Fontane and Cultural Mediation Robertson Ritchie, White Michael, 2017-07-05 In the mid 1880s the Realist author and Anglophile Theodor Fontane observed nowhere is so much translation done as in Germany Characterizing Germany as a special locus of literary translation and reception Fontane contests a prejudice which has since become a significant problem for nineteenth century German studies namely the frequent assessment of the epoch as narrowly national The present collection of essays by thirteen eminent literary scholars and historians is intended to correct this prejudice it demonstrates that literary life and production in the nineteenth century were governed by complex networks of intercultural exchange influence and translation and it does justice to this complexity through its range of complementary critical approaches focussing on Fontane Anglo German relations translation and European reception In so doing this book not only offers a nuanced appreciation of literary production and reception in the nineteenth century but also demonstrates the continued relevance of that period for Germanists today

BOOK JACKET

The Soviet Passport Albert Baiburin,2021-11-03 In this remarkable book Albert Baiburin provides the first in depth study of the development and uses of the passport or state identity card in the former Soviet Union First introduced in 1932 the Soviet passport took on an exceptional range of functions extending not just to the regulation of movement and control of migrancy but also to the constitution of subjectivity and of social hierarchies based on place of residence family background and ethnic origin While the basic role of the Soviet passport was to certify a person s identity it assumed a far greater significance in Soviet life Without it a person literally disappeared from society It was impossible to find employment or carry out everyday activities like picking up a parcel from the post office a person could not marry or even officially die without a passport It was absolutely essential on virtually every occasion when an individual had contact with officialdom because it was always necessary to prove that the individual was the person whom they claimed to be And since the passport included an indication of the holder s ethnic identity individuals found themselves accorded a certain rank in a new hierarchy of nationalities where some ethnic categories were normal and others were stigmatized Passport systems were used by state officials for the deportation of entire population categories the so called former people those from the pre revolutionary elite and the relations of enemies of the people But at the same time passport ownership became the signifier of an acceptable social existence and the passport itself the information it contained the photographs and signatures became part of the life experience and self perception of those who possessed it This meticulously researched and highly original book will be of great interest to students and scholars of Russia and the Soviet Union and to anyone interested in the shaping of identity in the modern world

Responsibility and Freedom Robert Gianni,2016-02-11 Responsible Research and Innovation appears as a paradoxical frame hard to conceptualize and difficult to apply If on the one hand research and innovation appear to follow logics blind to societal issues responsibility is still a blurred concept interpreted according to circumstances Different perspectives are implied in the RRI discourse rendering difficult also its application because each social dimension proposes a different path for its implementation This book will try to indicate how such conflictual understanding of RRI is caused by a reductive interpretation of ethics and consequently of responsibility The resulting framework will represent an ethical approach to RRI that could help in overcoming conflictual perspectives and construct a multi layer approach to research and innovation
