Map Generalization Making Rules For Knowledge Representation:

Map Generalization Barbara Pfeil Battenfield, Robert Brainerd McMaster, 1991 Articles based on papers delivered at a symposium held during April 1990 in Syracuse N Y

Causes And Consequences Of Map Generalization Elsa Joao, 1998-05-27 This text describes late 1990s understanding of map generalisation in the context of paper maps and GIS Its particular value should be in helping to further automate and measure the process of map generalisation The research has concentrated on quantifying generalisation effects and on analysing how these effects of generalisation locked into the maps were measured Elsa Joao s book covers the background to the problems of map generalisation the methodology developed by the author to investigate the consequences of the map generalisation a detailed description of results and a conclusion that draws together consequences for the broader applications to GIS

GIS And Generalisation J-P Lagrange, R Weibel, Jean-Claude Muller, 2020-11-25 This text is the inaugural book in Taylor and Francis s GISDATA series and is derived from the specialist workshop convened under the auspices of the European Science Foundation s GISDATA Scientific Programme Generalisation is an integrating tool for the analysis and presentation of spatial data Effective spatial data analysis requires multiple views of the world at various scales with different thematic layers of representation Generalisation is a key mechanism in this process as it filters out information which is required for particular scales or layers hence it is critical to implement full and comprehensive generalisation capabilities in a GIS something with which few current GIS are equipped This book overviews the core and as yet unresolved issues surrounding the achievement of this goal and presents various alternatives both speculative views and practical examples in the areas of automated generalisation vis a vis problems such as object simplification and placement At the same time it distinguishes between modelling with generalisation and graphical representation and adopts a model building perspective It also describes artificial intelligence techniques for implementing automated generalised routines and addresses issues of data quality and production The text is organized into six parts an introduction generic issue object orientated methods and knowledge based modelling knowledge acquisition and representation data quality and operation and implementation

Landmarks in Mapping Alexander Kent, 2017-12-02 Founded by the British Cartographic Society BCS and first published in June 1964 The Cartographic Journal was the first general distribution English language journal in cartography This volume of classic papers and accompanying invited reflections brings together some of the key papers to celebrate 50 years of publication It is a celebration of The Cartographic Journal and of the work that scholars cartographers and map makers have published which have made it the foremost international journal of cartography The intention here is to bring a flavor of the breadth of the journal in one volume spanning the history to date As a reference work it highlights some of the very best work and perhaps allows readers to discover or re discover a paper from the annals As we constantly strive for new work and new insights we mustn t ignore the vast repository of material that has gone before It is this that has shaped cartography as it exists today and as new research contributes to the discipline which will continue to do so Abstracting Geographic Information in a Data Rich World Dirk Burghardt,Cécile Duchêne,William Mackaness,2014-07-08 Research in the field of automated generalisation has faced new challenges in recent years as a result of technological developments in web based processing new visualisation paradigms and access to very large volumes of multi source data generated by sensors and humans In these contexts map generalisation needs to underpin on demand mapping a form of mapping that responds to individual user requirements in the thematic selection and visualisation of geographic information It is this new impetus that drives the research of the ICA Commission on Generalisation and Multiple Representation for example through its annual workshops biannual tutorials and publications in international journals This book has a coherent structure each chapter focusing on core concepts and tasks in the map generalisation towards on demand mapping Each chapter presents a state of the art review together with case studies that illustrate the application of pertinent generalisation methodologies The book addresses issues from data gathering to multi scaled outputs Thus there are chapters devoted to defining user requirements in handling specifications and in the application and evaluation of map generalisation algorithms It explores the application of generalisation methodologies in the context of growing volumes of data and the increasing popularity of user generated content
