Cults and Rites in Ancient Greece , A Place in History Michael Herzfeld, 2020-11-10 Michael Herzfeld describes what happens when a bureaucracy charged with historic conservation clashes with a local populace hostile to the state and suspicious of tourism Focusing on the Cretan town of Rethemnos once a center of learning under Venetian rule and later inhabited by the Turks he examines major questions confronting conservators and citizens as they negotiate the ownership of history Who defines the past To whom does the past belong What is traditional and how is this determined Exploring the meanings of the built environment for Rethemnos s inhabitants Herzfeld finds that their interest in it has more to do with personal histories and the immediate social context than with the formal history that attracts the conservators He also investigates the inhabitants social practices from the standpoints of household and kin group political association neighborhood gender ideology and the effects of these on attitudes toward home ownership In the face of modernity where tradition is an object of both reverence and commercialism Rethemnos emerges as an important ethnographic window onto the ambiguous cultural fortunes of Greece Human Landscapes in Classical Antiquity John Salmon,Graham Shipley,2013-02-01 Human Landscapes in Classical Antiquity shows how today s environmental and ecological concerns can help illuminate our study of the ancient world The contributors consider how the Greeks and Romans perceived their natural world and how their perceptions affected society The effects of human settlement and cultivation on the landscape are considered as well as the representation of landscape in Attic drama Various aspects of farming such as the use of terraces and the significance of olive growing are examined The uncultivated landscape was also important hunting was a key social ritual for Greek and hellenistic elites and wild places were not wastelands but played an essential economic role The Romans attempts to control their environment are analyzed This volume shows how Greeks and Romans worked hand in hand with their natural environment and not against it It represents an outstanding collaboration between the disciplines of history and archaeology The Plain of Phaistos Harriet Blitzer,Despoina Hadzi-Vallianou,L. Vance Watrous,2005-02-01 The Plain of Phaistos presents the results on an interdisciplinary regional field project 1984 1987 carried out on the island Of Crete This volume traces the changing patterns of settlement and cycles of social complexity from the Late Neolithic period to the present day within the heartland of the state of Phaistos The authors and contributors publish geological archaeological environmental botanical historical and ethnographic studies that establish the regional identity of the Western Mesara Using a combination of empirical processual and post processual theoretical approaches the volume investigates a central problem how and why did the Bronze Age and Classical states arise at Phaistos
