumulation Using the consumption of Western goods to express their cultural mastery over Western taste Newell argues bluffeurs engage a global hierarchy that is profoundly modern one that values performance over authenticity highlighting the counterfeit nature of modernity itself

Consequences of Contact Miki Makihara, Bambi B. Schieffelin, 2007-09-27 These collected essays critically examine the consequences of contact between colonial and missionary projects and indigenous communities in contemporary Pacific societies They address the multiple ways that processes of historical change have shaped and been shaped by linguistic ideologies reflexive sensibilities about languages and language use held by Pacific peoples themselves and other agents of change

The Heart of the Matter Wesley M. Collins, 2016-11-16 Can a culture have a theme that unifies seemingly unrelated practices In this volume Collins suggests that Maya Mam customs as different as constructing a house staying healthy seeking God disciplining children agreeing to a contract or just speaking the language all originate from the same concept a search for the center This is far more than mere balance long recognized as a Mayan cultural value Rather center space is a place of physical and metaphysical peace acceptance meaning health happiness and home Collins also shows how cenderedness is deeply embedded in the grammar of Mam its lexicon morphology syntax and discourse structure This relatedness of Mam culture and linguistics provides an unusually detailed contribution to the debate on linguistic relativity and the Sapir Whorf hypothesis Collins combines historical accounts with firsthand ethnographic and linguistic methodology to explore the concept of centeredness Detailed accounts of his personal interaction with the Mam illustrate and enrich the book s concepts This volume will interest students of the relationship between language and culture generally and specifically those interested in the study of Maya of Mexico and Guatemala

Attitudes to Endangered Languages Julia Sallabank, 2013-12-19 Language attitudes and ideologies are of key importance in assessing the chances of success of revitalisation efforts for endangered languages However few book length studies relate attitudes to language policies or address the changing attitudes of non speakers and the motivations of members of language movements Through a combination of ethnographic research and quantitative surveys this book presents an in depth study of revitalisation efforts for indigenous languages in three small islands round the British Isles The author identifies and confronts key issues commonly faced by practitioners and researchers working in small language communities with little institutional support This book explores the complex relationship of ideologies identity and language related beliefs and practices and examines the implications of these factors for language revitalisation measures Essential reading for researchers interested in language endangerment and revitalisation sociolinguistics linguistic anthropology and language policy and planning as well as language planners and campaigners Vulnerabilities, Challenges and Risks in Applied Linguistics Clare Cunningham, Christopher J. Hall, 2021-09-09 The chapters in this book call attention to vulnerabilities challenges and risks for applied linguistics researchers and the communities they work with across a broad range of contexts from the Global North and South and in both signed and spoken languages Together they provide insights on both academic and professional practice across several areas the vulnerabilities involved in researching the limitations of traditional epistemologies the challenges inherent in the repertoire of methodologies and pedagogies employed by applied linguists and the effectiveness of practical responses to language related problems The book encourages those involved in applied linguistics to consider their own practice and their relationship with the communities policies and educational contexts they engage with in the course of their teaching research and activism Academic Language In Second

Language Learning Christian J. Faltis, M. Beatriz Arias, 2013-03-01 Language in academic settings also referred to as academic language has gained attention in the field of second language learning owing to new understandings of the complexities of language inherent in learning academic content and new efforts to assess English learners language proficiency in the context of school learning The concept of academic language as distinct from social language has been in the academic literature since the mid 1950s and surfaced as a major construct in the field of bilingual education in the 1980s Many readers will be familiar with the ideas of BICS and CALP first introduced by Jim Cummins in the 1980s This book presents a critique of academic language as a separable construct from social language and introduces current research efforts to understand how English learners interact interpret and show understanding of language in academic contexts in ways that re think and go beyond the distinction between social and academic language The book is organized into three main sections each with a range of chapters that consider how academic language plays into how children and youth learn academic content as emergent bilingual students in school settings A Foreword and Afterward offer commentary on the book and its contents The intended audience for this book is graduate students teacher educators and researchers interested in issues of language and content learning for English learners the new mainstream of schools across the nation There is something for a wide range of readers and students of second language acquisition in this volume Applied Linguists Needed Lida Cope, 2014-06-03

It is a fact that the world's languages are dying at an alarming rate This comprehensive volume aspires to raise awareness among applied linguists and language practitioners about the needs and concerns of endangered language communities It suggests that the way forward lies in building language revitalization teams reflecting the levels of expertise that the fields of formal linguistics and applied linguistics have to offer in how well researchers and practitioners exploit a tremendous networking potential across disciplines to address the needs of revitalization stabilization or maintenance in these communities A wide range of expert contributors addresses the following themes 1 how varied language teaching contexts dictate what applied linguists bring to the table 2 how training in applied linguists can empower members of the speaking community 3 why we should critically examine the issues and terminology used to describe endangered language contexts and 4 how linguistic skills can be adapted and integrated conceptually and pedagogically into non traditional teaching contexts The strength of this collection lies in bringing together expert applied and field linguists whose work represents extensive field experiences theoretical expertise and passionate resolve to act This book was originally published as a special issue of Language and Education
