with Paul McCarthy

1218 The two-part book Architecture by Bailey and Paul McCarthy resulting in their project combining work by the art of American Richard Powers and the Cuban-born avant-garde artist Francis Picasso, shown in the exhibition Imagery of the Contemporary Exhibition Hall, Experiments, Baltimore, in 1997 (September 14 to October 19), a group of over 100 contemporary international artists invited by Michael Anderson. The catalogue includes a brief essay, "With Bailey and Paul McCarthy" by Lars Bang Larsen (pp. 46-47), and a double-page spread on which selected three and paragraphs from the book below are laid across a photograph of a detail of the architectural model of the installation—with three large views of it set on the right side. The full-length catalogue reproduced fragments from both authors' texts, but the sections have not been previously published.

Mike Kelley Mike Kelley, Anne Pontégne, Wiels (Bruxelles), Museion (Bolzano, Trentino-Alto Adige, Italy), 2009 In 1995 Mike Kelley devised the Educational Complex an amalgam of every school he attended and of the house he grew up in with all the parts I couldn't remember left out a total environment sort of like the model of a Modernist community college The blind spots in this model represent forgotten repressed zones and so are reconceived by Kelley as sites of institutional abuse for which specific traumas were devised each having their own video and sculptural component For Kelley this work marks the beginning of a series of projects in which pseudo autobiography repressed memory syndrome and the reinterpretation of previous pieces become the tools for a poetic deconstruction of such complexes and the way we interact with and narrate them Educational Complex Onwards 1995 2008 is the first book to collect these works Each project within the series is extensively documented by artist's texts and reference material while essays by Diedrich Diederichsen Howard Singerman and Anne Pontégne examine the place of this body of work within Kelley's oeuvre Found Sculpture and Photography from Surrealism to Contemporary Art Julia Kelly, 2017-07-05 Taking its departure point from the 1933 surrealist photographs of involuntary sculptures by Brassa and Dal Found Sculpture and Photography from Surrealism to Contemporary Art offers fresh perspectives on the sculptural object by relating it to both surrealist concerns with chance and the crucial role of photography in framing the everyday This collection of essays questions the nature of sculptural practice looking to forms of production and reproduction that blur the boundaries between things that are made and things that are found One of the book's central themes is the interplay of presence and absence in sculpture as it is highlighted, disrupted or multiplied through photography's indexical nature. The essays examine the surrealist three-dimensional object, its relation to and transformation through photographs as well as the enduring legacies of such concerns for the artwork's materiality and temporality in performance and conceptual practices from the 1960s through the present. Found Sculpture and Photography sheds new light on the shifts in status of the art object, challenging the specificity of visual practices pursuing a radical interrogation of agency in modern and contemporary practices and exploring the boundaries between art and everyday life.

The Oxford Handbook of Screen Dance Studies Douglas Rosenberg, 2016-06-03 The Oxford Handbook of Screen Dance Studies offers a full overview of the histories, practices and critical and theoretical foundations of the rapidly changing landscape of screen dance. Drawing on their practices, technologies, theories and philosophies, scholars from the fields of dance, performance, visual art, cinema and media arts articulate the practice of screen dance as an interdisciplinary hybrid form that has yet to be correctly sited as an academic field worthy of critical investigation. Each chapter discusses and reframes current issues as a means of promoting and enriching dialogue within the wider community of dance and the moving image. Topics addressed embrace politics of the body, agency, race and gender in screen dance, the relationship of choreography to image, constructs of space and time, representation and effacement, production and curatorial practice and other areas of intersecting disciplines. The Oxford Handbook of Screen Dance Studies features newly commissioned and original scholarship that will be essential reading for all those interested in the intersection of dance and the moving image, including film and video makers, dance artists, screen dance artists, academics and writers, producers, composers as well as the wider interested public. It will become an invaluable resource for researchers and professionals in the field.

Pay for Your Pleasures Cary Levine, 2013-06-11 Mike Kelley, Paul McCarthy and Raymond Pettibon, these Southern California artists formed a bad boy triffecta. Early purveyors of abject art, the trio produced work ranging from sculptures of feces to copulating stuffed animals and gained notoriety from being perverse. Showing how their work rethinks transgressive art practices in the wake of the 1960s, Pay for Your Pleasures argues that their collaborations as well as their individual enterprises make them among the most compelling artists in the Los Angeles area in recent years. Cary Levine focuses on Kelley's, McCarthy's and Pettibon's work from the 1970s through the 1990s, plotting the circuitous routes they took in their artistic development. Drawing on extensive interviews with each artist, he identifies the diverse forces that had a crucial bearing on their development, such as McCarthy's experiences at the University of Utah, Kelley's interest in the Detroit-based White Panther movement, Pettibon's study of economics and how all three participated in burgeoning subcultural music scenes. Levine discovers a common political strategy underlying their art that critiques both nostalgia for the 1960s counterculture and Reagan-era conservatism. He shows how this strategy led each artist to create strange and unseemly images that test the limits of not only art but also gender roles, sex, acceptable behavior, poor taste and even the gag reflex that separates pleasure from disgust. As a result their work places viewers in uncomfortable situations that challenge them to reassess their own values The first substantial analysis of Kelley McCarthy and Pettibon Pay for Your Pleasures shines new light on three artists whose work continues to resonate in the world of art and politics

Art vs. TV Francesco Spampinato,2021-12-02 While highlighting the prevailing role of television in Western societies Art vs TV maps and condenses a comprehensive history of the relationships of art and television With a particular focus on the link between reality and representation Francesco Spampinato analyzes video art works installations performances interventions and television programs made by contemporary artists as forms of resistance to and appropriation and parody of mainstream television The artists discussed belong to different generations those that emerged in the 1960s in association with art movements such as Pop Art Fluxus and Happening and those appearing on the scene in the 1980s whose work aimed at deconstructing media representation in line with postmodernist theories to those arriving in the 2000s an era in which through reality shows and the Internet anybody could potentially become a media personality and finally those active in the 2010s whose work reflects on how old media like television has definitively vaporized through the electronic highways of cyberspace These works and phenomena elicit a tension between art and television exposing an incongruence an impossibility not only to converge but at the very least to open up a dialogical exchange

Dissolve into Comprehension Jack Burnham,2023-08-15 Influential writings by the legendary art critic and theorist Jack Burnham a pioneer in new media systems aesthetics and an early advocate of conceptualism Jack Burnham is one of the few critics and theorists alive today who can claim to have radically altered the way we think about works of art Burnham s use of the term system borrowed from theoretical biology in his 1968 essay System Aesthetics announced the relational character of conceptual art and newer research based projects Trained as an art historian Burnham was also a sculptor His first book Beyond Modern Sculpture 1968 established him as a leading commentator on art and technology A postformalist pioneer an influential figure in new media art history an early champion of conceptual and ecological art and the curator of the first exhibition of digital art Burnham is long overdue for reevaluation This book offers that opportunity by collecting a substantial and varied selection of his hard to find texts some published here for the first time Although Burnham left the art world abruptly in the 1990s his visionary theoretical ideas have only become more relevant in recent years This collection seeks to restore Burnham to his rightful place in art criticism and theory reestablishing his voice as crucial to critical conversations of the period It gathers his early writing on sculpture his essays on systems art and conceptualism his views of the New York art world and his later occult work including an unorthodox interpretation of Marcel Duchamp s work that draws on the Kabbalah

Dressaged Animality Lisa Moravec,2024-10-09 The book applies a productive interdisciplinary lens of art history performance and animal studies for approaching political economy issues critiquing anthropomorphic worldviews and provoking thoughts around animal and human nature that spark impulses for an innovative performance aesthetics and ethics It combines Marxist analysis with feminist and posthumanist methodology to analyse the relation between societal dressage and bodily animality that humans and animals share Within this original theoretical framework the book develops the concept of dressaged animality as a mode of critique to analyse the social and political function of interdisciplinary forms of contemporary performances Drawing on archival and primary research the book theorises and historicises more than 15 performance practices in which animality is allegorically staged through by humans danced real or filmically mediated animals It focuses on Rose English s pioneering approach to performance making as well as on overlooked performances by other renown and largely unknown American Mike Kelley Kate Foley Robert Morris Bruce Nauman Yvonne Rainer Diana Thater British Mark Wallinger Rose English and European artists Tamara Grcic Judith Hopf Joseph Beuys Bartabas from the late 1960s until the late 2010s While various types of artistic practice are framed as forms of critique for example protest art interventionist strategies institutional critique the book maps an original performance theory in art which shows that contemporary artistic performances can also take up a critique of societal dressage This study will be of great interest to students and scholars in art history theatre dance and performance studies and ecology as well as to artists and curators working with performance

Mike Kelley John Miller, 2015-01-30 An illustrated examination of a 1995 work by Mike Kelley that marked a significant change in his work One of the most influential artists of our time Mike Kelley 1954 2012 produced a body of innovative work mining American popular culture as well as modernist and postmodernist art relentless examinations of subjectivity and of society that are both sinister and ecstatic With a wide range of media Kelley s work explores themes as varied as post punk politics religious systems social class and repressed memory Using architectural models to represent schools he attended his 1995 work Educational Complex presents forgotten spaces as frames for private trauma real or imagined The work s implications are at once miniature and massive In this book John Miller offers an illustrated examination of this milestone work that marked a significant change in Kelley s practice A complex can mean an architectural configuration a psychological syndrome or a political apparatus and Miller approaches Educational Complex through corresponding lines of inquiry considering the making of the work examining it in terms of education and trauma sexual or otherwise and investigating how it tests the ideological horizon of art as an institution Miller shows that in Educational Complex Kelley expands his political and aesthetic focus including not only such artifacts as generic forms of architecture but inspired by the infamous McMartin Preschool case popular fantasies associated with ritual sex abuse and false memory syndrome Through this archaeology of the contemporary Miller argues Kelley examines the mandate for education and the liberal democratic premises underpinning it
